TSN REPORT CARD

Coaching staff	B	Vince Tobin has kept the Cardinals playing hard throughout his four-year tenure and had them on the cusp of sustained success in 1998 before a litany of problems derailed the '99 season. Only a turnaround will suffice if Tobin is to live through his lame-duck contractual status and earn another deal from owner Bill Bidwill.
Quarterbacks	C +	Hip, finger and rib-cage injuries can be blamed for Jake Plummer's disastrous 1999 season. He won't be given the benefit of the doubt in his fourth NFL campaign. He needs to improve his decision-making and evolve into the play-making threat the team knows he can be—minus the myriad mistakes.
Running backs	B	The addition of Thomas Jones as an open-field threat could provide the immediate boost the team's flagging running game has needed. But Jones needs to prove it in the NFL. A return to health by hard-charging Michael Pittman would mean a formidable 1-2 punch. Mario Bates is solid as the team's goal-line back. The fullbacks need to play better.
Receivers	A -	Rob Moore, Frank Sanders and David Boston have the ability to produce big numbers but dropped too many balls last season. Boston needs to—and should be—more involved this season and provide the team the deep threat it envisioned when it drafted him No. 8 overall in 1999. Moore will benefit from a full training camp after a lengthy holdout in '99.
Offensive line	C -	The improvement of the entire offense hinges in large part on this group. Young tackles L.J. Shelton and Anthony Clement are talented but inexperienced and must continue to improve on the job. Rams signee Mike Gruttadauria should upgrade the center position. Neither Matt Joyce nor Lester Holmes have been overpowering at guard.
Defensive line	C	The Cardinals could have one of the best front fours in the NFL if everything fell right. But Simeon Rice and Mark Smith have been unhappy with their contracts and might be long-term holdouts. Eric Swann's knees haven't held up in two years. If none of these players are around for the opener—a definite possibility—Arizona will be in trouble up front.
Linebackers	C	The Cardinals have upgraded the athleticism and speed at the position the last two years but are still smallish overall. It's a big year for second-year pro Johnny Rutledge, who will battle rookie Raynoch Thompson and Zack Walz, recovering from an ACL tear last November, for the starting left-side position.
Secondary	B	The group overall is solid. Aeneas Williams is the rock that holds the corps of defensive backs together. Tom Knight at times last year seemed to finally put his injury history behind him and play to the potential that made him a first-round pick in 1997. He needs to put it all together for a season. The pressure's on Pat Tillman, who'll replace injured Tommy Bennett at strong safety.
Special teams	A -	Cary Blanchard should give Arizona a weapon outside 40 yards it lacked with Chris Jacke. Bates nearly broke several kickoff returns and has seemed to improve with experience.

Coaching staff	B -	On offense, there is good experience but a confusing hierarchy; there's no true coordinator, and as of early summer Dan Reeves had not decided who would take play-calling responsibility. One possibility is new quarterbacks coach Jerry Rhome. Defensive coordinator Rich Brooks and line coach Bill Kollar headline a strong defensive staff that has provided much-needed stability.
Quarterbacks	C +	There was much local sentiment for Reeves to draft Georgia Tech's Joe Hamilton in the seventh round. Instead, Reeves went with cornerback Darrick Vaughn and signed undrafted free agent quarterback Doug Johnson of Florida. Injuries and all, Chris Chandler ranks as one of the best bargains (two late draft picks) in team history. Reeves and Rhome are gambling that Danny Kanell will be a stronger backup than last year.
Running backs	B -	Reeves may make a late free-agent pickup here after other teams make salary cuts. Otherwise, depending on so many players returning from knee injuries is a huge gamble. Fullback Bob Christian is underrated—outside of the coaching staff. If he can return to his 1998 form, Jamal Anderson is one of the top three backs in the game. Byron Hanspard is the wild card of the group. Overall, there are too many ifs.
Receivers	B -	Chandler can bring out the best in a receiver with separation speed, and assuming Shawn Jefferson still has that kind of speed, he will be a key addition. If not, Tim Dwight will have to play a larger role. Terance Mathis is probably the most underrated player on the team. Rookie Mareno Philyaw has a size-speed combination worth watching for the future.
Offensive line	D +	Perhaps the biggest unknown on the team entering training camp is how this unit will shake out. At least one of the two rookies—probably Travis Claridge—has to make an immediate impact. Calvin Collins needs to re-adjust to center and Ephraim Salaam needs to show he won't relinquish the right tackle spot he has held for two years.
Defensive line	B	The ends are very young and fairly small, but Brady Smith stepped up with six sacks for New Orleans last year and Patrick Kerney showed glimpses of big-play ability last year. Pellom McDaniels is the only experienced backup behind the starting ends. Tackles Travis Hall and Shane Dronett should be in their most productive years.
Linebackers	B -	Losing top backup Craig Sauer hurts, but rookie Mark Simoneau and free agent Marcus Buckley will help fill the void. On the plus side all three starters return. Strongside linebacker Henri Crockett has shed a few pounds to help a sore knee as he enters his contract year. Jessie Tuggle is an ideal role model for such young players as Simoneau and Jeff Kelly, and at 35 he's still a punishing tackler. Keith Brooking could emerge with a big year.
Secondary	A	This should be the most improved area on the team. The Falcons tried to sign Ashley Ambrose last year and finally were successful this year, giving Atlanta its best combination at cornerback in at least 10 years. Free safety Marty Carter fulfilled expecations as a tackling force. A key will be Ronnie Bradford's transition from cornerback to free safety, where he will replace Eugene Robinson.
Special teams	B	For at least one more year, the Falcons can rest easy with kicker Morten Andersen and punter Dan Stryzinski. Both could be unrestricted free agents after 2000. Dwight's returns bring Falcons fans out of their seats and cause Falcons coaches to hold their breath out of concern for the 5-foot-8 dynamo's safety.

Coaching staff	B	The group has a unique blend of youth and experience as well as assistants who were either former head coaches or coordinators. Head coach Brian Billick has learned to develop a better rapport with veteran players and it will pay off this season.
Quarterbacks	C +	As Tony Banks goes, so goes the Ravens offense. Trent Dilfer provides plenty of experience as a backup, but his days as a starter may be over. Rookie Chris Redman has potential, but he is still a few years away. Overall, though, not a bad group.
Running backs	C	The Ravens have hailed Jamal Lewis as their starter of the future, but he won't be able to wrestle the starting position away from Priest Holmes immediately. No. 3 Jay Graham better make his move soon or he could be seeking employment elsewhere. Chuck Evans is the starting fullback, but the team has no depth behind him.
Receivers	C +	If speed kills, the Ravens would win every game. But with the exception of Qadry Ismail, it's still a young group only in the second year of Billick's West Coast offense. Jermaine Lewis is on a mission after a poor performance last year and Patrick Johnson could have a breakthrough season. Rookie Travis Taylor, out of Florida, is the real deal.
Offensive line	C -	The Ravens are inexperienced at both guard positions and veteran right tackle Harry Swayne isn't getting any younger. If this group can hold together until midseason, it could be strong down the stretch. Center Jeff Mitchell is vastly underrated while left tackle Jonathan Ogden is pure stud.
Defensive line	A	If tackles Tony Siragusa and Sam Adams are physically in shape at the start of the regular season, then the line will be excellent again. Siragusa has the muscle while Adams has the quickness. Ends Michael McCrary and Rob Burnett complement each other as well. Both are Pro Bowl material.
Linebackers	A +	Middle linebacker Ray Lewis has to overcome all the obstacles from an offseason murder trial. He is the leader of the defense and the other players feed off his emotion. Strongside linebacker Peter Boulware, a two-time Pro Bowl pick, might have his best season this year while weakside linebacker Jamie Sharper is on the verge of stardom.
Secondary	C +	This unit is no longer the team's Achilles heel. The Ravens have great athletes on the corners and safety Rod Woodson gives them plenty experience to make the proper calls. The Ravens would like to add a thumper in the secondary, the missing ingredient from what may become a great defense. The team hasn't found the answer in Kim Herring at strong safety, but it might come in the form of Anthony Poindexter.
Special teams	C -	The kicking game is sound with punter Kyle Richardson and kicker Matt Stover. Long snapper Frank Wainwright is one of the best in the business. But the cover units have to be more aggressive and win the field-position battle. This is one area that needs drastic improvement from a year ago.

Coaching staff	B +	Head coach Wade Phillips has guided the Bills to 21 wins in two years, and he isn't afraid to make tough decisions with personnel (starting Rob Johnson over Doug Flutie in playoffs, for example). Defensive coordinator Ted Cottrell has done a great job of getting players to execute assignments and minimize mistakes. He's also good at putting together game plans that confound opposing offenses. Offensive coordinator Joe Pendry got the most out of an injury-plagued unit last year. His ability to deal with the quarterback situation is commendable.
Quarterbacks	B	The Johnson-Flutie controversy still rages, but the team likes the fact it has two quality players. Johnson is younger, bigger, stronger and has more physical ability. He's also has a reputation of being fragile, which is why Flutie's great to have around. Flutie can be amazing and inconsistent. He frequently makes the offensive line look good by keeping drives alive with his legs. But he doesn't throw downfield as well or as accurately as Johnson.
Running backs	C +	Antowain Smith had a difficult year filled with injuries. Pendry seemed reluctant to give him the ball at times. The pressure's on Smith to return to the form that made him a 1,000-yard back in 1998. Jonathan Linton may have been the offense's savior last year. He stepped in for an injured Thurman Thomas and the offense didn't miss a beat. Shawn Bryson, who was out with a knee injury as a rookie, is pushing Smith and Linton. The Bills might miss the blocking of Pro Bowl fullback Sam Gash, who was released before the draft.
Receivers	B	Based on potential this could be the most explosive unit the Bills have had in years. Eric Moulds was slowed last year by a mid-season hamstring injury, but he should return to All-Pro form. Peerless Price got more playing time when Andre Reed fell out of favor late last season. It should pay huge dividends in 2000. Jay Riemersma was sixth among tight ends with 37 catches despite missing several games with a groin injury. Armed with a big contract, he could have a breakout year.
Offensive line	C +	The unit is much better than it was two years ago. Robert Hicks, who became a starter in his second year, looks like a future Pro Bowler. Jerry Ostroski's move from tackle to center solidified the line. Pro Bowl guard Ruben Brown and left tackle John Fina are the league's longest-running tandem. The only question mark is guard Joe Panos, who is coming off neck surgery.
Defensive line	A -	The move to a seven-man rotation worked wonders. Nose tackle Ted Washington is still a force in the middle. Backup Pat Williams was a revelation as he outplayed his mentor the last several weeks of 1999. Phil Hansen is a solid defensive end, but the pressure is on Marcellus Wiley, who replaces Bruce Smith at right end. Rookie Erik Flowers should contribute immediately. Will the pass rush suffer without Smith?
Linebackers	A	Sam Cowart and John Holecek are a super tandem inside. Cowart would have been in the Pro Bowl last year if there weren't so many great middle linebackers in the AFC. Strongside backer Sam Rogers is coming off an outstanding year. The big question mark is on the weak side, where second-year man Keith Newman will try to replace Gabe Northern, who wasn't re-signed. Rookie Corey Moore might be one of the draft-day steals of 2000.
Secondary	B	This unit doesn't make a lot of big plays, but it doesn't allow many either. The loss of top cornerback Thomas Smith and free safety Kurt Schulz are concerns. Antoine Winfield was drafted No. 1 last year as Smith's eventual replacement and is ready for prime time. Ken Irvin returns as the starter at left corner. Daryl Porter gets the nod at free safety, but rookie Travares Tillman is waiting in the wings. Entering his 10th season, Henry Jones remains one of league's best strong safeties.
Special teams	C -	As Home Run Throwback proved, kickoff coverage was a weak link last year. The return game is undergoing change, with reliable Kevin Williams being replaced by rookies Avion Black and Drew Haddad. Although kicker Steve Christie had a couple of bad games, he's still a clutch performer. Punter Chris Mohr makes up for lack of distance with great hang time that prevents big returns.

Coaching staff	B +	George Seifert took awhile to get to know his team last year, but his influence really became effective down the stretch. With a year under his belt, Seifert should be even more of a factor. He's assembled a solid staff and his strong history with new offensive coordinator Bill Musgrave should make for a good relationship. Defensive coordinator John Marshall has new weapons to work with and special teams coach Scott O'Brien and offensive line coach Tony Wise are among the best in the business.
Quarterbacks	B	Steve Beuerlein is coming off the best year of his career and he's very comfortable in the offensive system. He is surrounded by good receivers. But Beuerlein is 35 and has shown signs of wear and tear. Backups Jeff Lewis and Dameyune Craig are unproven, so it's critical that Beuerlein remains healthy.
Running backs	C	This area is a question mark because Tshimanga Biakabutuka and Natrone Means have long histories of injuries. When healthy, either one can be a very good back. The team is gambling that it can get a full season out of a combination between the two. Fullback William Floyd could factor into the offense more this year.
Receivers	A	With Muhsin Muhammad established as one of the league's top receivers and Wesley Walls as a top-notch tight end, this is the team's strongest area. Throw in receiver Patrick Jeffers, who came on strong late last year, and the passing game is in good hands. Donald Hayes should be more of a factor as a third receiver.
Offensive line	C	There still is not an abundance of talent here, but Wise gets the most out of his players. Right tackle Chris Terry had a good rookie year and is on his way to becoming the anchor of the offensive line. The acquisition of free agent guard/tackle James Dexter should give the line a lot more flexibility.
Defensive line	C +	What was a weak spot last year should be much improved. Defensive end Chuck Smith was signed as a free agent and should become the main pass rusher. More importantly, Smith's presence should have a positive effect on underachievers Sean Gilbert and Jason Peter.
Linebackers	C	The team released Mike Barrow and Kevin Greene and they'll be replaced by Lee Woodall and Donta Jones on the outside. Woodall lacks Greene's pass-rush ability, but is better all around. Jones isn't spectacular, but he won't be asked to do more than the basics. Dean Wells is solid in the middle.
Secondary	C	There have been major changes and that's a good thing because the pass defense was horrible at times last year. Jimmy Hitchcock was signed to challenge for a cornerback job and he'll probably push Doug Evans to nickel back. First-round pick Rashard Anderson probably will start at free safety because the team thinks he can help against big receivers. Mike Minter shifts from free to strong safety.
Special teams	B	Aside from the punt return unit, the special teams were very solid last year and that should continue. Michael Bates is a constant threat as a kick returner and John Kasay has been a very consistent kicker, but is recovering from major knee surgery. Punter Ken Walter was spotty last year, but has the ability to get better. The team needs to find a reliable punt returner.

Coaching staff	B +	The makeover started at the top, as the new staff gave the players a new attitude and installed systems they believed in. Restoring the psyche of the players was necessary and Dick Jauron's staff did it from the start.
Quarterbacks	B	Cade McNown opens as the starter, but he has not proved he can lead the team to wins. Jim Miller was re-signed and gives the Bears their most dangerous No. 2 since Steve Walsh in '94. Miller is good enough to edge out McNown with a strong showing in preseason games.
Running backs	D	Curtis Enis was the running game in '99, what there was of it, and he was generally ineffective coming of ACL surgery. He will be a 250-pound hammer this year but the Bears are moving away from a team that is willing or able to control the game on the ground.
Receivers	A -	Marcus Robinson is an emerging superstar and Bobby Engram is a superior all-around wideout. Marty Booker can score from anywhere and brings a physical element to the flanker-screen game. This group can be among the league's best if Eddie Kennison or rookie Dez White provide more of an outside deep threat.
Offensive line	B -	The pass protection is respectable but the run blocking is neither used much nor consistently effective. Olin Kreutz became a first-line center in his first season as a starter. The group should benefit from a year of experience with coach Bob Wylie's techniques.
Defensive line	C	The addition of right defensive end Phillip Daniels as a free agent will upgrade both the rush and run defense. He and left end Bryan Robinson are underrated all-around ends who can turn this line into one of the franchise's better groups in recent years.
Linebackers	C +	Ninth overall pick Brian Urlacher makes the group bigger and faster but no one has shown consistent big-play impact. Urlacher and weak-side backer Warrick Holdman infuse youth and bring real speed; they just need to do big things once they get where they're going.
Secondary	B	Signing cornerback Thomas Smith as a free agent was pivotal, and safeties Shawn Wooden and rookie Mike Brown should upgrade the deep middle. The enigma remains cornerback Walt Harris, who can flip between Pro Bowler and Mr. Irrelevant on the same series. This is a bad-hands group that could use some stick 'em.
Special teams	D -	Until new kickers and punters emerge, this is still potentially the game-killing area it was in '99. The coverage units must keep some veterans around if it is to improve at all. Glyn Milburn is one of the best kick returners in the league, but he's not much of a threat to score on his runbacks.

Coaching staff	C -	Bruce Coslet is on the hot seat, and rightfully so. He owns a 21-36 record in three and a half years as head coach, but was spared the ax so that second-year quarterback Akili Smith wouldn't be forced to learn a new system. Coslet's first hire was Dick LeBeau, whose 3-4 defense didn't succeed so he switched to the 4-3. It's time to win or make a change.
Quarterbacks	B -	Smith is an awesome talent with raw skills that include a cannon arm and good mobility. He's also a tremendous leader with a commanding presence in the huddle. But he struggled in seven games as a rookie and needs more experience. Having solid weapons around him should lighten his load, but he'll still going through growing pains.
Running backs	C +	Hard-running Pro Bowl tailback Corey Dillon had an offseason of discontent, waiting impatiently for the monster contract he deserves. He's a critical figure in the team's success, but he's not the main man. Smith is. With Ki-Jana Carter injured again, others must step up. Brandon Bennett, Curtis Keaton, Michael Basnight and Sedrick Shaw have solid skills, but only Dillon is the complete package.
Receivers	A	Speed kills and the Bengals, loaded with their fastest set of receivers in more than decade, will spread the field in multiple sets in an attempt to fast break their way to the end zone. Rookie split end Peter Warrick, veteran flanker Darnay Scott and second-year man Craig Yeast all can score from anywhere. The addition of Warrick takes the Bengals from a predictable offense to a high-powered machine.
Offensive line	B +	Continuity is critical and the return of all five starters—C Rich Braham, LG Matt O'Dwyer, RG Brian DeMarco, LT Rod Jones and RT Willie Anderson—will allow the offense to make a smooth transition with Smith at quarterback. Jamain Stephens (OT), Mike Goff (G), Scott Rehberg (G) and Brock Gutierrez (C) are all capable backups, so there won't be much drop-off when an injury occurs.
Defensive line	B	The move to a 4-3 defense puts extra emphasis on the line, and an upgrade in talent and depth was dramatic with the offseason acquisitions of left end Vaughn Booker (Packers) and right tackle Tom Barndt (Chiefs). End John Copeland and tackle Oliver Gibson complete the front four. Backups Michael Bankston, Jevon Langford, Glen Steele and Reinard Wilson will rotate in to keep the starters fresh and to keep the pass rush coming.
Linebackers	A	Middle linebacker Brian Simmons and right linebacker Takeo Spikes are the heart and soul of the defense. As third-year players completely comfortable with the system, they're extremely productive and ready to dominate. Left linebacker Steve Foley needs to step up after leveling off in '99. This group made strides against the run last season. Now its goal is to be become an attacking, big-play unit that plays the pass better and applies more heat on the quarterback.
Secondary	D	If there's an Achilles heel, this is it. This unit has been burned by the bomb, but there's hope that will change because the pressure of the line and coverage by the linebackers should take some of the heat off the secondary. Veterans Tom Carter and Darryl Williams bring stability and leadership at left corner and free safety, but neither is real physical. The jury is still out on right corner Artrell Hawkins. He's a tough run defender, but struggled playing the ball in '99. Cory Hall offers a physical presence at strong safety. But cornerback play is the key. Rodney Heath is a capable backup to Carter. Rookies Mark Roman and Robert Bean need to come on strong and push Hawkins.
Special teams	C	The return game should be brilliant with Pro Bowl kickoff return specialist Tremain Mack and punt returner Yeast back to haunt opponents with their blinding speed and quickness. Add Warrick to the punt-return mix and that unit becomes so good it's scary. Punter Brad Costello is healthy again after being plagued by a torn right calf muscle that caused his net averge (28.7) to plummet in '99. Doug Pelfrey's nine missed field goals last season were so alarming that the team drafted Illinois kicker Neil Rackers in the sixth round.

Coaching staff	B	Chris Palmer got a late start in assembling his staff last year. For example, he couldn't find an offensive coordinator, so he had to handle that job himself. It's an entirely different story this year, since he has the offensive coordinator he wants in Pete Carmichael and the defensive coordinator he wants in Romeo Crennel. All three coaches share the same philosophies, as all are from the Bill Parcells-Tom Coughlin tree. Look for better coaching decisions on game days.
Quarterbacks	B +	This is one of the Browns' few strengths. Tim Couch had one of the better rookie seasons in NFL history in 1999 and should only get better—especially if he can learn to get rid of the ball more quickly so as to avoid the sack, and to use the tight end more. When he went down with a season-ending ankle injury, Ty Detmer stepped in and did a solid job. He won't lose the game for the Browns.
Running backs	C	This position is much better off than it was a year ago. Errict Rhett, whose enthusiasm is contagious, will provide a solid presence as the feature back, which was sorely lacking in 1999. The Browns finally have Terry Kirby in right role, as a third-down pass catcher, and he's a good one. Rookie Travis Prentice is a big, strong, workmanlike back who can run between the tackles, something the Browns did not have last season.
Receivers	C	Kevin Johnson was not only the top rookie receivers in the league in 1999, but also one of the top players at any position. He and Couch form a nice combination. Darrin Chiaverini, also a '99 rookie, is a solid, productive, glue-fingered receiver who will not be easy to dislodge from a starting spot. Rookie Dennis Northcutt will try, though, and his quickness will help his cause. JaJuan Dawson seems more polished that originally thought. But both rookies will need time to develop. At tight end, the Browns will have to go with Mark Campbell and rookie Aaron Shea, both of whom are untested.
Offensive line	D	The Browns are hoping Roman Oben holds down the left tackle spot for forseeable future. Center Dave Wohlabaugh does not get the credit he deserves, and left guard Jim Pyne is solid and consistent. But there are tons of question marks involving the rest of the players here. Much of the problem has been caused by the uncertain availability of right tackle Orlando Brown because of an eye injury suffered late last year. If he returns, the chances of which are iffy at best, the grade could advance one letter.
Defensive line	B -	Last year, this group earned a solid F—it did not rush the passer or stop the run. The Browns attacked the problem in the offseason by taking defensive end Courtney Brown with the first pick in the draft and by signing ends Orpheus Roye and Keith McKenzie in free agency. This far outweighs the free-agent loss of John Thierry, the team's 1999 sack leader. Darius Holland is the best defensive tackle on the roster. The upgrade here has been so great that Derrick Alexander, who played relatively well as a starting end last year, is now a backup.
Linebackers	B	In middle man Wali Rainer, the team's leading tackler last year as a rookie, and weak-side backer Jamir Miller, arguably the best player on the team right now, the Browns are set. Marty Moore, signed in free agency from New England, can play inside or outside and is a much better backup than anyone the Browns had in 1999. The key to this position, if not the defense overall, is strong-side linebacker Rahim Abdullah. He was terribly inconsistent as a rookie last year and was too light to be effective against the run. The Browns are hoping an entire offseason in the weight room, along with another year of maturity, will do the trick.
Secondary	C -	This is an improvement, since the Browns rated a D-minus last year. Rookie right corner Daylon McCutcheon was solid, but beyond that, it was a mess. Corey Fuller, who was moved to free safety from left corner last year, has returned to corner. The Browns drafted three cornerbacks they think can help in Lewis Sanders, Anthony Malbrough and Lamar Chapman. Up-and-coming free safety Percy Ellsworth, signed in free agency, will give that position the ball-hawking ability it lacked last year. At strong safety the Browns are hoping Marquis Smith, who came on late last season a rookie, and Tim McTyer, returning from a broken forearm, can step it up.
Special teams	D	Other than Chris Gardocki's punting—and he was greatly overworked, reducing his effectiveness—there was nothing special about this group. Kicker Phil Dawson got few chances last year, so the Browns still don't know much about him other than he was only mildly successful on the few chances he did have. Thus, he will face a bevy of competition in training camp. The Browns also got no production from their returners, but they're hoping that with a more experienced Ronnie Powell coming back, along with getting some help from draftees Northcutt, Sanders and Chapman, they'll be much, much better in 2000.

Coaching staff	C +	There's a lot to prove with a first-time head coach (Dave Campo), a first-time NFL defensive coordinator (Mike Zimmer), a new offensive coordinator (Jack Reilly), a first-time NFL secondary coach (Bill Bates) and a first-time NFL wide receivers coach (Wes Chandler). But this staff has a lot of character and, best of all, a lot of fire.
Quarterbacks	B -	Troy Aikman still is one of the NFL bests, and his new offensive toys should make him even that much more dangerous. But the club might be hurting at the backup spot following the loss of Jason Garrett. Paul Justin, though in the league since 1991, has few NFL skins on the wall.
Running backs	B	Emmitt Smith proved last season he is fully capable of turning in 1,400-yard seasons, and that he still knows how to get into the end zone. He might not have the speed to consistently break long ones, but he'll average at least 4.2 yards a carry the hard way. Chris Warren is a capable backup, but there is little experience at fullback.
Receivers	B +	This undoubtedly is the Cowboys' most talented receiving corps since 1983. Certainly it's the fastest, likely in three decades. Both Joey Galloway and Rocket Ismail are legitimate NFL receivers, and the backups are more than just raw, developmental-type players.
Offensive line	A -	With the exception of proven backups, this line has the ability to dominate games. It has power, a nasty attitude and, really, no weak link. The only question is at right guard, where Solomon Page will likely become a full-time starter for the first time in his two-year career.
Defensive line	B -	This unit has the chance to become the most dominant on the team, but there is much to be proven. Like, can Greg Ellis return from a broken leg? Is Ebenezer Ekuban as good as his first-round draft status? Is Dimitrius Underwood serious about football? And can Leon Lett return to old form? If yes, watch out. If no, watch out below.
Linebackers	C	Another unproven group. There is projected talent with Dat Nguyen in the middle and either Darren Hambrick or veteran Joe Bowden on the outside. But Dexter Coakley is the only backer who previously has stood out. This is a team that has never won because of its linebacking talent anyway.
Secondary	C	Another who-really-knows position, especially at cornerback. Both veteran corners, Kevin Smith and Ryan McNeil, are coming off so-so seasons, and the youngsters, though talented, still have a lot to learn. The strength might be in the actual numbers and ability to play backup corners on the nickel.
Special teams	C	Kicking coach Steve Hoffman must once again spin his magic. He needs to come up with two new kickers, and even he's not sure of any of the candidates until they're exposed to NFL competition this summer. The return game should have enough talent to be dangerous. The depth at linebacker and cornerback should aid the coverage teams.

Coaching staff	B +	In his second season without John Elway, this is coach Mike Shanahan's chance to prove he's not simply a good coach of great talent, but simply a great coach. He has rebuilt the Broncos' defense and fiddle with the offense. His success in 2000 will depend on his choice of quarterback and his ability to put some swagger back in his team.
Quarterbacks	C -	If Brian Griese is indeed the quarterback of the future, he'll have to prove it in the present. He has yet to show he's got an NFL-quality arm. He is tough and smart, but is he a team leader? He'd better be, or he'll be on the bench while journeyman Gus Frerotte takes over. Frerotte throws a beautiful pass, but is he ready for the complexities of Shanahan's offense? Bottom line: This position remains a huge question mark.
Running backs	B	If anyone can come back from a torn ACL in the knee, it's Terrell Davis. His offseason work ethic was unmatched. Still, he's bound to be a little tentative early on, which is why the Broncos are fortunate to have second-year workhorse Olandis Gary relief. He's not as talented as Davis, but he's a tough, downhill runner with great hands. At fullback, Denver will once again count on Howard Griffith, a great blocker and reliable short-pass receiver.
Receivers	B -	Ed McCaffrey and Rod Smith are quality starters, but what Denver lacks is depth and speed. Rookie wide receiver Chris Cole might have the wheels, but he's got to work on his hands. In the meantime, former practice squad player Billy Miller may be the dependable third receiver Denver needs. At tight end, look for the Broncos to combine the talents of Dwayne Carswell, Byron Chamberlain and Desmond Clark in an attempt to replace the departed Shannon Sharpe.
Offensive line	A -	This is a unit that does not need dramatic change. With tackle Tony Jones and guard Mark Schlereth anchoring the left side, Davis and Gary will have room to run. Tom Nalen is solid at center, while the Broncos hope tackle Matt Lepsis and guard Dan Neil work better together on the right. Overall, this is one of the best lines in football.
Defensive line	B -	With All-Pro tackle Trevor Pryce anchoring the middle, the defensive line has a chance to be excellent. But only if the men on the outside can provide a consistent pass rush and stuff the run better. Gone are popular veterans Neil Smith and Alfred Williams, replaced by free agents Kavika Pittman and Lester Archambeau. Those two have never been impact players, but along with Maa Tanuvasa they have a chance to plug some holes along the line.
Linebackers	A	If outside linebacker John Mobley returns to top form following knee surgery, Denver could have one of the finest best linebacking corps in football. Even if Mobley is not his old self, this group is still rock solid. Ageless Bill Romanowski, up-and-coming middle linebacker Al Wilson and steady Glenn Cadrez form a tough, nasty unit. Add in Michigan rookie Ian Gold to the mix and this group shines bright.
Secondary	C +	This unit must gel in a hurry or Denver could be in trouble. With Dale Carter suspended for a year, the Broncos had to scramble to replace him at cornerback. His successor will likely by former Charger Jimmy Spencer, who is not a great one-on-one defender, but has a knack for making big plays. Shanahan hopes first-round draft choice Deltha O'Neal is the answer for the future, but he might be a year away. At safety, the Broncos are counting on a healthy Eric Brown and former Ram Billy Jenkins to give them a solid one-two punch.
Special teams	C +	O'Neal is already being counted on to be a playmaking punt and kick returner. As long as he doesn't fumble, Denver should have a big-time threat. Jason Elam remains one of the league's best kickers, while punter Tom Rouen must get better at putting the ball inside the 20. The coverage teams must improve or Denver's going to continue to lose the field-position war.

Coaching staff	C	Didn't help that Barry Sanders opted for retirement before training camp, making coach Bobby Ross a victim of circumstances beyond his control with a team that wasn't very good. After starting out 6-2, mounting injuries did in the team's chances. The coaches did what they could with what they had.
Quarterbacks	B -	Charlie Batch has had more lows than highs in the two years since getting the keys to the Lions' offense. Every time he looks to accelerate, bothersome injuries have sidelined his efforts to competently lead the team. Without Batch healthy, the Lions are relegated to a combination of Mike Tomczak and Steve Stenstrom.
Running backs	C -	The jury is still out on the Lions' new running back-by-committee philosophy with James Stewart, Sedrick Irvin and Reuben Droughns. There's no doubt that there will always be fresh legs to carry the ball, but how well those legs churn out yardage is yet to be seen.
Receivers	A -	Depending on how well Herman Moore bounces back from a knee injury, the Lions could again terrify secondaries with a trio of fine pass-catchers, including Johnnie Morton and Germane Crowell, who caught a team-high 81 passes in '99. It's an extremely athletic group, with a keen sense for getting open.
Offensive line	D +	Rookie guard Stockar McDougle and tackle Aaron Gibson will be expected to learn fast and make immediate impacts on a unit which recently has had more patch work done than a used-tire store. There's a wealth of potential, but improvement is still needed in both run and pass blocking.
Defensive line	C +	Despite the lack of quality depth, this is the defense's most productive unit at stopping the run. Luther Elliss and James Jones are gap-stuffers who command most of the attention from offensive linemen. The pass-rush should continue to shine with the improvement of Robert Porcher and Tracy Scroggins on the outside.
Linebackers	B -	An athletic group, they all pursue with tremendous desire, shed blockers well and get to the ball carrier. Though Chris Claiborne took some lumps as a rookie last year, he isn't far from becoming a Pro Bowl player. Barrett Green gives the Lions the underneath coverage guy the nickel package has missed.
Secondary	C	Saying that this unit struggled last season is an understatement. As a group, they were absolutely pathetic, especially cornerback Bryant Westbrook, who made matters worse by playing with a hamstring injury. Another cornerback, Terry Fair, is returning from injury. The team signed safety Kurt Schulz away from Buffalo in the hope he might be able to add some punch to this listless bunch.
Special teams	B -	Detroit is very strong in the kicking department with Jason Hanson and punter John Jett. But the return game is a cause for concern. Injuries created havoc last season as 10 different players returned kickoffs and punts. Fair's health will be instrumental and re-signing Desmond Howard wouldn't hurt.

Coaching staff	C	There is some experience on this staff, but the head coach and the two coordinators haven't done it before and will be under tremendous pressure on a team with a high standard for excellence. Mike Sherman has to assume control early in training camp and not let any players slide.
Quarterbacks	B	It should be evident this season which direction Brett Favre's career is heading. He turns 31 in October, and another season with more than 20 interceptions would signal a deep-seated problem. There's no question he still has the ability to dominate, but doing it game after game is another matter.
Running backs	B	Dorsey Levens' per carry average slipped to 3.7 last year and it could be a sign he's slowing down. The addition of Ahman Green should give the running game a shot in the arm given his blazing speed. Both players have to solve fumbling problems from last year.
Receivers	C	If Antonio Freeman plays like he did in '99, the club made a mistake giving him the contract it did. He must report to camp in peak condition and run more routes over the middle. Overall, the rest of the group is very average unless Corey Bradford has a breakout season. Rookie tight end Bubba Franks must have an immediate impact.
Offensive line	B +	As long as Mike Wahle pans out at left tackle, this should be a very solid group. There will be more punch in the running game with Ross Verba at left guard and Earl Dotson no longer suffering from a herniated disk in his back. Depth is excellent although some of the backups are inexperienced.
Defensive line	C -	There are a ton of question marks here. Vonnie Holliday hasn't proven he's a big-time pass rusher and John Thierry has had one-half of a good season in six years. Santana Dotson didn't play up to his big contract last year, although a shoulder injury held him back. There isn't a dominant player in the group.
Linebackers	C -	If Brian Williams doesn't come back healthy, the defense is in trouble. He's the best all-around defensive player on the roster and should have a big year in this system. The strong-side position is a huge question mark and could be a thorn in the team's side all year.
Secondary	B -	A lot has been made of the importance of Darren Sharper making improvement, but Tyrone Williams' performance might be more critical. He was supposed to be the stopper last year and didn't fill that role. Strong safety LeRoy Butler has to get himself in peak condition so he can fight off the aging process.
Special teams	D	No area of the team needs more improvement. The punting game isn't settled, the coverage units were ineffective and the return game was a flop. There is some good, young talent to fill those units and a new coach, but there's a lot still to be done.

Coaching staff	B +	Jim Mora has put together an elite staff and delegated authority. His no-nonsense approach, which begins on the practice field, is evident on game day and is a major reason the Colts seldom beat themselves with foolish penalties or botched assignments.
Quarterbacks	A -	In two years and 32 regular-season games, Peyton Manning has established himself as a current and future star. After enduring a rookie season that was as erratic as it was efficient, he took a quantum leap in '99 and was voted to his first Pro Bowl. Manning is a workaholic, so slippage is unlikely. What's missing is a proven backup.
Running backs	A -	Edgerrin James did the impossible as a rookie: He made Colts fans forget Marshall Faulk. His objective now is to maintain the excellence that produced a league-best 1,553 yards and 13 rushing touchdowns. James complemented his running with 62 receptions, but he spent the offseason honing his receiving skills. The team upgraded the position when it traded for Fred Lane, but there still is no proven blocking fullback on the roster.
Receivers	B +	Marvin Harrison's stock has never been higher. He's coming off a 115-catch, 1,663-yard season that resulted in his first Pro Bowl. Terrence Wilkins and tight ends Ken Dilger and Marcus Pollard are quality options. The key to the unit, though, is whether E.G. Green or Jerome Pathon can remain healthy and become productive No. 2 receivers.
Offensive line	B	It's hard to knock productivity. In 1999, the unit yielded the fewest sacks (14) in the league while paving the way for James to lead the NFL is rushing. The last time that was accomplished was in 1983. The run blocking needs to be more assertive, but Manning can't complain about his protection (36 sacks in 1,140 dropbacks over the last two years).
Defensive line	C +	E Chad Bratzke and T Ellis Johnson represent a top-notch tandem on the right side of the line. They combined for 19.5 sacks last season and neither has reached his prime. The effectiveness of the unit hinges on solidifying the left side. The early leaders to start are newcomer Bernard Holsey at end and Bernard Whittington at tackle.
Linebackers	C	The spotlight will be shared by Cornelius Bennett, the strong-side starter who is entering his 14th season, and Rob Morris, the inside starter who is entering his first. Bennett spent his second straight offseason rehabbing an injury to his left knee. The defense needs him to be 100 percent, and it needs Morris to provide a nasty edge.
Secondary	C	Cornerbacks Tyrone Poole and Jeff Burris, free safety Jason Belser and strong safety Chad Cota have a combined 300 NFL starts, so experience isn't a concern. But the group must increase the number of impact plays. The Colts have intercepted just 18 passes over the last two seasons.
Special teams	B -	Kicker Mike Vanderjagt has converted 61-of-69 field-goal attempts in two years and closed last season by nailing a club-record 26 straight. Hunter Smith should be more consistent in his second year as the punter. The return game is in reliable hands with Wilkins, but the coverage teams need to be improved.

Coaching staff	A	Tom Coughlin has built an outstanding team and does a good job making it all work. As an offensive coordinator, he tends to lean too much to the conservative side, which probably costs his team some points. Defensive coordinator Dom Capers may be the best in the league at what he does. New special teams coach Frank Gansz will liven up those units.
Quarterbacks	B	Mark Brunell has to have a very good year for the Jaguars to get to the Super Bowl. He has all the tools, but he needs to stay healthy. The backup situation isn't so good. Jamie Martin, who is two seasons removed from an ACL knee injury, will battle Jonathon Quinn, who didn't play a down last year. The Jaguars better hope Brunell stays healthy.
Running backs	B	Fred Taylor, when healthy, is the best runner in the league. But he has missed time in both of his first two seasons with minor aches. He has to stay on the field. Keep an eye on backup Stacey Mack, a bruising 235-pounder who offers a nice change of pace. Fullback Daimon Shelton is a good lead blocker.
Receivers	A -	Jimmy Smith is one of the best in the NFL, leading the league last season in catches. But he will be 30 when the season starts, so you have to wonder when he will start to slow down. The same can be said for Keenan McCardell, who remains one of the best route runners in the league. Rookie R. Jay Soward will add some much-needed speed and, it's hoped, fill the need for a No. 3 receiver.
Offensive line	B -	The tackle tandem of Tony Boselli and Leon Searcy is one of the best in the NFL. But Boselli is coming off ACL surgery and that may slow him at the start of the season. The inside three remain a concern. Zach Wiegert will start at one guard, but he needs to be more consistent. Center John Wade has to be stronger at the point. The other guard spot is wide open.
Defensive line	B -	The 1999 line was the best in team history, and it should be even better this season. End Tony Brackens, provided he doesn't sit out the year in a contract dispute, is the key to the unit. He made his first Pro Bowl appearance last year and has to remain a disruptive force. Tackle Gary Walker is the key player inside, but watch out for second-year player Larry Smith.
Linebackers	A	The signing of veteran middle linebacker Hardy Nickerson, a five-time Pro Bowler, makes this the best group of linebackers in the team's short history. With Nickerson, Lonnie Marts and Kevin Hardy, the Jaguars have three very good players. Hardy is the best of the group, and may be the best all-round linebacker in the NFL.
Secondary	B	Starting cornerbacks Aaron Beasley and Fernando Bryant both had good seasons in 1999 and should play to a higher level in 2000. Bryant, now in his second season, may be on his way to the Pro Bowl. The safety duo of Carnell Lake and Donovin Darius is a good one, but Lake could be slowing down in his 12th season. The nickel package has to play better than it did in last season.
Special teams	B	The kicking game is in good shape with punter Bryan Barker and kicker Mike Hollis. Kickoff specialist Steve Lindsey led the NFL in touchbacks. The return game will get a boost from Soward, but the coverage teams have to be better.

Coaching staff	B	Of the six rookie head coaches in the NFL last season, Gunther Cunningham was the only one to produce a winning record, at 9-7. That still wasn't good enough to get the Chiefs into the playoffs, and Cunningham will be under pressure this season. The hiring of former Oakland defensive coordinator Willie Shaw as secondary coach was a coup.
Quarterbacks	B	Elvis Grbac proved he could stay healthy and be effective last season when he took all but three snaps. Most importantly, Grbac's dependability won the confidence of his teammates, who now view him as a leader after watching him miss large chunks of his first two seasons with the Chiefs because of injuries.
Running backs	C	The Chiefs haven't had a 1,000-yard rusher since 1991, but their running back-by committee system led the NFL with 521 rushing attempts and ranked fourth in rushing. Seven different players led the Chiefs in single-game rushing, which either says they have an abundance of depth or don't have one bonafide back. Truth is, it's a little bit of both. Barring a late move before training camp, the Chiefs plan to give second-year man Mike Cloud the first chance as the feature back in 2000.
Receivers	B	The passing game revolves around Tony Gonzalez, who fulfilled his enormous potential last season by emerging as the NFL's most prolific pass-catching tight end. Alexander had four 100-yard games but continues to be an enigma. While he has the flair for making the impossible catch, he's been known to drop the easy ball, too. And he tends to disappear in critical situations. Kevin Lockett split time with Andre Rison and excelled as a sure-handed receiver who could convert third downs. Rison was a non-factor last season and could lose his roster spot to No. 1 draft pick Sylvester Morris.
Offensive line	B -	The core of the line, center Tim Grunhard and right guard Will Shields, have started alongside each other for 111 straight games, while left guard Dave Szott's streak of 77 starts was snapped in 1998. But neither guard may be flanking Grunhard when camp opens. Szott is in the last year of his contract and wants to be traded to an East Coast team for family reasons and is talking about retirement. Shields is an unrestricted free agent and the Chiefs designated him as their franchise player, causing a lengthy negotiating impasse. As insurance, the Chiefs signed Brenden Stai and Jeff Blackshear. Both tackles are youngsters. Right tackle Victor Riley has been starting since the second game of his rookie 1998 year and left tackle John Tait, the No. 1 pick in 1999, appeared in 12 games last season after missing all of preseason in a nasty holdout.
Defensive line	A -	Another monster season is expected from tackle Chester McGlockton. The team moved Dan Williams from end to tackle late last season, but he was hampered all season by nagging thigh, knee and ankle injuries, a by-product of sitting out all of 1998 in a contract dispute. The Chiefs like to rotate in fresh linemen, and Williams' history of injuries should give free agent Steve Martin plenty of opportunities as the replacement for Tom Barndt, who left for Cincinnati. The starting ends are solid in Duane Clemons and Eric Hicks, but it gets a little thin beyond that.
Linebackers	A	Donnie Edwards is considered the best all-round athlete on the team, and he proved it after he was moved from middle linebacker, where he was productive but undersized, to the weakside, where he became a dynamic playmaker in the team's 4-3 scheme. Given freedom to roam, Edwards led the Chiefs in tackles with 143 and led NFL linebackers with five interceptions. Free-agent signee Lew Bush will open the season on the strong side, but he likely will be replaced in nickel situations by second-year man Gary Stills, who was active for only two games as a rookie. Veteran Ron George is a steady backup at both outside spots. Middle linebacker Marvcus Patton provides dependability and consistency.
Secondary	B	Starting cornerbacks James Hasty and Cris Dishman exemplify the aggressive, bump-and-run press coverage the Chiefs love to play. However, both are 35 years old. Hasty played through painful Achilles, leg and knee injuries in 1999 and earned his second Pro Bowl berth. Dishman, in his first year with the Chiefs, was the corner targeted by quarterbacks, and the referees picked on him as well. Dishman intercepted five passes, but his aggressive tactics drew a team-leading 13 penalties for 173 yards. Third-year man Eric Warfield, who served as the nickel back last season, will challenge Dishman for the left cornerback job. Second-year man Larry Atkins will be on the spot at strong safety after three-year starter Reggie Tongue signed with Seattle. Atkins lacks Tongue's ball-hawking ability, but he brings linebacker's size to the position. Atkins will benefit from playing alongside free safety Jerome Woods, a three-year starter and a ferocious tackler.
Special teams	C	The Chiefs have corrected a horrid kicking game that cost them a division title and a playoff berth last year. Former Chicago kicker Todd Sauerbrun was signed for the dual role of kickoff specialist and punter, two areas in which the Chiefs constantly handed over favorable field position last season with short kickoffs and shaky punting. Sauerbrun fills three roster spots because he can also serve as holder for Pete Stoyanovich. Stoyanovich is coming off his second-worst season as a pro and is entering the final year of his contract. Leaving the kickoff duties to Sauerbrun will enable Stoyanovich to focus exclusively on placements, and that should help his performance. A host of unproven candidates will compete for the kick-return duties.

Coaching staff	B	Dave Wannstedt was criticized in Chicago not for his ability with the Xs and Os but for his personnel decisions. If the way he filled out his coaching staff is any indication, Wannstedt should do a lot better in Miami. Former Cowboys coach Chan Gailey will operate a much more diverse offense than has been seen in these parts in a long time, and Jim Bates will only tweak a defense that was among the best in the NFL last year.
Quarterbacks	C	Damon Huard was an impressive 5-1 as Dan Marino's replacement last year, but he knows he needs to be better over a 16-game season. Jay Fiedler has started just one game in his career, but he's a better athlete than people think. Jim Druckenmiller is a darkhorse to win the job but has the strongest arm.
Running backs	C	J.J. Johnson will get the first crack at the job, and if he remains healthy he is a good one. Thurman Thomas was brought in to be a third-down specialist, while Lamar Smith was brought in to challenge Johnson. Rob Konrad had an up-and-down rookie season, but the coaches are looking for big things in 2000.
Receivers	B -	This group is very deep but has questions. O.J. McDuffie is coming off toe surgery. Tony Martin had two shoulder surgeries. Oronde Gadsden was in a contract dispute. Bert Emanuel was brought in after two subpar seasons in Tampa. This group needs to be above average to make the quarterbacks better.
Offensive line	C -	The coaches want to run the ball, which is nothing new to the Dolphins. The line returns intact except for right guard Heath Irwin. Richmond Webb is a solid pass protector on the left side, but James Brown will be pushed by rookie Todd Wade at right tackle.
Defensive line	A -	This might be the most complete group in the league and they are all playing for contracts. Jason Taylor needs a big year after a disappointing '99, while Rich Owens just needs to be as good as he was last year. Daryl Gardener and Tim Bowens are premier run stoppers.
Linebackers	B +	Zach Thomas will lead the team in tackles again because of his work ethic and desire. The outside linebackers, Derrick Rodgers and Robert Jones, will have to make more impact plays. If they do, then the Dolphins defense will be even scarier. If not, then Scott Galyon will see a lot of playing time.
Secondary	B	Sam Madison is one of the best young corners in the game, but it's doubtful he will get as many interceptions in 2000 because teams will look elsewhere. That's where Patrick Surtain, in his first year as a full-time starter, needs to step up. Brock Marion and Calvin Jackson are solid if not spectacular defenders.
Special teams	A	Olindo Mare is the best kicker in the AFC, but the Dolphins hope he's not as busy as he was a year ago. Matt Turk, acquired from Washington, should improve the punting game, and the coverage teams should really benefit from his high, directional kicks. Marion set team records in kickoffs last year, but he could be challenged by rookie Ben Kelly, who set records at Colorado.

Coaching staff	B	Dennis Green is clearly in the upper tier of NFL coaches, but his playoff record is only 3-7 and he has led the Vikings to just one NFC title game appearance. And given the major changes in his coaching staff—both coordinators, Sherm Lewis on offense and Emmitt Thomas on defense, are new—he'll have to develop a rapport before the season starts.
Quarterbacks	C	Daunte Culpepper faces a daunting task. After taking just three snaps as a rookie, he will have to play beyond his years as a sophomore in order to lead this veteran team to the playoffs. Every opponent will do their best to rattle Culpepper's nerves, so nothing will come easy. Just in case he isn't ready, Green signed veteran journeyman Bubby Brister to be the backup.
Running backs	A -	Keeping Robert Smith healthy will be critical to the early success of the Vikings. And given his performance late in the 1999 season, Smith seems poised to excel and showcase his well-rounded abilities. The development of fullback Jimmy Kleinsasser can only make Smith's goals even more attainable.
Receivers	A +	No NFL team has a better group. If Cris Carter doesn't hurt you, Randy Moss will, and vice versa. Throw Matthew Hatchette into the mix, and you've got another major headache. Carter may be pushing 35, but he shows no signs of aging, and Moss appears focused on another eye-opening season. The coaching staff is confident Hatchette can pick up any slack left by the departure of Jake Reed.
Offensive line	C +	The loss of two Pro Bowl linemen (Randall McDaniel and Jeff Christy) can never be viewed as a positive, but at the very least the Vikings helped themselves by bulking up at the two positions, left guard and center. Also, the addition of Brad Badger, a starter in Washington, gives the unit some much-needed depth.
Defensive line	C	John Randle barely reached double-digits in sacks last season, and this season could be even harder unless others on the defensive line step up and make consistent contributions. The end positions are of particular concern, especially on the right side where two unproven players are currently battling it out.
Linebackers	A -	The most talented unit on the defense got even better after a little tinkering during the offseason. The starting lineup was changed, and reserve Craig Sauer was added to serve as a dependable backup and potential starter in the event of an injury. Ed McDaniel (166) and Dwayne Rudd (152) ranked 1-2 on the team in tackles.
Secondary	C -	A case could be made for an even lower grade, given that Robert Griffith is the only proven performer in recent memory. As badly as this unit finished last season, it didn't get much help during the offseason. Kenny Wright and Robert Tate must continue to grow up fast.
Special teams	B +	Despite Morten Anderson's struggles last year, this unit remains one of the best in the NFL. Punter Mitch Berger does a good job of helping the Vikings establish good field position, and aces such as Moe Williams and Harold Morrow stifle opposing returners. The team could use more consistency from its own return game, though.

Coaching staff	B -	This grade probably should be "incomplete." Bill Belichick hasn't been a head coach since 1995, when he concluded a five-year stint with a 37-45 record in Cleveland. He has the technical knowledge, but can he effectively lead a 53-man roster? Offensive coordinator Charlie Weis is somewhat unproven, as he never had full play-calling powers with the Jets.
Quarterbacks	B +	The grade here is admittedly influenced by past deeds. Even though Drew Bledsoe has his faults and is coming off his worst season as a pro, there are about 25 NFL teams that would be thrilled to have him. The arm strength, touch and accuracy remain. He's still The Franchise.
Running backs	C	Raymont Harris was out of football last year and was ineffective with the Packers in 1998. It's hard to imagine the Patriots will get much out of him. The Pats hope they got a steal in third-round J.R. Redmond, but calling him an everydown NFL back may be a stretch. Kevin Faulk certainly doesn't fit that description.
Receivers	B -	Troy Brown is this unit's hardest-working and most productive player. Which is too bad, because Terry Glenn should be that guy. Tony Simmons must prove himself this year while Vincent Brisby should once again hang around in a backup role. Look for second-year player Sean Morey to also get a look. The tight end spot is a real concern.
Offensive line	D	New England had the league's 23rd-ranked rushing attack and allowed 55 sacks last season. The scary part? Given the player turnover, it's hard to imagine the unit being much better in 2000. But while the unit will be inexperienced, it will at least have room for growth. The old line had none.
Defensive line	C	This was an average (at best) unit in 1999, and while Belichick should make it better, don't expect any miracles. Players like Chad Eaton and Willie McGinest should be buoyed by the new system, but a major talent infusion is still needed.
Linebackers	B	If healthy, the Pats have the personnel do to some different things here. Ted Johnson's health is the key to the whole picture. Andy Katzenmoyer is on the rise while Chris Slade is on the decline. Tedy Bruschi is a steady, solid presence.
Secondary	B	There's a lot of money in Ty Law and Lawyer Milloy and a lot of question marks at free safety and right cornerback. Antonio Langham should help the situation at the latter, but what the Pats really need is for Tebucky Jones to finally become a factor. Belichick also needs to find a proven safety to play next to Milloy.
Special teams	B	The Pats are all set in terms of specialists. Brown is a great punt returner, Faulk shows promise as a kick returner and Adam Vinatieri and Lee Johnson are proven kickers. The coverage teams, however, have struggled in the past and Vinatieri missed a few key kicks in '99.

Coaching staff	B	By all accounts, Jim Haslett and his hard-working assistants are a decided upgrade over Mike Ditka's woefully disorganized, overmatched group. The jury is out on Haslett's game-day ability, and his coordinators are equally unproven, but they have done wonders for the morale and attitude within the Saints' long-suffering locker room.
Quarterbacks	B -	Streaky Jeff Blake is mobile and throws the best deep ball in the league. His success or failure will depend on his ability to direct the team's ball-control West Coast passing attack. If Blake goes down the Saints are in trouble. Defenses don't fear backups Billy Joe Tolliver and Jake Delhomme.
Running backs	B	Injuries and poor schemes strangled Ricky Williams' production as a rookie. Running behind a veteran line and bone-crushing fullback Terrelle Smith, he should be a completely different back this year. Smith is raw but has great potential. Besides slippery rookie Chad Morton, Williams' backups lack speed and special qualities.
Receivers	C +	Cam Cleeland and Andrew Glover form one of the best tight end tandems in the league. The Saints are gambling on a pair of players who couldn't start for other teams to be their 1-2 punch. Joe Horn, no better than the fourth option in Kansas City, is the new No. 1. Jake Reed, after being run out of Minnesota, is the other starter. Keith Poole has deceptive deep speed. Backups Willie Jackson and Ryan Thelwell have been inconsistent.
Offensive line	B	For a unit with three first-round draft picks and one of the league's highest-paid free agents, this unit has underachieved in recent years. Willie Roaf and Kyle Turley are dominant tackles, but the Saints need center Wally Williams to return to health and guard Chris Naole to emerge. Depth is a major question.
Defensive line	A -	La'Roi Glover and Norman Hand form one of the best tackle tandems in football. Left end is solid with promising rookie Darren Howard and brawler Jared Tomich. If right end Joe Johnson returns to Pro Bowl form after a serious knee injury, the front four could be dominant. Defensive tackle depth is a concern.
Linebackers	C +	In Mark Fields, Charlie Clemons and Keith Mitchell, the Saints boast three special athletes versatile enough to rush the passer or drop into coverage. If healthy, Fields could have a monster year. Mitchell made great strides in 1999. K.D. Williams is the only experienced backup.
Secondary	D	Question mark city. Can Steve Israel stay healthy? Can Alex Molden regain his confidence? Will a nickel back emerge? Without a bona fide shutdown corner, this group will have to play over its head to survive in a division loaded with prime-time receivers.
Special teams	C	Aside from Doug Brien's kicking, these units were horrendous in 1999. Brien is coming off a strong year but must adjust to a new snapper and holder. Punter-kickoff specialist Toby Gowin should thrive in the Superdome. Morton should spice up returns. The coverage units should be upgraded because of speed.

Coaching staff	B -	This is Jim Fassel's moment of truth. Was he a one-season wonder, or the victim of shaky talent and devastating injuries the past two years? The jury still is out. If he doesn't make the playoffs, Fassel will be, too. His staff is solid, led by aggressive coordinators Sean Payton and John Fox.
Quarterbacks	B -	Kerry Collins put up eye-popping numbers in his seven starts last season, but it is impossible to ignore his year-long problem with throwing interceptions, and that he was only 2-5 as a starter. He has shown enough to warrant optimism, but it's cautious optimism. Jason Garrett is a great fit as the new backup, but soon the team will need young blood at the position.
Running backs	C	Injuries ruined the backfield last season, and now the team is relying on first-round draft pick Ron Dayne to turn things around. It could happen, and if it doesn't Joe Montgomery is waiting in the wings. If one or the other doesn't become a reliable, between-the-tackles ballcarrier, the offense could be in for another strange, unbalanced season. Tiki Barber has developed into an ideal third-down back. The fullback situation remains up in the air because of Charles Way's lingering knee problems.
Receivers	B +	The team's long-time weakness has become a strength, but the unit still lacks a classic, breakaway speed threat. Maybe Brian Alford can do it, or maybe third-round draft pick Ron Dixon can. Still, Amani Toomer and Ike Hilliard were a highly productive starting pair last season, and tight end Pete Mitchell provided an entirely new dimension for the offense.
Offensive line	C -	This has been a weakness for years, and now is a huge question mark with four new starters, including three who are new to the team. If warhorses Lomas Brown and Glenn Parker have something left as the left side combo, there is hope. But even then, the team needs 1999 first-round pick Luke Petitgout to fit in at right tackle as he never did at left guard. The only returning starter is Ron Stone, a solid player but no superstar.
Defensive line	B -	On paper, the starting foursome is very talented, but three-time Pro Bowler Michael Strahan must prove that last season was not the real him. The potential weak spot on the line is Christian Peter, but if second-round pick Cornelius Griffin develops quickly, he could turn into a supplement at one tackle spot and give opponents a different look than Peter.
Linebackers	B	Three-time Pro Bowler Jessie Armstead and his old friend from Miami, Mike Barrow, give the linebacking corps an entirely new look. The speed is back. But it won't be an elite group until a third man steps up, perhaps Pete Monty or rookie Brandon Short. Ryan Phillips was solid but not special on the strong side, a long-time problem area, last season.
Secondary	C +	The secondary was solid at this time last year, but now is full of potential disasters. It is essential players such as Jason Sehorn, Sam Garnes and Shaun Williams stay healthy, and that either Dave Thomas or Conrad Hamilton emerges as a reliable left cornerback. There is a stable or promising young cornerbacks, and the team needs one or two to develop for defending the inevitable multiple-receiver sets.
Special teams	B -	Bashir Levingston, Barber, Dixon and even Sean Bennett give the team some promising return men, and the kickers, Brad Daluiso and Brad Maynard, are among the league's most solid pairs. The key is coverage on kickoffs and punts, always an adventure when you are perhaps the slowest team in the league. Injuries ate away at the return units last season. If the team stays healthy and does not have to dip into its reserve pool, the special teams should be better.

Coaching staff	C +	A year ago, the staff received an A, but it lost a future Hall of Fame coach (Bill Parcells) and a great defensive coordinator (Bill Belichick). Al Groh has many positive qualities, but he's an unknown as a head coach. New defensive coordinator Mike Nolan is on the hot seat after a tough time in Washington. New offensive coordinator Dan Henning is a solid, meat-and-potatoes coach, but not terribly innovative.
Quarterbacks	A -	The Jets are fortunate; they have two quarterbacks who can win—Vinny Testaverde and Ray Lucas. All eyes will be on Testaverde, who will attempt to rebound from Achilles surgery. But at 36, there are no guarantees. Lucas proved last season he can lead the team. The quarterback of the future is first-round pick Chad Pennington, who will carry the clipboard in 2000.
Running backs	A -	As long as Curtis Martin stays healthy and doesn't run out of gas, the Jets will be in good shape. Martin is one of the top five backs in the NFL, and the Jets will be relying on him a lot more now that wide receiver Keyshawn Johnson is gone. Backups Leon Johnson and Bernie Parmalee are OK. The Jets lack a bruising, change-of-pace back.
Receivers	C -	After trading Johnson to the Bucs, the Jets are left with only one proven target—Wayne Chrebet, who will miss Johnson more than he's willing to admit. The Jets' goal was to sign another veteran, preferably taller than six feet, to take pressure off Chrebet. Dedric Ward and rookie Laveranues Coles bring the speed dimension. Rookie tight end Anthony Becht will start very soon.
Offensive line	B	This unit proved last season that it can slug it out in the running game. The Jets are strong in the middle with Pro Bowl center Kevin Mawae and right guard Randy Thomas, but there are questions at the tackle. Can Jason Fabini make the switch to left tackle, replacing the retired Jumbo Elliott? Is right tackle Ryan Young ready for prime time? Left guard Kerry Jenkins will be pushed by David Loverne.
Defensive line	C	The line produced only nine sacks last season; 19 NFL players had more. But the outlook is brighter. Rookie end Shaun Ellis has the potential to be an impact player. Veteran nose tackle Jason Ferguson is almost there. After that, there's a big dropoff. The Jets are hoping Eric Ogbogu will emerge as the starter at right end.
Linebackers	B +	This is one of the better groups in the league. Not a lot of flash, but a bunch of strong, hard-nosed football players. Mo Lewis is the leader, followed by Marvin Jones and Bryan Cox. Will James Farrior ever step up? Rookie John Abraham, a pass-rushing specialist, has Jevon Kearse-like speed off the corner.
Secondary	B	Cornerbacks Marcus Coleman and Aaron Glenn and strong safety Victor Green form a strong trio, but there's a big question mark at free safety. So what else is new? Omar Stoutmire will get the first crack, but don't be surprised if the position changes hands a couple of times. Ray Mickens is a solid nickel back.
Special teams	B	The Jets are a punt returner away from having a potentially dominant special teams unit. Everything else is above average, from Pro Bowl punter Tom Tupa to kicker John Hall to dynamic coverage teams.

Coaching staff	B -	Coach Jon Gruden has weeded out players who were either unproductive or divisive forces. Bill Callahan showed he is capable of forming a cohesive offensive line and helping design the offensive game plans. Chuck Bresnahan is in his first year as a defensive coordinator. Special teams coach Bob Casullo is in his first year at the pro level.
Quarterbacks	A -	Rich Gannon showed last season that he is durable and well-suited for Gruden's complex West Coast-style offense. He handles pressure well, especially on the road, is adept at running the ball. He makes his offensive line better with his improvisational skills. Bobby Hoying is a capable backup. Scott Dreisbach looks like a future starter.
Running backs	A -	Tyrone Wheatley and Napoleon Kaufman give Oakland one of the league's top 1-2 punches and complement each other well. Jon Ritchie is an effective blocker and developed into one of the league's best pass catchers last season. Zack Crockett and Randy Jordan are dependable backs in short-yardage and goal-line situations.
Receivers	C	Tim Brown remains one of the league's premier go-to receivers and is coming off one of his best all-around seasons. James Jett is a dangerous deep threat but lacks the desired consistency of a No. 2 man. Terry Mickens is the only other receiver who caught any passes last season. David Dunn, Larry Shannon and rookie Jerry Porter should provide much-needed production and depth. Newcomer Troy Drayton will back up Rickey Dudley at tight end.
Offensive line	B	Mo Collins, Steve Wisniewski, Barret Robbins, Barry Sims and Lincoln Kennedy keyed an offense that ranked fifth last season and protected Gannon well enough for him to have a Pro Bowl season. Matt Stinchcomb should crack the starting lineup this season. Darryl Ashmore and Adam Treu are solid backups.
Defensive line	B	Darrell Russell is one of the best tackles in the league. End Lance Johnstone led the team in sacks last season and should have an even better season this year in the final year of his contract. Grady Jackson replaces veteran Russell Maryland, alongside Russell, and should be a dominant force. Tony Bryant and Regan Upshaw should solidify left end. Shawn Lee and Chuck Osborne are productive backups.
Linebackers	C	Greg Biekert is the lone returning starter at linebacker. Eric Barton started the final three games on the weak side last season, but he still has plenty to learn. Elijah Alexander and Travian Smith are the leading candidates for the starting spot at strong side. Sam Sword is being groomed to replace Biekert.
Secondary	B	Charles Woodson is perhaps the league's top cornerback and teams with Eric Allen to give Oakland one of the best tandems. Tory James is good enough to start and should push Allen for a spot. Until then, James will split time with Darrien Gordon in obvious passing situations. Marquez Pope and Anthony Dorsett will battle at strong safety. Charles Mincy is the likely candidate to replace Eric Turner at free safety. Je'Rod Cherry will provide adequate depth.
Special teams	B -	Kicker Sebastian Janikowski and punter Shane Lechler were drafted with the intent of solving Oakland's kicking woes and helping it improve in the never-ending battle for field position. Gordon is one of the game's best punt returners ever. Casullo's special teams sparkled during his tenures at Syracuse, Georgia Tech and Michigan State.

Coaching staff	C +	Head coach Andy Reid made his share of rookie mistakes, but seems to have learned from some of them. His game-day decisions this year bear watching, however. Defensive coordinator Jim Johnson seems to get the most from his players. However, he needs to show he can do more than just blitz. The rising young star of the staff is special teams coordinator John Harbaugh.
Quarterbacks	C	The jury remains out on talented but untested Donovan McNabb. The second-year player shows great confidence and leadership for someone so young, but he still must produce on the field. The backups are journeyman Doug Pederson and undersized Koy Detmer. Pederson was a complete flop as a starter last year. Detmer won his only start and could win the No. 2 spot.
Running backs	B	In a quiet and unassuming manner Duce Staley has become one of the top backs in the league. He can run, catch, block and play with injuries. You can't ask for much more. Stanley Pritchett, Staley's old college teammate, should win the fullback job from second-year man Cecil Martin. That's a good starting duo. There just isn't much in reserve.
Receivers	C -	There still isn't a true go-to-guy at either wide receiver or tight end. Charles Johnson is the best of a deep, but average, group of wideouts. And every tight end on the roster has been cut at least once in his career, except for second-year man Jed Weaver, and he may be by the time you read this.
Offensive line	B -	Tra Thomas and Jon Runyan give the Eagles their best set of tackles since Stan Walters and Jerry Sisemore started on the Super Bowl team of 20 years ago. The interior of the line could be good, but it's very young and inexperienced. Guards Doug Brzezinski and Bobby Williams and center Bubba Miller have a combined one year of starting experience.
Defensive line	B -	Ends Mike Mamula and Hugh Douglas can get to the quarterback, but they have to prove they will not be a liability against the run. Rookie Corey Simon should help stuff the run in the middle and create some inside pressure. But keep in mind he's still a rookie. There is very little proven depth in reserve.
Linebackers	B	Jeremiah Trotter is a star-in-waiting in the middle. Carlos Emmons gives the team a true strongside player for the first time since Seth Joyner. Barry Gardner is unproven and untested on the weakside, but he has some ability. There is excellent depth with James Darling, Mike Caldwell and Ike Reese.
Secondary	A -	Cornerback Troy Vincent and free safety Brian Dawkins both went to the Pro Bowl last season, despite the team's last-place finish. That's an impressive half of a secondary. Vincent's counterpart, Bobby Taylor, and nickel back Al Harris are also very solid. The one uncertain is strong safety, but second-year man Rashard Cook may be the answer.
Special teams	B -	With all those linebackers, the coverage teams should be even better than last year. And they were good last year. If rookie Gari Scott can handle punt returns, Allen Rossum will be fine with kickoffs. Punter Sean Landeta is still going strong, and young kicker David Akers is better than most realize.

Coaching staff	B	Bill Cowher is on the hot seat after forcing the ouster of personnel man Tom Donahoe, and his every move will be scrutinized. Another losing season and he likely will be fired. Cowher has to become more disciplined and more demanding. He cannot afford to tolerate the lackluster attitude that permeated the ranks in 1999. New defensive coordinator Tim Lewis has to find ways so the defense doesn't run out of gas late in the year.
Quarterbacks	C	The team brought in Kent Graham to back up Kordell Stewart, and if the Steelers have to turn to the former Giants quarterback they are in trouble. Graham is not very mobile and the offensive line isn't good enough to give him the time he would need to throw. Stewart has a bigger chore in front of him—regaining the confidence of the fans and his teammates after two bad seasons. If he doesn't, his psyche won't be able to handle the pressure.
Running backs	B -	Jerome Bettis has not been as productive the past two seasons, which has coincided with the poor performance of the offensive line. But he will see even less playing time this season with Richard Huntley, who is a better pass receiver for offensive coordinator Kevin Gilbride's spread offense and more of a threat to break a big run. The team re-signed Huntley during the offseason and, depending on who you believe, told him he would be the team's feature back.
Receivers	C +	This is an underachieving but young group that has lots of potential but still not lots of speed. The drafting of Plaxico Burress with the top pick will make last year's No. 1 pick, Troy Edwards, that much better. It will also make Hines Ward the No. 3 receiver, which is where he is better served. The Steelers think Edwards is better as a No. 2 man because he is not a deep threat but is very dangerous running with the ball after a catch. If last year's No. 5 pick, Malcolm Johnson, continues to develop, the team has the makings of a tall and physically imposing group of receivers. Tight end Mark Bruener is not used much to catch passes.
Offensive line	C	For all their manuevering, the Steelers still have a problem at right tackle. For the third year in a row, they go to training camp looking for a new starter at that position. The waiving of Justin Strzelczyk hurts because he was a proven veteran, but back-to-back offseason injuries were too much for the team to take. Kris Farris, who missed all of last season, will come in as the starter. But don't be surprised if rookie Marvel Smith, who is more comfortable at left tackle, forces the team to shift veteran Wayne Gandy to right tackle.
Defensive line	C -	The free-agent loss of end Orpheus Roye hurts because he was the team's best lineman. And if Joel Steed is unable to play on his bad knees, which appears to be the case, the team will be losing a Pro Bowl nose tackle. That's why the Steelers went out and signed Kimo von Oelhoffen from the Bengals. But right defensive end Kevin Henry needs to play like he did in 1997, and free-agent newcomer Chris Sullivan has to be able to rush the passer from the left side, something the Steelers have been unable to do.
Linebackers	B	This is probably the team's strongest unit, but it did wear down in 1999. The Steelers are excited about their new right outside linebacker, Joey Porter, who was a training camp sensation last season and looks a lot like a young Greg Lloyd. But if the team doesn't get more inspired play from Levon Kirkland, it could be a long season. Earl Holmes is solid as the other inside linebacker, but he is only as good as Kirkland allows him to be. Kirkland has to make sure he keeps his weight in check and does not allow it to slow him down.
Secondary	C +	There are good corners in Chad Scott and Dewayne Washington and a solid, hard-hitting strong safety in Lee Flowers. Still, the secondary has been susceptible to too many big plays that have led to too many losses. Flowers and free safety Travis Davis did a poor job reacting to deep passes last year and it cost the Steelers on almost every occasion. That has to stop.
Special teams	B -	The problem areas are not the punter and the kicker (Josh Miller and Kris Brown, respectively, are fine), but the return teams. The Steelers have not returned a kickoff for a touchdown in almost two years and their average starting drive was among the worst in the league in '99. Edwards is a good punt returner, but his hands and decision-making were suspect. The drafting of cornerback Hank Poteat on the third round could help the return teams because he was among the nation's leaders on punt and kick returns.

Coaching staff	B	The same qualities that characterized Mike Martz as an offensive coordinator—confidence and a willingness to take chances—will drive him as a head coach. How he responds to the pressure of being the head man, and the pressure of taking over a Super Bowl championship team, remains to be seen. The addition of running backs coach Bobby Jackson and special teams coach Larry Pasquale are pluses.
Quarterbacks	A	Kurt Warner is coming off one of the best seasons ever logged by an NFL quarterback. Judging by his off-season work habits, he seems determined to show he's no one-year wonder. Even if he is, the Rams have one of the best insurance policies in the NFL in Trent Green, who is good enough to start for several clubs.
Running backs	B +	After setting a league record for yards from scrimmage (2,429) last season, Marshall Faulk deserves consideration as one of the best all-purpose backs in NFL history. A few more productive seasons will cement the argument, and Faulk has plenty of tread left on his tires. At fullback, Robert Holcombe has yet to show the kind of consistency to be considered an elite player at his position.
Receivers	A	There isn't a better quartet in the league than Isaac Bruce, Torry Holt, Az-Zahir Hakim and Ricky Proehl. Bruce, Holt and Hakim are shifty playmakers who excel after the catch. Proehl has developed into a clutch third-down receiver, adept at getting the necessary yards to keep the chains moving.
Offensive line	B -	The Rams have an anchor on the left in tackle Orlando Pace, and an anchor on the right in guard Adam Timmerman. Left guard Tom Nutten played like a Pro Bowler in the postseason. But there will be a new center (Andy McCollum) and a new right tackle (Ryan Tucker) in the starting lineup, and depth is a concern.
Defensive line	B +	Kevin Carter and Grant Wistrom emerged as the best young defensive end tandem in the league a year ago. Carter has become a disruptive sack master, and Wistrom never takes a play off. Tackles D'Marco Farr and Ray Agnew are a tad undersized, but Farr has one of the quickest first steps in the game. Agnew is a steady, resourceful influence.
Linebackers	B	This group overachieved a year ago—can it do so again? Long before "The Tackle" in the Super Bowl, outside backer Mike Jones was enjoying a career year. Speedy London Fletcher quickly established himself as one of the better middle linebackers in the game. Leonard Little could press Todd Collins for playing time.
Secondary	B	Todd Lyght may fall short of "shutdown corner" status, but the 10-year veteran plays at a high level. Dexter McCleon is developing into a solid NFL corner, and nickel back Dre' Bly has uncanny ball instincts and plays with aggressiveness. Devin Bush finally gets his chance to start at strong safety. Free safety Keith Lyle is one of the best in the business.
Special teams	B	Tony Horne is one of the most dangerous kickoff return men in the game. Who knows how many kickoffs he would have returned for touchdowns last season were it not for a four-game drug suspension? Hakim is an above average punt returner who is also capable of taking it the distance. Veterans Jeff Wilkins (kicker) and Rick Tuten (punter) are coming off injury-plagued '99 seasons.

Coaching staff	B +	Mike Riley has half the battle won. His players love him. On top of it, he's very bright and well-organized. Riley never seems to have a bad day. Win or lose, he always seems the same. He's also fortunate to have a good blend of veteran and young minds on his staff and they all seem to get along. Defensive coordinator Joe Pascale is a miracle worker, a head coaching candidate waiting to happen.
Quarterbacks	C -	Incumbent Jim Harbaugh had trouble throwing the ball 50 yards in minicamp. He's 36 years old and still game, but he may be ready for retirement. He also hasn't completed a 16-game season since 1991. Third-year pro Moses Moreno is the favorite to take his place, but Moreno is very green and remains a definite wait-and-see, which is not a good sign heading into a season. Ryan Leaf? Nobody knows and many people don't care.
Running backs	C -	Now that Natrone Means has been released, youth will be served. Jermaine Fazande and Robert Chancey will be the big backs Nos. 1 and 2, and both are inexperienced. Fazande is the favorite based on his 183-yard rushing performance in the season finale against Denver. Chancey seems more the fullback type and may see duty there, what with Fred McCrary the only real fullback on the roster. The versatile Terrell Fletcher will be the third-down back.
Receivers	B	Only veteran Jeff Graham played well a year ago and even he had his bad moments. Help is on the way. With the arrival of free-agent speedster Curtis Conway from Chicago, the Chargers have their first real deep threat since Tony Martin. Graham and Conway should make a nice tandem. Rookie Trevor Gaylor is 6-3, can flat run and already has impressed the staff. Robert Reed is a marvelous athlete, but that No. 4 spot appears up for grabs.
Offensive line	D	If this team is going anywhere, the line must improve. Especially its run blocking, which was dismal in '99, when the backs averaged 3.0 yards per rush. Left tackle John Jackson is aging and left guard Kendyl Jacox has had weight and injury problems. Every man is a veteran, so there is no excuse for another subpar performance, especially with famed offensive line guru Joe Bugel coaching them.
Defensive line	B	The line was not overwhelming in the pass rushing department, although end Raylee Johnson is coming off a breakout season in which he totaled 10.5 sacks. The loss of Norman Hand to free agency hurts depth at tackle, although Jamal Williams and John Parrella are more than capable. Al Fontenot was a surprise at the other end position. There isn't much depth, but these guys play hard.
Linebackers	B	All three starters—Junior Seau and Gerald Dixon on the outside and Eric Hill in the middle—are in their 30's. Seau remains a great player, perhaps the best all-around linebacker of his generation. The team will miss outside man Lew Bush, who has left for Kansas City, but Dixon, while not the run-stopper Bush was, is a better pass rusher. Hill is just a solid, no-nonsense veteran.
Secondary	B	It should be better. Disappointing corner Terrance Shaw was released after DeRon Jenkins was brought in as a free agent from Baltimore. Rookie Fakhir Brown was the favorite to win the job on the other side but he tore the labrum in his right shoulder in an April auto accident. He's expected to be ready by training camp and will battle veteran playmaker Darryll Lewis. Impact strong safety Rodney Harrison seems to have recovered from shoulder surgery, which is the biggest plus of this offseason.
Special teams	B	The search for a return specialist failed. So it will either be Reed or Charlie Jones returning punts and Kenny Bynum returning kickoffs. Bynum is average at best, Reed has great potential, Jones is so-so. The kick coverage improved dramatically last year after a horrible 1998. Kicker John Carney and punter Darren Bennett are two of the very best. David Binn is an expert long snapper.

Coaching staff	C +	Steve Mariucci didn't get credit for his 13-3 rookie effort three years ago or blame for his 4-12 record last season. But after finally getting some input on personnel decisions, this is finally his team. The former college coach's energetic "rah-rah" style should work with a young squad, and his history as a quarterback guru will be key.
Quarterbacks	C	Jeff Garcia blames himself for most of the 49ers' offensive woes (non-cohesive line, inactive receivers, inability to develop a running game), but he is brimming with confidence in his second NFL season as he takes a lion's share of the snaps in camp. Last year he caved under pressure after being thrown into the fire.
Running backs	B +	Charlie Garner rescued the team's running attack—not to mention his own career—subbing for Garrison Hearst last year. If Hearst comes back to split time with Garner, worries about Garner's every-down toughness will be appeased. Both are explosive in the open field and the 49ers offense knows how to free them up.
Receivers	B +	No trio of players was as underused in the NFL last year, but with a more experienced quarterback running the show, these weapons can again hurt defenses. As the losses piled on, youngsters Terrell Owens and J.J. Stokes grew disinterested, and Jerry Rice became the unexpected go-to guy during an inconsistent season that hinted at his age.
Offensive line	C	This unit took the biggest strides in '99, growing more cohesive with each week. All five starters return after playing 15 games together and paving the way for the No. 2 rushing offense in the NFL. An unspectacular group that could have used help from the draft will at least play relatively mistake-free after an entire year together.
Defensive line	C -	An absolute absence of an outside pass rush was the 49ers' downfall last year, with all of the pressure coming from the tackles, including one of the league's top defensive players, Bryant Young. The team needs major contributions from younger, faster defensive ends like Jeff Posey, Chike Okeafor and John Engelberger.
Linebackers	C +	The 49ers hope to allow both outside linebackers the freedom to take chances and make things happen. First-round draft pick Julian Peterson will be the team's top pass rushing option when he's not busy covering the tight end. And veteran Ken Norton will again be in on almost every tackle. Inside, Winfred Tubbs needs to pick up the intensity.
Secondary	D +	Three new cornerbacks will be in the mix as the 49ers desperately try to shore up the too-short, too-soft unit that lost too many loose-ball battles and allowed too many deep passes. With opponents trying to exploit the cornerbacks once again, free safety Lance Schulters will continue to make plays on the ball like he did in making the Pro Bowl last year.
Special teams	C -	A large number of speedy defensive rookies should impact last year's horrible kick coverage, but the punter position has not been upgraded. Kicker Wade Richey was the team's MVP in his second year, adding accuracy to the clutch performances he gave in his '98 rookie season. A solid kick returner has yet to be found.

Coaching staff	B	The addition of Steve Sidwell to coordinate a defense that allowed too many yards in 1999 is a huge plus. The return of Gil Haskell as offensive coordinator more than offsets the loss of Mike Sherman to the Packers. But even more important will be Mike Holmgren's ability to coax the best effort from a group that has underachieved.
Quarterbacks	C	After being better than expected in the first half of the '99 season, Jon Kitna performed as you might expect a first-year starter in a complex scheme to play over the final six weeks. He must be more consistent, not to mention better, if he is to have a long-term future with this team.
Running backs	B -	The still-productive Ricky Watters ran hard but eventually ran down last season. The addition of first-round draft choice Shaun Alexander will supply Watters with some needed rest, as well as added incentive when he is on the field.
Receivers	C +	Derrick Mayes and Sean Dawkins found a way to combine for 120 catches and 17 touchdowns in their first season with the Seahawks. They will have to find a way to be even more productive if they're going to make everyone forget Joey Galloway.
Offensive line	D +	The weakest link of last year's playoff team took a serious hit when the versatile Robbie Tobeck was lost for six to eight months after tearing a tendon in his left knee in May. His loss creates another season of question marks on the right side of the line. The real plus here is the continuing ascension of LT Walter Jones.
Defensive line	B -	Even with the losses of right end Phillip Daniels and left tackle Sam Adams in free agency, this remains the strength of a defense that wasn't stout enough last year. Lamar King must step up as Daniels' replacement and left end Michael Sinclair must return to his Pro Bowl form.
Linebackers	C +	Chad Brown's do-everything ability should benefit from Sidwell's presence, and unpredictability. The move of Anthony Simmons outside was needed, and overdo. But the Seahawks will open this season just as they closed the '99 season—without a proven middle linebacker and with concerns about a lack of depth.
Secondary	C +	The arrival of strong safety Reggie Tongue in free agency supplies some needed toughness. But the best thing about this group remains left corner Shawn Springs, who shut down some of the game's top receivers last year. Now the Seahawks need better play from right corner Willie Williams and a next-level performance from free safety Jay Bellamy.
Special teams	B +	It didn't take long for Pete Rodriguez to work his magic, transforming special teams units that ranked as the league's worst in 1997 into consistent units that ranked first last year. The honor roll includes the additions of punter Jeff Feagles and punt returner Charlie Rogers, and the continued steadiness of kicker Todd Peterson.

Coaching staff	B +	Tony Dungy's easy-going style is perfect for today's athlete, and he has surrounded himself with some of the most underrated coaches in the game. Defensive coordinator Monte Kiffin and defensive backs coach Herman Edwards are among the best at what they do. Les Steckel is flexible enough to produce what's needed out of the Bucs offense.
Quarterbacks	C	Shaun King is not an outstanding athlete but he finds a way to make the right play, to make the big play and to win. He doesn't get rattled and that will help him during what figures to be a season laced with pressures. The team needs to get a veteran behind him who has won and won big. Eric Zeier isn't going to get this team to the Super Bowl.
Running backs	B	Mike Alstott and Warrick Dunn are one of the most formidable duos in the league. Both are durable and both can hurt you either as ball carriers or pass rushers. The downside is that Alstott fumbles too much and doesn't block very well. If he could do the latter, the team could make more use of Dunn near the goal line, where its increased use of Alstott makes the offense rather predictable.
Receivers	B	Keyshawn Johnson may be the best all-around receiver in the game. He creates matchup problems, makes big plays and blocks. The team has speed threats in Jacquez Green and Reidel Anthony but neither has proven to be strong in traffic. Tight end Dave Moore is underrated, especially in the red zone. Karl Williams and up-and-comers Drew O'Connor, Darnell McDonald and James Whalen add depth to the receiving corps.
Offensive line	C +	Newcomers Jeff Christy (center) and Randall McDaniel (left guard) will make this unit better, but it still may not be good enough to get to the Super Bowl. Left tackle is a potential problem area, no matter who plays there, and depth is a problem as well. The reserves are either too young or too old to make an impact if thrust into regular duty.
Defensive line	A	This is the best defensive front in the league. The ends don't produce a lot of sacks, but with Warren Sapp leading the way at tackle, the unit produces all the necessary quarterback pressure, enough to allow linebackers and defensive backs to stay back in coverage and blitz only ocassionally. Marcus Jones and Anthony McFarland are reserves good enough to start for several NFL teams.
Linebackers	B +	This unit may not be as dominant as it was without Hardy Nickerson. However, the players are all outstanding athletes. They're all fast and smart, and that fits in well with what the Bucs ask them to do, which is pursue the ball. Derrick Brooks was arguably the best outside backer in the game last year and he's only getting better as he gets smarter and more experienced.
Secondary	A	This is one of the hardest-hitting and perhaps one of the most underrated units in the league. Safeties John Lynch and Damien Robinson will flat-out pop you and Donnie Abraham is one of the best cover corners in the game. Ronde Barber is a little small but he's effective. The team was second against the pass last year.
Special teams	B -	Kicker Martin Gramatica is accurate from better than 50 yards and capable of hitting a 60-yard field goal, but his kickoffs come up a little short. Mark Royals can do anything you ask of a punter. The return game is a little weak and needs to add some fearless elements.

Coaching staff	A -	This is a quality group that got the most of out of last season's team. This year's challenge is to stay at the front of the pack. The role of new offensive coordinator Mike Heimerdinger will be worth watching. He trained under Mike Shanahan, is no-nonsense and figures to demand more from those with the ball.
Quarterbacks	B +	Steve McNair and Neil O'Donnell give the Titans as good a 1-2 duo as any team in the league. McNair still needs to refine his downfield reads to complete his package, but he is certainly poised for a huge season. O'Donnell has been the ultimate professional since arriving in Nashville. No. 3 man Kevin Daft played well in NFL Europe.
Running backs	A	Eddie George is tough, consistent and motivated. Enough said. Depth is a concern, but fullback Lorenzo Neal is certainly an underused player in this offense. Rodney Thomas faces a stiff challenge for the No. 2 spot behind George.
Receivers	C	There's talent here, yes, but they have yet to mesh into the offense. There's no doubt they need more opportunities in an offense built around the run, but they need to do more with the ball once it is in their hands.
Offensive line	B +	The line rebounded from last year's early struggles in the run game when Bruce Matthews moved back to guard. Fred Miller is the key as he replaces Jon Runyan at right tackle. Overall this is a powerful group that works well together.
Defensive line	B	Jevon Kearse can dominate and Jason Fisk is underappreciated by most around the league. It's a solid group overall, good against the run, but it likely will need to overcome the loss of tackle Josh Evans due to NFL suspension. Evans' absence means John Thornton gets his chance.
Linebackers	B +	There will be more than a few new faces here, led by free-agent signee Randall Godfrey and first-round pick Keith Bulluck. Look for the linebackers to attack a lot more in 2000.
Secondary	B	The secondary surrendered some big plays to some middle-of-the-road quarterbacks last season, and being in a division that likes throw and drafted a host of wide receivers this year, improvement is necessary. The Titans need to tighten up at the corners and keep safety Marcus Robertson healthy.
Special teams	B	There are no worries at kicker or punter, but consistency is needed in the return game from Derrick Mason. The coverage units still take too many penalties.

Coaching staff	B	Norv Turner knows how to design an offense, to get receivers open and to give running backs open spaces. Ray Rhodes and his defensive staff should be able to revitalize a unit that has struggled for too many seasons. Turner's biggest challenge will be handling a potentially volatile quarterback situation.
Quarterbacks	A	It is difficult to imagine there is a team in the league with more quality at this position. Brad Johnson was the reason the Redskins reached the playoffs last season. The same can be said for Jeff George in Minnesota. The only problem will be if egos clash and get in the way of the team's success.
Running backs	A	Stephen Davis could be on the verge of a brilliant career, and the addition of Adrian Murrell has added depth. Murrell should be able to keep the inside power running game going if Davis goes down this year. Larry Centers provides reliable hands on the field and reliable leadership in the locker room. Skip Hicks is running out of time to prove he belongs on the roster.
Receivers	B -	Michael Westbrook is capable and finally proved he can be tough and durable. He needs to build on his solid 1999 season. Albert Connell should be on the verge of a breakout season. Tight end Stephen Alexander can be a bigger part of the offense if he has better luck with injuries this season.
Offensive line	B	The tackles are young and gifted. The guards are experienced and tough. The center is solid. There are two keys, though. Rookie Chris Samuels has to grow up quickly at left tackle, and veteran Tre' Johnson has to stay healthy for an entire season at left guard.
Defensive line	C	There is no lack of big, experienced bodies here. But that hasn't translated into domination at the line of scrimmage in recent seasons. The talent is available, and if the new system permits them more freedom to be playmakers, this group should be effective.
Linebackers	C +	They'll be asked to do less, but do it better this season. That should help Derek Smith and Shawn Barber make more plays. The depth is decent. LaVar Arrington could make this a standout group, but he has to learn the pro game quickly.
Secondary	B	The cornerbacks can cover and the safeties can hit. There's depth at the nickel and dime spots, and Deion Sanders could make this group even better. With all the experience here, it's going to be tough for opposing offenses to fool anyone.
Special teams	C -	Inconsistency has been a killer for these units, so they are getting a makeover for 2000. Young players who take their jobs seriously and understand the importance of their roles have to be found.

PLAYOFF PLAN

TIEBREAKING PROCEDURES

DIVISION TIES

TWO CLUBS

1. Head-to-head (best won-lost-tied percentage in games between the clubs).
2. Best won-lost-tied percentage in games played within the division.
3. Best won-lost-tied percentage in games played within the conference.
4. Best won-lost-tied percentage in common games, if applicable.
5. Best net points in division games.
6. Best net points in all games.
7. Strength of schedule.
8. Best net touchdowns in all games.
9. Coin toss.

THREE OR MORE CLUBS

(Note: If two clubs remain tied after other clubs are eliminated during any step, tie-breaker reverts to step 1 of two-club format.)

1. Head-to-head (best won-lost-tied percentage in games among the clubs).
2. Best won-lost-tied percentage in games played within the division.
3. Best won-lost-tied percentage in games played within the conference.
4. Best won-lost-tied percentage in common games.
5. Best net points in division games.
6. Best net points in all games.
7. Strength of schedule.
8. Best net touchdowns in all games.
9. Coin toss.

WILD-CARD TIES

If necessary to break ties to determine the three wild-card clubs from each conference, the following steps will be taken:

1. If all the tied clubs are from the same division, apply division tie-breaker.
2. If the tied clubs are from different divisions, apply the steps listed below.
3. When the first wild-card team has been identified, the procedure is repeated to name the second wild card (i.e., eliminate all but the highest-ranked club in each division prior to proceeding to step 2), and repeated a third time, if necessary, to identify the third wild card. In situations where three or more teams from the same division are involved in the procedure, the original seeding of the teams remains the same for subsequent applications of the tie-breaker if the top-ranked team in that division qualifies for a wild-card berth.

TWO CLUBS

1. Head-to-head, if applicable.
2. Best won-lost-tied percentage in games played within the conference.
3. Best won-lost-tied percentage in common games, minimum of four.
4. Best average net points in conference games.
5. Best net points in all games.
6. Strength of schedule.
7. Best net touchdowns in all games.
8. Coin toss.

THREE OR MORE CLUBS

(Note: If two clubs remain tied after other clubs are eliminated, tie-breaker reverts to step 1 of two-club format.)

1. Apply division tie-breaker to eliminate all but highest-ranked club in each division prior to proceeding to step 1. The original seeding within a division upon application of the division tie-breaker remains the same for all subsequent applications of the procedure that are necessary to identify the three wild-card participants.
2. Head-to-head sweep (applicable only if one club has defeated each of the others or one club has lost to each of the others).
3. Best won-lost-tied percentage in games played within the conference.
4. Best won-lost-tied percentage in common games, minimum of four.
5. Best average net points in conference games.
6. Best net points in all games.
7. Strength of schedule.
8. Best net touchdowns in all games.
9. Coin toss.

YEAR IN REVIEW

THE TOP STORIES OF THE PAST YEAR

By STEVE MEYERHOFF

It was a year that defied predictions, a year of improbability and even impossibility. It was a year in which the have-nots became the haves, winners became losers and losers became winners, a year of unexpected retirements and untimely injuries.

It was a year of change.

In came the St. Louis Rams, Tennessee Titans, Indianapolis Colts and Cleveland Browns—the revised edition. Out went the Denver Broncos, Atlanta Falcons, Green Bay Packers and Dallas Cowboys. In came Kurt Warner, Edgerrin James and Tim Couch. Out went Barry Sanders, Dan Marino, Terrell Davis and Steve Young.

Out forever went Walter Payton, Tom Landry and Derrick Thomas.

Yes, it's safe to call 1999 a season of change.

THE BEGINNING, THE END

The season began, ironically, the same way it ended—with one of the game's brightest stars announcing his retirement. When Lions running back Barry Sanders jolted the football world with the August news that he was burned out on football and ready to call it a career, he set a wild tone for one of the most bizarre NFL campaigns in history.

The 1999 season was supposed to be a coronation for Sanders. With only 1,457 yards separating him from all-time leading rusher Walter Payton, he figured to ascend to the NFL rushing throne. Numerous other records were either already his (consecutive 1,000-yard seasons, consecutive 100-yard games) or within grasp, including the career mark for rushing touchdowns.

But Sanders didn't even make it to the starting gate. Saying he was tired and in need of a rest, the Lions' running back, at the tender age of 31, astonished everybody by walking away from the game.

Many speculated he was tired of losing in Detroit. Others called it a play for more money, or a trade. Many predicted he would be back during the season.

Many were wrong.

Six months later, after the season officially had concluded, Dolphins quarterback Dan Marino made a more predictable exit, ending his 17-year career with record-setting numbers: 61,361 passing yards, 420 touchdown passes, 4,967 completions. The man who recorded phenomenal single-season passing highs of 5,084 yards and 48 TDs in 1984 stepped down as the most prolific passer in NFL history and a sure-bet Hall of Famer. But one lesser number will haunt him forever—zero, the number of Super Bowl championships he brought to Miami.

The 38-year-old Marino called it a career with his famed quick release and analytic mind still sharp, but his knees betrayed him. After the Dolphins dropped a 62-7 divisional playoff battle to Jacksonville, rumors circulated that Marino might quarterback a new team—perhaps the Vikings—in 2000. But he decided to go out the way he will always be remembered: as a Dolphin.

ACHES AND PAINS

The Rams' rise was helped by key injuries to the teams everybody expected to contend in 1999. And the transition started immediately, with a Week 1 shocker that transformed the New York Jets from contenders to pretenders.

With Vinny Testaverde calling the signals, New York contended in 1998, eventually losing to the Broncos in the AFC championship game. But the 1999 season opener provided a doubled whammy to their hopes for a second Super Bowl championship—the Jets lost to New England and Testaverde ruptured his Achilles' tendon, an injury that would sideline him for the season. With Rick Mirer thrust into a starting role, the Jets struggled until unheralded Ray Lucas took over and brought them home with an 8-8 record.

The Falcons, coming off the franchise's first Super Bowl appearance, had equally high hopes. But they played the bulk of the season without their most vital offensive weapon, running back Jamal Anderson. Anderson's difficult campaign began with a training camp holdout and ended in the team's second regular-season game, a loss to Dallas. Anderson went down with a torn anterior cruciate ligament and his absence, coupled with the loss of quarterback Chris Chandler to a hamstring injury in the season opener, devastated the Falcons. They struggled to a 1-6 start en route to a 5-11 season.

The most devastating injury crumbled the hopes of the defending two-time Super Bowl-champion Broncos. With their offense already in transition after the retirement of quarterback John Elway, running back Terrell Davis suffered a partial tear of his medial collateral ligament in the fourth game and underwent surgery on October 13. He missed the rest of the season. Denver, without its biggest offensive guns, opened 0-4 and struggled home 6-10.

THE RISE OF THE RAMS

Ironically, it was an injury that opened the door for the Rams' sudden rise to prominence. It occurred August 28, during the team's third preseason game. Quarterback Trent Green, a free-agent acquisition who was being handed the keys to a high-powered offense, went down with a season-ending knee injury, courtesy of a hit from behind by San Diego strong safety Rodney Harrison.

With Green performing flawlessly, the Rams offense, with a healthy Isaac Bruce, newcomer Marshall Faulk, rookie Torry Holt and an emerging Az-Zahir Hakim under the guidance of coach Dick Vermeil and offensive coordinator Mike Martz, looked like a well-oiled machine. Without him, the quarterback depth chart read like an unedited novel: Joe Germaine, Paul Justin and Kurt Warner.

The improbable and soon-to-be much-told story of a grocery store clerk- turned-MVP and Super Bowl champion started with that shocking preseason injury to Green.

Warner looked good in a preseason-closing 17-6 win at Detroit. But "good" turned to "great" in Week 1 of the regular season, Warner's first NFL start: 309 passing yards, three touchdowns in a 27-10 win over the Ravens. Game 2: 275 yards, 17-of-25 passing and three more touchdowns in a 35-7 rout of Atlanta. Game 3: 17-of-22, 310 yards, three touchdowns in a 38-10 win over the Bengals. Game 4: 323 yards, 20-of-23 passing, five TDs in a 42-20 pounding of the 49ers.

And so it continued until Game 7, when the Tennessee Titans—a team the Rams would meet again in January—ended a six-game St. Louis win streak, 24-21. By season's end, the Rams were an NFC-best 13-3, an improvement from 4-12 in 1998, and owned home-field advantage throughout the NFC playoffs.

Warner's regular-season numbers were staggering for any quarterback, but especially one who had attempted just 11 passes in one NFL game prior to 1999: 4,353 yards, 41 touchdown passes, a 65.1 percent completion percentage and a whopping quarterback rating of 109.2. The league MVP became only the second player to throw for 40 TDs in a season.

With Faulk, Bruce, Holt and company performing their big-play magic week after week, the speedy Rams marched into the playoffs, knocked out the Vikings, 49-37, in a divisional offensive showdown and then slipped past the Tampa Bay Buccaneers, 11-6, in the NFC championship game on a late touchdown pass from Warner to Ricky Proehl.

That set up a Super Bowl battle against the Titans, who powered their way to a regular-season 13-3 record behind the running of Eddie George (1,304 yards) but had to qualify for the playoffs as a wild card behind the 14-2 Jacksonville Jaguars. The Titans' path to the franchise's first Super Bowl required a stunning 22-16 wild-card victory over the Buffalo Bills that was decided on a controversial final-play cross-field lateral on a kickoff return and a 19-16 second-round win over 1999 rushing champion James (1,553 yards) and his Eastern Division-champion Indianapolis Colts.

In a Super Bowl many considered one of the most exciting ever played, a last-play tackle by Rams linebacker Mike Jones stopped Titans receiver Kevin Dyson on the 1-yard line, saving a 23-16 win and the first Super Bowl championship in Rams history. It also was the first for Vermeil, who retired two days after the victory and turned the coaching reins over to Martz.

THE BROWNS ARE BACK

While new-found enthusiasm was gushing in St. Louis, an old, contagious enthusiasm was spilling through the streets of Cleveland, thanks to the rebirth of the Browns.

After suffering through three years without pro football, Cleveland fans, some of the most fervant in the game, welcomed the first expansion franchise with a football legacy. While the new Browns were young, fresh and short on depth and talent, they arrived with a long, winning history (four NFL championships and 11 title-game appearances from 1950-69) and promise for the future. They also began play in a new lakefront stadium and came equipped with a franchise quarterback (Couch), the first overall pick of the NFL draft.

The unusual revival took root in 1995 when longtime Browns owner Art Modell moved his team to Baltimore and renamed them the Ravens. Cleveland fans mourned, pondered their situation and then fought frantically for a new team.

The result, the new Browns, finished with an NFL-worst 2-14 record in their debut season.

PLAYERS IN TROUBLE

While the NFL was choreographing one of the most interesting seasons in recent memory, it also was struggling with a severe image problem. Having struggled with drugs and assorted off-field problems in past years, the league found its name being bandied around courtrooms for more deadly and serious crimes allegedly perpetrated by several of its star players.

First came the news that Rae Carruth, a wide receiver for the Carolina Panthers, was being charged with three others of plotting a November 16, 1999, drive-by shooting that killed his pregnant girlfriend, Cherica Adams. She died December 14, after doctors had saved her baby. Carruth, who originally fled from authorities and was subsequently released by the Panthers, was arrested pending his spring 2000 trial.

Thomas' accident and subsequent death shocked all NFL fans, but especially those in Kansas City, where he broke in as a rookie in 1989. (Photo by Albert Dickson/The Sporting News.)

On the heels of the Carruth matter came news that Baltimore Ravens linebacker Ray Lewis was being charged with murder along with two friends in the January 31 stabbing death of two men during a brawl following a Super Bowl party outside a nightclub in Atlanta. The trial for Lewis, a three-time All-Pro, also began in spring 2000.

The NFL was shocked one more time when three-time Green Bay Pro Bowl tight end Mark Chmura was arrested and charged with sexually assaulting his 17-year-old baby sitter at an April 9, 2000, post-prom party thrown by a friend. If convicted, Chmura faced up to 10 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

SAD FAREWELLS

While reeling from its sudden image problem, the NFL lost three of its greatest ambassadors—two of whom died tragically within days of each other.

Walter Payton, the former Chicago Bears star they called Sweetness, died November 1 of cancer, the result of his fight with a rare liver condition. Payton, the consummate professional, retired in 1987 as the NFL's all-time leading rusher. Not only was Payton a hard-nosed, scratch-for-every-yard type running back, he was the hard-working, fun-loving role model who combined grace, power and speed in his rock-hard, 5-foot-11 frame.

Three months later, Kansas City linebacker Derrick Thomas and former Dallas coach Tom Landry died four days apart.

News that Thomas, 33, one of the league's most dominant defensive players of the 1990s, had been paralyzed from the chest down in a January 23 automobile accident was bad enough. But on February 8, when Thomas appeared to be in good spirits and ready to tackle a different kind of life, word swept the nation that he had died suddenly from a blood clot in his lung while rehabbing at a Miami hospital.

Chiefs fans went into mourning over their longtime star, who was known as much for his humanitarian efforts around the Kansas City area as his vicious assaults on quarterbacks. As a player, Thomas was the guy opposing offenses went to the greatest lengths to avoid. A 1989 first-round draft pick after an All-American career at Alabama, he played in nine consecutive Pro Bowls and recorded 126 1/2 career sacks, including an NFL-record seven in one memorable 1990 game against Seattle.

The accident occurred as Thomas and two friends were heading to St. Louis to watch the NFC championship game between the Rams and Buccaneers. Driving fast on snow-slickened roads en route to the Kansas City airport, Thomas turned over the vehicle and was thrown from the wreck. One friend was killed and the other, who was wearing a seatbelt, escaped unhurt.

As the football world was trying to recover from the death of Thomas, the 75-year-old

Landry died of leukemia on February 12. Known affectionately as the stoic man in the fedora, Landry had coached the Dallas Cowboys for 29 seasons and won 270 games (third on the all-time list), 13 division titles, five NFC championships and two Super Bowls.

Landry, who played defensive back for the Giants in the 1950s and later coached alongside the legendary Vince Lombardi when both were assistants in New York, will be remembered for the defensive genius he used to turn the expansion Cowboys into "America's Team." He introduced the flex defense featuring Randy White, Harvey Martin and Ed "Too Tall" Jones, reintroduced the shotgun offensive wrinkle to the NFL and he choreographed an efficient offense featuring quarterback Roger Staubach passing to Drew Pearson, Bob Hayes, Golden Richards and Billy Joe DuPree, and the running exploits of Hall of Famer Tony Dorsett.

He also will be remembered for the class and respect he brought to the field, and the Christian work he performed away from it.

HIGHLIGHTS

Hero of the week: Brett Favre guided the Packers 82 yards in 11 plays in the final 1:51—without a timeout—and found tight end Jeff Thomason for a touchdown to lead the Packers to a 28-24 win over Oakland. On the previous possession, Favre, who was playing with an injured right thumb, marched Green Bay 76 yards in eight plays and hit Corey Bradford on an eight-yard score to cut Oakland's lead to 24-21.

Goat of the week: The usually reliable Morten Andersen missed two fourth-quarter field goals in the Falcons' 17-14 loss to the Vikings. He missed from 35 yards out (wide right) and then 39 yards (wide left) with 3:38 left in the game. On attempts from 30-39 yards, Andersen was a combined 14-of-14 over the last two seasons.

Sub of the week: Rookie Andre Weathers, who was playing in the Giants' dime package only because veteran corners Jason Sehorn (hamstring) and Conrad Hamilton (knee) were sidelined, intercepted a pass from Tampa Bay quarterback Trent Dilfer and returned it eight yards for the go-ahead touchdown in New York's 17-13 win over the Bucs.

Comeback of the week: Dallas matched its biggest comeback ever by battling back from a 35-14 fourth-quarter deficit to beat the Redskins 41-35 in overtime. Troy Aikman connected with Rocket Ismail on a 76-yard touchdown for the game-winner. After Michael Irvin hauled in his second touchdown from Troy Aikman with 1:46 left in regulation, kicker Richie Cunningham's extra-point kick hit off the left upright before going through to force overtime. Washington had a chance to win on the last play of regulation, but holder Matt Turk fumbled the snap on what would have been a 41-yard field goal attempt by Brett Conway.

Blowout of the week: A pregame that included fireworks, a marching band and comedian Drew Carey leading the crowd in a "Cleveland rocks" chant wasn't enough to get the expansion Browns fired up in their home opener. The Steelers built a 20-0 halftime lead and cruised to a 43-0 win. Richard Huntley had three touchdowns to lead the Steelers, who led in time of possession by a whopping 47:49 to 12:11.

Nail-biter of the week: Al Del Greco kicked a 33-yard field goal with eight seconds left to give the Titans a 36-35 comeback win over the Bengals. Eddie George scored on a 17-yard swing pass with 4:30 left, and then the Titans moved 34 yards in seven plays to set up Del Greco's game-winner. Steve McNair finished with 341 yards and four touchdowns, including a 1-yard run.

Hit of the week: The Saints sacked Carolina quarterback Steve Beuerlein seven times, including one by Austin Robbins in the third quarter that forced a fumble that led to a go-ahead field goal. Carolina turned the ball over three times, including a fumble on the opening kickoff that the Saints returned for a touchdown. New Orleans' Fred Weary delivered a jarring hit to Michael Bates at the 22-yard line, and Tyronne Drakeford picked up the ball at the 20 and ran for the score.

Oddity of the week: Confusion among parking attendants prevented thousands of fans from seeing the Cowboys-Redskins overtime thriller. Traffic in the Jack Kent Cooke Stadium lot was tied up for hours, and many fans didn't even make it into the stadium. There were hundreds who still were trying to park at halftime. Thousands of fans left in overtime, hoping to avoid traffic. They were lucky—police said traffic was backed up three hours after the game.

Top rusher: In his NFL debut, running back Edgerrin James rushed for 112 yards on 26 carries in the Colts' 31-14 win over Buffalo. James also had a 1-yard touchdown run in the first quarter.

Top passer: Aikman passed for 362 yards and five touchdowns in the Cowboys' comeback win at Washington. It was the first five-touchdown performance of his 11-year NFL career.

Top receiver: Keyshawn Johnson had eight catches for 194 yards and a touchdown in the Jets' 30-28 loss to the Patriots.

Notes: Ricky Williams, the 1998 Heisman Trophy winner, gained 40 yards on 10 carries in his NFL debut against Carolina but re-injured the ankle that kept him out of the Saints' final three preseason games. ... The Jets suffered a severe blow when quarterback Vinny Testaverde ruptured his left Achilles' tendon in the second quarter of the team's opener against New England. Testaverde fell to the turf untouched after making a quick cut to the ball when Curtis Martin fumbled in the second quarter. Testaverde would miss the rest of the season. ... Arizona snapped a seven-game losing streak in season openers. ... Kurt Warner, a former Arena League quarterback, received the game ball after throwing for 316 yards and three touchdowns to lead the Rams to a 27-10 win over the Ravens in his first NFL start.

Quote of the week: Packers coach Ray Rhodes, on Favre's comeback. "The game came down to No. 4, two minutes, making plays. He's amazing. I thought it was a great drive; a picture-perfect drive."

Hero of the week: Second-year safety Lance Schulters picked off a Billy Joe Hobert pass and returned it 64 yards for a touchdown with 1:31 left to give San Francisco a 29-21 victory over the visiting New Orleans Saints. The 49ers, who were pounded at Jacksonville a week earlier, thus avoided their first 0-2 start since 1982.

Goat of the week: In his first return to Kansas City after signing as a free agent with the Broncos, cornerback Dale Carter got beat twice on deep patterns by Derrick Alexander (for gains of 30 and 49 yards) and nullified a 15-yard sack of Elvis Grbac when he was called for illegal contact on the Chiefs' last touchdown drive. Denver lost the game 26-10.

Sub of the week: Neil O'Donnell, filling in for an injured Steve McNair, completed 31-of-40 passes for 310 yards in the Titans' 26-9 win over Browns. He also threw a four-yard touchdown pass to Yancey Thigpen. McNair had reinjured his back during practice the previous Friday and underwent surgery hours before the game.

Comeback of the week: Adam Vinatieri's 26-yard field goal with 35 seconds left capped a 31-28 win for New England over the visiting Indianapolis Colts. Two Colts fumbles aided the Patriots, who trailed 28-7 at halftime. Tight end Marcus Pollard fumbled in the fourth quarter, and eight plays later Drew Bledsoe found Ben Coates for a touchdown to cut the lead to 28-21. The Patriots' Brandon Mitchell then recovered an Edgerrin James fumble at the Colts' 37 with 2:32 to play to set up Vinatieri's game-winner.

Blowout of the week: The Redskins dominated the first quarter in a 50-21 rout of the Giants. In the first 15 minutes Washington had more first downs (12) than the Giants did offensive plays (eight). Stephen Davis had three rushing touchdowns in the opening quarter and Brad Johnson completed all eight of his passes for 106 yards. Johnson finished the game 20-for-28 for 231 yards with three touchdowns and no interceptions. Davis racked up 126 yards on 23 carries.

Nail-biter of the week: Rookie Kris Brown kicked a 36-yard field goal as time expired to give the Steelers a 23-20 win over Baltimore. Ravens quarterback Stoney Case, who took over in the third quarter for Scott Mitchell, moved the Ravens 72 yards in six plays, tying the game on a 19-yard touchdown pass to Qadry Ismail. Will Blackwell returned the ensuing kickoff 37 yards to midfield and Kordell Stewart completed two passes to set up Brown's game-winner, the rookie's third field goal of the game.

Hit of the week: San Diego linebacker Junior Seau delivered a crushing blow, knocking Cincinnati quarterback Jeff Blake out of the game with a sprained shoulder with a second-quarter hit. Blake fumbled on the play and linebacker Gerald Dixon returned the ball 27 yards for a touchdown, a key play in San Diego's 34-7 win.

Oddity of the week: The 49ers-Saints game had some bizarre plays. The teams combined to botch two snaps on punts, a dropped pitch, and a trick play in which Saints holder Tommy Barnhardt lined up at quarterback. 49ers quarterback Steve Young completed a handoff lying on his back.

Top rusher: Dorsey Levens rushed 29 times for 153 yards in Green Bay's 22-15 loss to Detroit.

Top passer: Randall Cunningham threw for 364 yards and two touchdowns but also threw two interceptions in the Vikings' 22-17 loss to Oakland.

Top receiver: Derrick Mayes had seven catches for 137 yards, including a go-ahead 34-yard touchdown, in Seattle's 14-13 victory over the Bears.

Notes: The 50 points were the most the Giants allowed in New York since 1964, when the Browns won 52-20 at Yankee Stadium. ... Seattle coach Mike Holmgren earned his 11th straight coaching victory over the Bears, the other wins coming when he coached in the NFC Central with the Packers. ... Tampa Bay had nine sacks in a 19-5 win at Philadelphia, tying a franchise record set 20 years earlier. Warren Sapp had a career-high three sacks. ... Prior to beating Cincinnati, the Chargers had not won a road opener since their 1994 Super Bowl season.

Quote of the week: Sapp, on Eagles quarterback Donovan McNabb, who made his NFL debut in the second half when starter Doug Pederson sprained his right shoulder: "It's always special when you get a new quarterback. It's new meat, you know?"

Hero of the week: Tennessee cornerback Samari Rolle intercepted a pass from Jacksonville quarterback Mark Brunell in the end zone with 57 seconds left in the game, sealing the Titans' 20-19 win over their AFC Central Division rival. It was the first interception of Rolle's NFL career.

Goat of the week: Jets cornerback Ray Mickens was called for pass interference twice on an 80-yard drive by Washington that ended with a four-yard go-ahead touchdown run by Stephen Davis. The first penalty cost the Jets 35 yards when Mickens bumped wide receiver Michael Westbrook, and the second nullified a stop on third down when he held Albert Connell. The Redskins won the game, 27-20, behind three TD runs by Davis.

Sub of the week: Tight end Michael Roan, who was playing because starter Jackie Harris was injured, caught a 12-yard pass from Neil O'Donnell early in the fourth quarter for what proved to be the game-winning touchdown in the Titans' victory over Jacksonville. It was the first NFL touchdown for Roan, who caught just 33 passes in his first four seasons and just one in 1999 before the game-winner.

Comeback of the week: Brett Favre pulled off his 12th fourth-quarter comeback and second of the season when he hit Corey Bradford with a 23-yard touchdown pass with 12 seconds left to give the Packers a 23-20 win over the Vikings. Bradford's catch capped a 77-yard drive in which Favre completed six of seven passes. Favre, who finished 24-of-39 for 304 yards, collapsed onto a sideline bench shortly after throwing the final pass and had to be helped off the field by the Packers' medical staff.

Blowout of the week: Kurt Warner produced touchdowns on the Rams' first four possessions in a 35-7 rout of the Falcons. St. Louis opened the game with a 17-play, 80-yard drive that ended on a Robert Holcombe 1-yard touchdown run. Warner then threw touchdown passes to rookie Torry Holt (38 yards), Isaac Bruce (46) and Marshall Faulk (17). The Rams had the ball for all but 1:49 and three plays of the first quarter while outgaining the Falcons 131-3. They went into halftime up 28-0 after converting eight of nine third-down plays and outgaining Atlanta 311-67.

Nail-biter of the week: In a game that had 26 penalties for 206 yards, Tyrone Wheatley scored on an eight-yard run with 6:45 left as the Raiders beat the Bears, 24-17. Wheatley, making his first start for the Raiders, had eight carries for 41 yards, most of them on the game-winning drive. Chicago quarterback Shane Matthews connected with Curtis Enis for a 16-yard touchdown to give the Bears a 17-14 lead in the third quarter, but Oakland tied it early in the fourth on a 47-yard Michael Husted field goal.

Hit of the week: Redskins defensive end Kenard Lang had three of Washington's six sacks and forced a fumble that set up the game's final touchdown in a 27-20 win over the Jets.

Oddity of the week: Referee Phil Luckett, who was involved in separate controversies involving the Steelers and Seahawks in 1998, was chosen by the NFL as the referee for the Seattle-Pittsburgh game. Luckett made a disputed coin flip call in the Steelers' Thanksgiving Day game at Detroit in '98, and his crew awarded Vinny Testaverde a touchdown when the Jets quarterback clearly did not score in a one-point victory over Seattle later that season.

Top rusher: Tshimanga Biakabutuka rushed for 132 yards on only eight carries in Carolina's 27-3 victory over Cincinnati.

Top passer: Peyton Manning connected on 29-of-54 passes for 404 yards and two touchdowns and added a 12-yard run for a score in the Colts' 27-19 win over the Chargers.

Top receiver: Indianapolis' Marvin Harrison, who tied a franchise record with 13 catches, had a career-high 196 yards and a touchdown.

Notes: Manning joined Johnny Unitas as the only Colt with a 400-yard passing game. Unitas threw for 401 yards in a 1967 game against Atlanta. ... Biakabutuka was a one-man wrecking crew against Cincinnati. On the first play from scrimmage, he shed a few tackles and raced down the sideline for a 62-yard score. Later, he broke the club record for longest run from scrimmage with a 67-yard TD run. ... Buffalo receiver Andre Reed caught three passes against Philadelphia to bring his career total to 900. Reed is third on the NFL's career list behind Jerry Rice (1,146) and Art Monk (940). ... Carolina tight end Wesley Walls had one reception, giving him 177 with the Panthers and moving him past Mark Carrier atop the team's list for career receptions leaders. ... Prior to their 13-10 victory over Denver, the Bucs had never won a game against a defending Super Bowl champion, losing 10 consecutive times.

Quote of the week: Favre, on his winning TD pass: "Those touchdown passes. I've dreamed about them a million times since I was a kid. Of course, Corey Bradford wasn't in them."

Hero of the week: Shane Matthews and Curtis Conway hooked up for two touchdowns in the final two minutes to lead the Bears to a 14-10 win over Mike Ditka's Saints. Matthews completed seven-of-eight passes for 52 yards, including a 22-yard touchdown to Conway, on the drive that pulled the Bears within three with 1:57 to play. On the game's decisive drive, Matthews hit Conway for 14 yards on third-and-6 for a first down at the Saints' 36. Then, with 19 seconds left, Matthews found Conway again for 30 yards before he was pushed out at the 6. Instead of going for the tying field goal, Matthews hit Conway on a six-yard pass for the game-winning score.

Goat of the week: After Ravens receiver Patrick Johnson beat Atlanta cornerback Ray Buchanan for a 52-yard touchdown in the third quarter, Johnson began to taunt Buchanan, dancing around the fallen Falcons defender. Buchanan, incensed, responded by getting to his feet and body-slamming Johnson, followed by an open-handed punch to Johnson's back. Buchanan was ejected. His replacement, Ronnie Bradford, then allowed the game-winning touchdown in overtime when he was beaten on a 54-yard pass from Stoney Case to second-string receiver Justin Armour.

Sub of the week: Kerry Collins replaced Kent Graham in the third quarter, and while he didn't light up the scoreboard, he did manage to lead the Giants on a game-winning drive in the fourth quarter capped by a 23-yard field goal by Brad Daluiso. The Eagles took a 15-13 lead early in the fourth quarter, but Collins kept his poise and made some good throws in driving the Giants from their 27-yard line to the Eagles' 5 before settling for the field goal.

Comeback of the week: The Seahawks overcame a 21-9 deficit by scoring 13 straight points to beat the Raiders 22-21. Darryl Williams intercepted a Rich Gannon pass at the Seattle 25 and the Seahawks drove 48 yards. Todd Peterson kicked a 45-yard field goal that proved to be the game-winner with 10:07 left. The Seahawks had a 75-yard touchdown drive, capped by a Jon Kitna 21-yard touchdown pass to Derrick Mayes, to cut Oakland's lead to 21-16. Rookie Charlie Rogers had a 68-yard punt return to set up Peterson's second field goal, a 29-yarder with 1:58 left, making it 21-19 in the third quarter.

Blowout of the week: The Cowboys exploded out of the gate in their 35-7 victory over Arizona, avenging at least a little a 20-7 playoff loss the year before. George Teague intercepted Jake Plummer's first pass and returned it 32 yards for a touchdown. Dallas led 21-7 at the half and opened the second half with a 12-play, 73-yard drive that chewed up 7:01. Everyone got into the scoring act for the Cowboys. Michael Irvin hauled in an 18-yard touchdown after beating nemesis Aeneas Williams; Rocket Ismail scored from 63 yards; Emmitt Smith scored from the 1; and end Greg Ellis scooped up a Plummer fumble and went 98 yards for a score.

Nail-biter of the week: Washington's Brett Conway kicked a 31-yard field goal with six seconds left to lift the Redskins to a 38-36 win over Carolina. After the Panthers had taken a 36-35 lead on a Steve Beuerlein-to-Wesley Walls six-yard TD, Carolina's Brian Kinchen recovered a fumbled punt return by Brian Mitchell at Washington's 19. But officials reviewed the play and ruled Mitchell's knee was down before the fumble. The Redskins then began the game-winning drive that culminated in Conway's field goal.

Hit of the week: San Francisco linebacker Lee Woodall shot through a convoy of blockers to haul down Titans running back Eddie George, running wide on a pitch right, to stop a 2-point conversion that would have tied the game with 1:48 left. The 49ers held on for a 24-22 win.

Oddity of the week: Pittsburgh quarterback Kordell Stewart surrendered back-to-back safeties in the fourth quarter in the Steelers' 17-3 loss to Jacksonville. He fumbled out of the end zone for the first safety, then was sacked by Joel Sweenge with under a minute to play.

Top rusher: Carolina running back Tshimanga Biakabutuka had another big week. One week after rushing for 132 yards on eight carries, Biakabutuka rushed for 142 yards on 12 carries against the Redskins. He had 123 yards on five carries in the first period alone.

Top passer: Drew Bledsoe completed 28-of-42 passes for 389 yards to lead New England to a 19-7 win over the Browns.

Top receiver: Terry Glenn caught a club-record 13 passes for 214 yards and a touchdown in the Patriots' win.

Notes: With four touchdowns in St. Louis' 38-10 win at Cincinnati, Az-Zahir Hakim became the fourth Rams player to score four TDs in one game. Bob Shaw was the first to do it, in 1949; Elroy Hirsch did it in 1951 and Harold Jackson joined the club in 1973. ... The Chiefs had 13 holding penalties in their 21-14 loss to the Chargers. ... Glenn broke the Patriots club record of 12 receptions set by Ben Coates on November 27, 1994, vs. Indianapolis. ... Cleveland's Tim Couch and Kevin Johnson became the first pair of rookies in the 1990s to hook up for touchdowns three weeks in a row.

Quote of the week: Bengals cornerback Artrell Hawkins, on Rams quarterback Kurt Warner, who connected on 17-of-21 passes for 310 yards in St. Louis' 38-10 win: "We were hoping he wouldn't be as accurate as he was, but he's hot. For a guy who played Arena Football, he's a full-fledged NFL quarterback."

Hero of the week: Cincinnati rookie quarterback Akili Smith threw a two-yard touchdown pass to Carl Pickens with five seconds left to give the Bengals an 18-17 win over cross-state rival Cleveland. On the decisive drive, Smith, making his first NFL start, found Darnay Scott for a nine-yard gain on fourth-and-four from the Browns' 29. After a pass interference call gave the Bengals first-and-goal at the 2, Smith connected with Pickens on third-and-goal for the go-ahead score.

Goat of the week: Patriots kicker Adam Vinatieri hit the right upright on a 32-yard field-goal attempt with four seconds left, costing previously unbeaten New England a chance for a 5-0 start. The Chiefs held on for a 16-14 win.

Sub of the week: Erik Kramer didn't post great numbers (20-of-34 for 208 yards and one interception) filling in for the injured Jim Harbaugh, but he was good enough to lead the Chargers to a 20-10 win over Detroit. Kramer, a former Lion, completed four of five passes for 68 yards on an 11-play, 80-yard drive in the second quarter that resulted in the game-tying touchdown.

Comeback of the week: Trailing 17-9 in the third quarter, the Miami Dolphins rallied for 25 points in the fourth quarter to beat the Colts, 34-31. The Dolphins trailed, 31-27, with 1:22 to play when Dan Marino appeared to fumble. Referee Gerry Austin, however, reversed the on-field ruling after checking instant replay, giving Marino another chance. On fourth-and-10, the future Hall of Fame quarterback connected with Oronde Gadsden on a 48-yard completion to the Colts' 2-yard line. Two plays later, Gadsden pulled down a floater from Marino in the end zone with 27 seconds left.

Blowout of the week: While most of the Week 5 games were close, the San Francisco-St. Louis game was decidedly not. Before a sold-out crowd at the Trans World Dome, the Rams smoked the 49ers, 42-20. Kurt Warner had five touchdown passes, including four to Isaac Bruce, and finished 20-for-23 for 323 yards. The Rams took a 21-3 lead in the first quarter on three Warner-to-Bruce TD passes, including a 45-yarder. San Francisco closed to 28-20 in the third quarter, but Tony Horne responded by returning a kickoff 97 yards for a touchdown. Bruce finished the game with five receptions for 134 yards.

Nail-biter of the week: Mike Alstott capped a four-play, 65-yard drive to give Tampa Bay a 23-19 lead over the Packers with 1:45 left, but the Bucs didn't hold the lead for long. Actually, only 40 seconds. Brett Favre marched Green Bay down the field on the ensuing drive, completing a 42-yard fade to Bill Schroeder to move the Packers to the Bucs' 31. Four plays later, with 1:05 left on the clock, Favre found Antonio Freeman for a 21-yard go-ahead touchdown. Trent Dilfer had 55 seconds to mount a Tampa Bay comeback, but he was intercepted by Darren Sharper with 13 seconds left to seal the Packers' victory.

Hit of the week: With less than four minutes left and clinging to a 10-6 lead, the Cowboys tried to run the clock against Philadelphia. Dallas needed two yards for a first down to keep possession, but Emmitt Smith was stuffed on consecutive running plays. The Eagles ended up scoring the game-winning touchdown on their next drive.

Oddity of the week: Kicker Phil Dawson scored Cleveland's first rushing touchdown of the season. With the Browns trailing 6-0 early in the second quarter, Dawson lined up for a 21-yard field goal attempt against Cincinnati. Holder Chris Gardocki, however, took the snap and flipped it to Dawson, who ran four yards for the score.

Top rusher: Corey Dillon exploded for 168 yards on 28 carries in the Bengals' 18-17 win.

Top passer: Favre completed 22-of-40 passes for 390 yards and two touchdowns against the Bucs.

Top receiver: Bill Schroeder caught seven of Favre's passes for 158 yards.

Notes: Warner became the first quarterback in NFL history to throw at least three touchdown passes in each of his first four games of a season. ... The Rams ended a 17-game losing streak against the 49ers that stretched back to 1990. ... Tennessee set an NFL record for penalty yardage in a 14-11 win over Baltimore. The Titans were penalized 15 times for 212 yards. ... The Packers had two receivers top the 100-yard mark (Schroeder's 158 and Freeman's 152) in the same game for the first time in five years. ... Buffalo's Andre Reed had six catches for 68 yards against Pittsburgh to pass Art Monk and move into fifth place on the NFL's career yards receiving list with 12,742.

Quote of the week: Tampa Bay quarterback Dilfer, after Favre completed the 16th fourth-quarter comeback of his career: "We got Favred. I don't know what else you can say. He's the best."

Hero of the week: After missing earlier from 42 yards, John Carney hit two field goals in the game's final three minutes—the second as time expired—to give the Chargers a 13-10 win over Seattle and sole possession of first place in the AFC West.

Goat of the week: New Orleans quarterback Billy Joe Tolliver passed for 354 yards and two touchdowns, but his blunders late in the second half allowed the Titans to come from behind and beat the Saints 24-21. Interceptions by defensive tackle Jason Fisk and cornerback Donald Mitchell were the difference in the Saints' latest defeat.

Sub of the week: With the Dolphins down 7-0, backup quarterback Damon Huard was forced to replace ailing Dan Marino. Huard threw for a touchdown on his first pass, but the receiver was the Patriots' Ty Law, who returned it 27 yards for a New England touchdown. Huard, who had only six NFL completions before the game, bounced back, completing 24 of 42 passes for 240 yards and two touchdowns. His five-yard strike with 23 seconds remaining to fullback Stanley Pritchett capped an improbable 31-30 comeback victory.

Comeback of the week: Jeff George led the Vikings on a ferocious comeback, turning a 19-0 halftime deficit into a 23-22 lead with under two minutes left. But with seven seconds on the clock, Lions kicker Jason Hanson ended the drama with his league-best sixth field goal, putting the Lions ahead for good 25-23. The Vikings thought they had life when an apparent 43-yard, game-winning field goal by Hanson was wiped-out by a delay of game penalty. But Hanson's second attempt was also good.

Blowout of the week: The Rams remained the NFL's only unbeaten team (5-0), mauling the Falcons 41-13 on the strength of running back Marshall Faulk's 213 total yards. Even the defense and special teams put points on the board for St. Louis. End Grant Wistrom had a 92-yard interception return, and Tony Horne returned a kickoff 101 yards.

Nail-biter of the week: With under eight minutes remaining, the Giants' Tiki Barber returned a punt 85 yards for a touchdown, and a 10-3 New York lead. The Cowboys, however, answered with a two-yard touchdown run by Emmitt Smith. Overtime seemed inevitable, but Barber struck again, catching a 56-yard pass that set up Brad Daluiso's decisive 21-yard field goal. On the kickoff that followed, Dallas lateraled its way to an apparent game-winning touchdown. But the play—and win—was negated by an illegal forward pass.

Hit of the week: Despite losing on a last-minute touchdown, the Patriots' defense pounded Huard throughout the Miami-New England game. By the final buzzer the Pats had nine sacks, the most ever allowed by the Dolphins in a single game.

Oddity of the week: Backup quarterbacks invaded the NFL in Week 6, ousting starters for a multitude of reasons. The Jaguars' Jay Fiedler, the Redskins' Gus Frerotte, the Cardinals' Dave Brown, the Falcons' Tony Graziani and the Dolphins' Damon Huard all replaced injured incumbents. The Jets' Ray Lucas and the Vikings' Jeff George started as coaches' decisions.

Top rusher: Faulk had 181 rushing yards on 18 carries against Atlanta. Combined with his 32 yards receiving, he averaged more than a first down each time he touched the ball.

Top passer: Tolliver, in his first start for the injured Billy Joe Hobert, completed 28 of 45 passes for 354 yards. But it still wasn't enough to hold off the surging Titans, who overcame a second-half deficit for the fourth time this season.

Top receiver: Marcus Robinson caught four passes for 136 yards in the Bears' 20-16 loss against Philadelphia, including an 80-yard touchdown bomb from rookie Cade McNown.

Notes: Marino lasted only two offensive series before muscle spasms in his neck and shoulder forced him to the sideline, but he stayed in the game long enough to become the first 60,000-yard passer in NFL history. ... Miami's Olindo Mare kicked at least four field goals for the fourth consecutive game, an NFL first. ... The Rams scored 40 or more points in consecutive games for the first time since 1958. ... McNown completed 17 of 33 passes for 255 yards in his first start in place of injured Shane Matthews, but his Bears still lost 20-16. It was the first time the Eagles have ever won in Chicago, breaking a 60-year, 0-14 streak. ... The Broncos outgained the Packers 514-133 in their 31-10 victory at Mile High Stadium. ... Seattle failed to score a rushing touchdown for the fifth consecutive game. ... Rookie Champ Bailey intercepted three passes, including one for a touchdown, in the Redskins' 24-10 victory over the Cardinals. Bailey, 21, became the youngest player in history to intercept three passes in one game. ... The Colts' 16-13 win over the Jets marked the third fourth-quarter comeback in Peyton Manning's 21-game professional career.

Quote of the week: Saints coach Mike Ditka, on his team blowing a fourth-quarter lead for the fourth consecutive game: "They're trying. There's nothing wrong with their psyche. They're probably not very happy right now. I'm not very happy. If that was the problem, I'd get a hold of Sigmund Freud or somebody and we'd straighten that out."

Hero of the week: The Detroit defense was terrific in the Lions' 24-9 victory over Carolina. Twelve times the Panthers ran a play from the 5-yard line or closer, and 12 times they were stopped—or pushed backwards. Carolina's net yardage for those dozen plays was minus-30.

Goat of the week: Chargers quarterback Erik Kramer threw two ugly interceptions in four failed trips into the Packers' red zone in a 31-3 home loss. With his team trailing 14-3 but poised on the Packers' 10 with 11 seconds left in the first half, Kramer wasted five seconds on an incomplete pass, and then froze on the final play—getting tackled on the 7-yard line rather than taking a shot at the end zone or setting up a field goal. Kramer was pulled in favor of Jim Harbaugh after his third interception.

Sub of the week: The backup duo of Jeff George and Leroy Hoard combined for four touchdowns in the Vikings' 40-16 win over the 49ers. George started because of Randall Cunningham's ineffective play, and Hoard replaced Robert Smith, who was out with an injury.

Comeback of the week: Even with a sore wrist, Rich Gannon threw three touchdown passes in the final 16 minutes to lead the Raiders to a 24-23 win over the Jets. His five-yard toss to James Jett with 17 seconds remaining capped the comeback, in which Oakland overcame a 17-point second-half deficit.

Blowout of the week: George's three touchdown passes and Hoard's 105 yards rushing paced the Vikings in their blowout win over San Francisco. The 49ers were decimated by injuries, and replacement quarterback Jeff Garcia struggled in situations in which Steve Young usually thrives.

Nail-biter of the week: The Patriots, who had lost 11 straight games against Denver, nearly lost another before holding on for a 24-23 win. New England led, 24-13, after three quarters when Brian Griese made things interesting, driving the Broncos 85 yards in 12 plays before capping the drive with a seven-yard quarterback sneak. Griese then completed six passes in the next series, which ended with a 30-yard field goal by Jason Elam with 6:10 left. Pats cornerback Ty Law halted a third Broncos drive with a hard hit on Ed McCaffrey, setting the stage for Elam, whose 59-yard attempt with 1:37 left fell short.

Hit of the week: Steelers linebackers Earl Holmes and Levon Kirkland stopped Falcons running back Ken Oxendine on fourth-and-goal from the 2-yard line with under two minutes left, preserving a 13-9 Pittsburgh win on Monday night. The stand was especially meaningful because the 1974 Steelers team, known for its stingy defense, was honored at Three Rivers Stadium before the game.

Oddity of the week: The Patriots actually beat the Broncos, something that had not happened since September 29, 1980.

Top rusher: Marshall Faulk's toughest battle Sunday wasn't with the Browns' defense, but with the effects of food poisoning that kept him hospitalized the night before the game. Faulk fought through the flu-like symptoms and beat up the 0-7 Browns for 133 yards on 16 carries. He had one touchdown, and put the Rams in position for two more with runs to the 1-yard line.

Top passer: Gannon completed 26 passes in 51 tries for 352 yards and two touchdowns in Oakland's 24-23 win over the Jets.

Top receiver: Tim Brown caught 11 of Gannon's passes for a career-best 190 yards and scored one TD. Brown was the Raiders' go-to receiver all day, setting up the game-winning score with a 36-yard catch to the Jets' 5-yard line with 39 seconds remaining.

Notes: The Browns' only bright spot in a 34-3 trouncing by the Rams was a 40-yard run by Tim Couch, which broke a franchise record for the longest run by a quarterback. ... The crowd of 68,274 at San Diego's Qualcomm Stadium was the largest during the regular season in Chargers' history. ... Kansas City moved to 4-0 in Thursday night games with a 35-8 win against the Ravens. ... Jon Kitna completed 17 of 30 passes for 276 yards with no interceptions and Todd Peterson kicked four field goals in the Seahawks' 26-16 victory over Buffalo. ... For the first time in 19 years, the 49ers were riding a three-game losing streak. ... Kent Graham made a strong bid to keep the Giants' starting quarterback job, rushing for a touchdown and completing 19 of 29 passes for 239 yards in a 31-3 victory over New Orleans. ... Rookie kicker Martin "Automatica" Gramatica accounted for all six of the Buccaneers' points with two field goals, but it was enough to outscore the Bears' anemic offense, 6-3. ... NFL receptions leader Marvin Harrison caught eight passes for 156 yards in helping the Colts beat the Bengals 31-10.

Quote of the week: Dolphins linebacker Zach Thomas, on his team's 16-13 squeaker over the Eagles, the Dolphins' third straight win by less than three points: "My family doesn't have a history of going bald. But after all these close games, I'm afraid my hair is going to start thinning out. Our games will do it to you."

Hero of the week: Facing fourth-and-15 with under four minutes left and his team trailing Baltimore 10-6, Bills quarterback Doug Flutie got a first down the only way he could—running the ball himself. Then he found Jonathan Linton in the end zone for the game-winning touchdown with 1:36 left, capping Buffalo's 13-10 victory over the Ravens.

Goat of the week: The Bucs stuffed so many blunders into a single crucial sequence in their 20-3 loss to Detroit that it is difficult to decide exactly who's to blame. Late in the third quarter, with Tampa Bay trailing 17-3, Warrick Dunn took a handoff from quarterback Eric Zeier and seemed to sprint just far enough for a 12-yard score before sliding to a stop in the end zone. The Bucs tried to kick the point-after, but couldn't get their line set. Rather than take a timeout, Dungy chose to absorb a delay-of-game penalty. But before Tampa Bay could snap the ball, which would have protected the previous play from review, Lions coach Bobby Ross challenged the TD ruling. After the head official took another look, Dunn was ruled down at the 1-yard line. Despite the confusion and controversy, the Buccaneers were only a few feet from scoring a touchdown. But two plays later Alstott fumbled away the football and the Bucs never got close to the goal line again.

Sub of the week: Giants defensive tackle Christian Peter, who replaced the injured Robert Harris, slapped down a 33-yard field goal by Norm Johnson with 6:30 left in the game, keeping the Eagles from increasing their 17-10 lead. Then, after the Giants scored a touchdown to send the game into overtime, Peter deflected a pass from Doug Pederson, and the ball hung in the air until Michael Strahan could cradle it and return it 44 yards for a score, clinching New York's 23-17 win.

Comeback of the week: After spotting the Titans 21 first-quarter points with uncharacteristically sloppy play, the Rams made a run at preserving their perfect record. The defense did its part, and quarterback Kurt Warner hit Marshall Faulk for a 57-yard touchdown and Isaac Bruce for a 3-yard score in the third quarter. Trailing 24-14 in the fourth, the Rams marched the length of the field and Warner put his third TD on the board with 2:14 remaining. Lorenzo Styles recovered the onside kick that followed, and Warner got St. Louis down to the 20. But the Rams were out of timeouts, and Jeff Wilkins' 38-yard game-tying field goal attempt sailed wide right with 22 seconds left.

Blowout of the week: The Chiefs whipped the Chargers, 34-0, in what should have been a close battle between co-leaders in the AFC West. Instead, San Diego mustered just one first down and 28 yards in a first half that ended with Kansas City up 20-0. Reggie Tongue's seven-yard fumble return for a TD in the first period got the Chiefs off and rolling.

Nail-biter of the week: The Giants trailed the Eagles, 17-3, after three quarters before quarterback Kent Graham led New York on a 16-play, 83-yard scoring drive to cut the deficit to 17-10. Then, with the ball at the Philly 3-yard line on the Eagles' next possession, Duce Staley tried to take it up the middle to gain some breathing room, but free safety Brandon Sanders stood him up and defensive tackle Keith Hamilton ripped the ball free. Graham subsequently threw a seven-yard touchdown pass to Pete Mitchell to tie the game. New York's first overtime drive stalled quickly, but Peter's deflection and Strahan's TD run-back ended the game in dramatic fashion.

Hit of the week: Devastating hits paved the way in a second-half rally by the Colts, who scored on five consecutive possessions to turn a 17-6 deficit into a 34-24 win over Dallas. Jeff Burris blasted Troy Aikman on a corner blitz in the fourth quarter, with the helmet-to-helmet blow forcing Aikman out of the game. Earlier, defensive end Chad Bratzke sacked Aikman, forcing a fumble that led to a touchdown.

Oddity of the week: The Saints gave up a Hail Mary touchdown pass for the second straight week. One week after being burned by the Giants at the end of the first half, the Saints this time were burned at the end of the game, as Tim Couch and fellow rookie Kevin Johnson hooked up on a 56-yard score to give Browns their first win of the season, 21-16.

Top rusher: Ricky Williams rushed a team-record 40 times for 179 yards in the Saints' loss to the Browns.

Top passer: Kurt Warner completed 29 of 46 passes for 328 yards and three touchdowns in the Rams' loss at Tennessee.

Top receiver: Marcus Robinson caught nine passes for 161 yards and two touchdowns in the Bears' 48-22 loss at Washington.

Notes: Flutie upped his personal record against NFC Central teams to 7-0. ... Mike Holmgren's return to Green Bay was a successful one as the Seahawks pounded the Packers, 27-7, on Monday night. It was only the Packers' second loss in their last 35 games at Lambeau Field. ... Williams' rushing total after seven games—582 yards—was 125 yards more than last year's leading Saints rusher, Lamar Smith, had all season. ... Carl Pickens caught his 500th career pass in Cincinnati's 41-10 loss to Jacksonville. It was the 85th consecutive game in which Pickens caught at least one pass. ... The Raiders failed to score a touchdown for the first time since 1981 in their 16-9 loss to Miami. ... Patriots quarterback Drew Bledsoe tied his career high with four touchdown passes in New England's 27-3 romp over Arizona. His QB rating for the game was 146.8. ... The Redskins' top-rated offense had 376 total yards and 45 points before Chicago scored its first points.

Quote of the week: Panthers quarterback Steve Beuerlein, reflecting on a turnover-filled, 27-20 loss to the lowly Falcons, one week after a 15-point setback to the Lions: "We laid two eggs in a row. We better be worried. We better be concerned about the direction we're heading."

Hero of the week: Bryan Robinson blocked a 28-yard field goal attempt on the last play of the game to preserve Chicago's 14-13 victory over the Packers, the Bears' first win over Green Bay in 11 games and their first at Lambeau Field since 1992. Bears players, all wearing "No. 34" patches in rememberance of the great Walter Payton, who died six days earlier, stormed the field to celebrate the win.

Goat of the week: Ravens owner Art Modell, who chose not to return to the scene of the crime when his club visited Cleveland for the first time since Modell moved the then-Cleveland Browns to Baltimore in 1995. Browns fans, denied an opportunity to boo the despised Modell in person, were disappointed. But maybe not as disappointed as in the game itself, a 41-9 Ravens romp.

Sub of the week: Buccaneers quarterback Trent Dilfer, starting in place of the ailing and ineffective Eric Zeier, threw three touchdowns—including a 62-yarder to Jacquez Green in the first quarter—to lead Tampa Bay to a 31-16 win over New Orleans. The Saints lost their league-high seventh straight game.

Comeback of the week: Trailing 7-3 at halftime, the Jets scored nine unanswered points to beat the Cardinals 12-7. Curtis Martin spearheaded the New York attack, carrying the ball seven times for 36 yards on a drive that ended on a 33-yard John Hall field goal in the third period. Midway through the fourth quarter, Keyshawn Johnson broke away from linebacker Rob Fredrickson to catch a slant pass from Rick Mirer to score the game-winning points from 43 yards out.

Blowout of the week: The Ravens-Browns game was never close. Errict Rhett rushed 17 times for 117 yards and two touchdowns to complement a Baltimore defense which sacked Tim Couch four times and held him to 57 passing yards. The beleaguered Couch was benched after three quarters.

Nail-biter of the week: Trailing 27-24 with 1:17 left and facing fourth-and-26 at their own 21-yard line, the Lions stunned the Rams when Gus Frerotte and Germane Crowell hooked up for a 57-yard completion to the St. Louis 22, setting up Frerotte's game-winning 12-yard touchdown pass to Johnnie Morton three plays later. The Lions' final touchdown marked the seventh lead change in a see-saw game.

Hit of the week: Kevin Hardy, Carnell Lake and Brant Boyer each had two sacks as Jacksonville racked up a team-record nine sacks in a 30-7 victory over Atlanta.

Oddity of the week: Ronde Barber tried to disguise a short-hopped interception in the Buccaneers' end zone by quickly getting up and continuing the play, but his subterfuge didn't fool Saints coach Mike Ditka, who saw the ball bounce on a stadium replay and challenged the interception call. Inexplicably, the ruling was upheld. Officials later explained that the 90 seconds allowed for a review wasn't enough to discover the error, and by the time anyone in the replay booth saw the crucial end zone angle of the play, it was too late to overturn.

Top rusher: Charlie Garner carried the ball 20 times for a career-high 166 yards, but the injury-riddled 49ers couldn't score a touchdown and lost, 27-6, to the Steelers.

Top passer: Kurt Warner completed 25 of 42 passes for 305 yards and three touchdowns in the Rams' loss at Detroit.

Top receiver: Crowell caught eight passes for 163 yards and one touchdown in the Lions' win.

Notes: The Ravens set team records for the most points scored and fewest points allowed in their win over the Browns. ... Brett Favre started his 117th consecutive game for the Packers, breaking the record for consecutive quarterback starts held by Ron Jaworski, who started 116 for the Eagles from 1977-84. ... Fredrickson was credited with 22 tackles in the Cardinals' loss to the Jets, a modern-era single-game club record. ... The Panthers defense forced five turnovers that were converted into 20 points in their 33-7 victory over the Eagles. ... .Although eight different San Francisco players caught passes against Pittsburgh, Jerry Rice caught only two, for two yards. ... Curtis Martin set a Jets record with 38 carries (131 yards). ... Peyton Manning threw a touchdown pass in his 21st straight game. ... The Bills scored on five of their first six possessions in their 34-17 win at Washington. ... Emmitt Smith moved into third place on the NFL's all-time rushing list (behind Walter Payton and Barry Sanders) with a 140-yard performance in a 27-17 loss at Minnesota on Monday night. Smith also made history by scoring two touchdowns in an 18-second span of the second quarter, the fastest any player has scored two touchdowns in NFL history.

Quote of the week: The Bears' Robinson, on his game-saving field goal block: "I think Walter Payton picked me up because I can't jump that high. I just got my hand on that leather, and it felt so good ... It's for you, Walter."

Hero of the week: Rookie Tim Couch completed 18 of 28 passes for 199 yards and two touchdowns and then led his team on a five-play, 58-yard drive to set up Phil Dawson's 39-yard game-winning field goal with no time left as Cleveland upset Pittsburgh 16-15. The victory was especially notable because it avenged a 43-0 rout the Browns suffered at the hands of the Steelers in Cleveland in Week 1.

Goat of the week: Bears kicker Chris Boniol barely missed a 41-yard field goal in overtime against the Vikings, but miss it he did, costing his team the game. The Vikings won, 27-24, when Gary Anderson hit a 38-yard field goal on Minnesota's next possession.

Sub of the week: Jets quarterback Ray Lucas, subbing for Rick Mirer, completed 18-of-31 passes for 153 yards in his second NFL start in leading New York to a 24-17 win at New England on Monday night. Lucas' supporting cast of running back Curtis Martin, tight end Wayne Chrebet and wide receiver Keyshawn Johnson helped to take some of the pressure off him with their solid play.

Comeback of the week: The Packers trailed at Dallas, 20-3, with 10:40 left when Brett Favre threw a 28-yard touchdown pass to Antonio Freeman and then directed another drive that resulted in a 31-yard field goal by Ryan Longwell, trimming the Cowboys' lead to 20-13 with under two minutes left. The Packers then recovered the onside kick and Favre drove the team to the Dallas 25 with 21 seconds remaining. George Teague ended the Green Bay march by picking off a Favre pass and returning it 95 yards for a touchdown, clinching a 27-13 Cowboys win.

Blowout of the week: A rested Raiders team coming off its bye week had no trouble with the Chargers, winning 28-9 and outgaining San Diego 417 total yards to 225. Veteran quarterback Rich Gannon, who used the week off to get healthy, served up short strikes all over the field, completing 18 of 24 passes for 254 yards and four touchdowns.

Nail-biter of the week: Anderson was set to kick a 20-yard field goal on the last play of regulation and hand the Vikings their sixth win. Instead, he sent the ball a mile wide of the upright because holder Mitch Berger couldn't cleanly handle the snap. The Vikings won the toss in overtime, but Walt Harris picked off a Jeff George pass on Minnesota's first play, giving Chicago possession at the Vikings 29. After three plays, it was the Bears' chance to try a game-winning field goal. But Boniol, given a chance to redeem his lackluster season with one kick, missed from 41 yards out, and the Vikings had another chance. George got a 22-yard gift when Bears cornerback Terry Cousins was called for pass interference on Cris Carter, setting up Anderson for a second field goal attempt to end the game. This time Anderson didn't miss, putting a 38-yarder between the posts to give the Vikings the victory.

Hit of the week: The Jaguars led Baltimore, 6-3, when defensive end Gary Walker broke through the Ravens' line, drilling quarterback Tony Banks on fourth-and-three on the final play of the game to preserve the Jacksonville win. The Jaguars, playing without running back Fred Taylor, relied on their formidable defense to keep the score low and make plays. Walker did.

Oddity of the week: When Cardinals running back Michael Pittman's fourth-quarter fumble was returned 35 yards by Detroit's Terry Fair for a touchdown with 5:26 left in the game, Arizona was on the ropes. Fair's touchdown cut the Cardinals' lead to 23-19, and it appeared likely that the Lions would reduce the deficit to three points on the ensuing PAT. Coach Bobby Ross, however, eschewed the point-after, opting instead for a two-point try. The Lions failed to convert, and Ross' decision was severely second-guessed after the Lions drove into field goal range with seconds to play but were forced to go for a touchdown because they trailed by four points. The Lions' final possession ended with three straight incompletions at the Arizona 10-yard line.

Top rusher: Pittman, in his first professional start, carried the ball 23 times for 133 yards and a TD.

Top passer: Jim Miller completed 34-of-48 passes for 442 yards and three touchdowns in the Bears' overtime loss to Minnesota.

Top receiver: Randy Moss caught a season-high 12 passes for 204 yards for the Vikings against Chicago.

Notes: The Saints had lost 14 of 16 games to San Francisco prior to their 24-6 victory. ... In Buffalo's 23-3 win over Miami, Steve Christie became the 16th player in NFL history to kick 200 field goals with one team. He had three against the Dolphins. ... Chiefs safety Reggie Tongue forced three fumbles and his team caused six turnovers, but Kansas City still lost to the Buccaneers, 17-10. ... The Rams' sixth consecutive home win, 35-10 over Carolina, was the team's longest home winning streak since the 1984-85 season. ... The Jaguars had four sacks against the Ravens to increase their league leading total to 39. ... Joey Galloway's returned from a contract holdout to catch four passes for 88 yards in Seattle's 20-17 win over Denver. ... San Diego was riding a four-game losing streak, outscored by a combined score of 126-29. ... Redskins quarterback Brad Johnson threw a career-high three interceptions and fumbled twice in Washington's 35-28 loss at Philadelphia. ... Miller became the first Bears quarterback to throw for 400 yards since Bill Wade threw for 466 yards in 1962.

Quote of the week: Cleveland defensive tackle John Jurkovic, on the Browns' upset of the Steelers and the damage it did to Pittsburgh's playoff hopes: "This had to tear the living hearts out of the Pittsburgh Steelers. Too bad for them."

Hero of the week: Bucs cornerback Donnie Abraham intercepted two fourth-quarter passes, returning one 47 yards for a TD in the final minute to seal Tampa Bay's 19-10 win over the Falcons.

Goat of the week: San Francisco receiver Jerry Rice caught three passes for only 23 yards in the 49ers' 23-7 loss to St. Louis. He also dropped two others, helping the Rams complete their first season sweep over San Francisco since 1980.

Sub of the week: Reserve defensive lineman Eric Ogbogu recovered a fumble by Bills quarterback Doug Flutie in the end zone, giving the Jets a 14-0 second-quarter lead. The Jets went on to a 17-7 victory, their third in a row.

Comeback of the week: Baltimore trailed Cincinnati 14-0 in the first quarter and 14-10 at halftime before storming back to win 34-31. With the score tied at 31, Tony Banks completed 6-of-8 passes to get the Ravens in position for the victory. Matt Stover kicked a 50-yard field goal as time ran out to complete the comeback.

Blowout of the week: Indianapolis routed Philadelphia, 44-17, after building a 17-0 lead after the first quarter and a 30-3 lead at halftime. Peyton Manning threw for 235 yards and three touchdowns in three quarters, and rookie Edgerrin James rushed for 152 yards and two touchdowns.

Nail-biter of the week: The Chargers trailed, 20-17, with less than two minutes remaining when quarterback Jim Harbaugh drove them 67 yards in nine plays. With one second left, John Carney kicked a 28-yarder to send the game to overtime. Nearly five minutes into overtime, Chris Boniol kicked a 36-yarder to give the Bears a 23-20 victory. A week earlier Boniol had missed a 41-yard field goal that would have beaten Minnesota in overtime.

Hit of the week: Denver's Trevor Pryce sacked Oakland's Rich Gannon, forcing a fumble that Pryce recovered at the Oakland 24, setting up a 24-yard touchdown run by Olandis Gary with 12:20 left in overtime. The touchdown gave the Broncos a 27-21 Monday night victory.

Oddity of the week: Perennial Pro Bowl linebacker Junior Seau lined up as a tight end on San Diego's first drive and caught his first NFL pass, a 2-yarder. Even though he was drilled by Chicago linebacker Rico McDonald on the play, Seau nonetheless got up and spiked the ball.

Top rusher: Stephen Davis rushed for a career-high 183 yards and a touchdown on 33 carries to help Washington beat the Giants, 23-13. Davis' big day gave him his first career 1,000-yard season.

Top passer: Jim Miller was 25-of-38 for 357 yards and a touchdown in the Bears' 23-20 overtime victory against San Diego.

Top receiver: Jimmy Smith caught nine passes for 220 yards and scored one touchdown in the Jaguars' 41-23 win over the Falcons.

Notes: Redskins defensive end Marco Coleman had a big day, first knocking Giants quarterback Kent Graham from the game on a second-quarter sack, and later grabbing a fumble by Graham's replacement, Kerry Collins, and running 42 yards for a touchdown in a 23-13 Redskins win. . . . When Saints quarterback Billy Joe Tolliver scored on a 1-yard sneak in the first quarter, it was the first touchdown the Jaguars had given up in the opening quarter all season. . . . Saints safety Willie Clay's interception against Jacksonville was the first time quarterback Mark Brunell had a pass picked off in 148 attempts. . . . Rookie Martin Gramatica kicked field goals of 24, 26, 50 and 53 yards in Tampa Bay's win over Atlanta. . . . Tackle Eric Swann, coming off reconstructive knee surgery, had both of the Cardinals' sacks against Dallas. . . . Terrell Owens (120 yards) became the 49ers' first 100-yard receiver in '99. . . . Miami's Olindo Mare kicked two field goals against New England, giving him 20 consecutive games with at least one field goal. The streak tied Garo Yepremian's team record. . . . Tennessee won its fourth straight game against the Steelers, a franchise first. . . . Panthers quarterback Steve Beuerlein threw the 100th touchdown pass of his career in the third quarter of Carolina's 31-17 victory over Cleveland. . . . When Eric Warfield intercepted a Jon Kitna pass in the first quarter, it marked the ninth consecutive game in which the Chiefs intercepted a pass. . . . Jets kicker John Hall lined up for a 54-yard field goal, then took a direct snap and punted the ball 34 yards against the Bills. . . . Green Bay won its ninth game in a row against Detroit at Lambeau Field. . . . Tampa Bay's Karl Williams became the NFL's all-time leader in punt return average (13.6 yards) in the second quarter against Atlanta, passing Darrien Gordon. Although the return was for just one yard, it was the 75th of Williams' career, the number it takes to qualify for the all-time rankings.

Quote of the week: Outside linebacker Jamir Miller was not happy after Cleveland's loss to Carolina despite leading the Browns with 11 tackles: "Missed tackles? Yeah, that (ticks) me off," he said. "That's a lack of concentration. That's want-to. You've got to have want-to to make tackles. We weren't truly ready to play."

Hero of the week: Cincinnati cornerback Rodney Heath intercepted two passes—returning one 58 yards for a touchdown and returning the other nine yards to set up another TD—in the Bengals' 27-20 win over the Steelers. Heath also broke up a fourth-and-6 pass in the final minute to preserve the victory.

Goat of the week: Miami quarterback Dan Marino, playing at Dallas on Thanksgiving Day in his first start in more than a month because of a pinched nerve in his neck, completed just 15-of-36 passes for 178 yards and threw five interceptions in a 20-0 nationally televised loss to the Cowboys. It was the most interceptions Marino threw in a game since 1988.

Sub of the week: Jake Plummer replaced Dave Brown at quarterback for the Cardinals in the second half against the Giants and threw two touchdown passes to lead Arizona to a 34-24 victory. Plummer began the season as the team's starting quarterback, but he had missed the previous four weeks because of a broken finger.

Comeback of the week: Kansas City trailed Oakland, 34-20, early in the fourth quarter before the Chiefs rallied to tie the score and then take the lead with a game-winning drive in the final three minutes. Quarterback Elvis Grbac drove the Chiefs to the Raiders' 27-yard line, setting up a 44-yard field goal by Pete Stoyanovich as time expired to give his team a 37-34 victory.

Blowout of the week: New Orleans trailed St. Louis by just three points late in the third quarter, but the Rams scored 28 points in the game's last 19 minutes to cruise to a 43-12 victory. St. Louis quarterback Kurt Warner was 10-for-12 for 153 yards in the second half with an amazing 146.5 passer rating.

Nail-biter of the week: The Redskins began the fourth quarter with a 17-3 lead over Philadelphia before the Eagles rallied for two 91-yard touchdown drives to tie the score. Then, Washington's Brett Conway missed a 28-yard field goal attempt as time expired, forcing overtime. Luckily for Conway, he got a chance to redeem himself by kicking a 27-yarder in overtime to give the Redskins a 20-17 victory.

Hit of the week: The Falcons rallied from a 34-14 deficit to pull within six points of the Panthers, and then got the ball at the Carolina 20-yard line with 2:59 left when Travis Hall recovered a fumble. But Kevin Greene sacked Atlanta quarterback Chris Chandler and knocked the ball loose, and Carolina's Esera Tuaolo pounced on it to end the threat.

Oddity of the week: New Orleans' Willie Whitehead became the first player to be fined by the NFL for using the forbidden throat slash gesture. Whitehead made the gesture after sacking Warner in the first quarter of the Rams' 43-12 rout. Just a few days before the game, the NFL sent a letter to all 31 teams banning the drawing of a finger across the throat, calling it "an unacceptable act of violence." Whitehead was fined $5,000 for the incident.

Top rusher: Corey Dillon carried 23 times for 120 yards in the Bengals' 27-20 victory over the Steelers.

Top passer: Jim Harbaugh was 25-of-39 for 404 yards and one touchdown in the Chargers' 35-27 loss to the Vikings.

Top receiver: Jeff Graham contributed to Harbaugh's big game by catching six passes for 141 yards in San Diego's loss to Minnesota.

Notes: Atlanta kicker Morten Andersen scored for the 248th consecutive game, extending his NFL record. ... The Rams won their sixth division game in a season for the first time. The NFL went to the division format in 1967. ... Jimmy Smith (132 yards) and Keenan McCardell (102) became the first wide receivers to post 100-yard games against Baltimore in 1999. ... The Cardinals' victory was only their second in 16 games at Giants Stadium. ... Curtis Martin went over the 1,000-yard rushing mark for the fifth consecutive season. He joined Barry Sanders, Eric Dickerson and Tony Dorsett as the only players to do it their first five years in the league. ... After their 37-34 victory over the Raiders, the Chiefs owned a winning record against every original AFL team. ... Tampa Bay won for the first time in five meetings against Seattle. Both teams joined the league in 1976. ... Seattle's Joey Galloway had one catch for 18 yards, giving him at least one catch in each of his first 66 NFL games. ... Titans guard Bruce Matthews played in his 259th game, tying Jackie Slater for the most games played by an NFL offensive lineman.

Quote of the week: After the Rams routed the Saints, a New Orleans reporter asked coach Mike Ditka if he still was the right man for the job. Ditka, without raising his voice, said, "I don't know. Did I do anything wrong out there? What did I do wrong? Did I drop a ball? Did I miss the field goal? Did I miss the tackles? I'm not sure. Did I throw the interception? I'm not sure what you're asking. If you're asking me because things are going bad if I don't think I'm the right guy for the job, yeah, I think I'm the right guy for this job. Was I the right guy for the job when we drove down there with seven minutes to go in the third quarter, and we could have tied it up, 15-15? There's the answer to your question. Players play football."

Hero of the week: Falcons defensive back Ray Buchanan, penalized nine times in the first 11 games of the season, jokingly presented the officials with roses before the game against New Orleans. It must have worked, because he intercepted two passes (returning one 52 yards for a touchdown), made six tackles and broke up three passes in Atlanta's 35-12 win over the Saints.

Goat of the week: Ricky Watters rushed for only 51 yards on 14 carries and fumbled twice in Seattle's 30-21 loss to Oakland. Both fumbles gave the Raiders good field position, and they helped Oakland hold off a Seahawks rally that pulled them to within three points in the third quarter.

Sub of the week: One day after being signed to replace injured kick returner Terry Fair, Detroit's Desmond Howard showed why he's such a valuable player. With the Lions and Redskins tied 10-10 in the second quarter, he returned a punt 68 yards for a touchdown that pushed the Lions ahead for good. Detroit went on to win, 33-17.

Comeback of the week: Philadelphia led Arizona, 17-7, late in the fourth quarter before quarterback Jake Plummer rallied the Cardinals to two touchdowns in the final five minutes for a 21-17 win. For the first touchdown, Plummer drove his team 80 yards in 16 plays and threw a 3-yard touchdown pass to David Boston with 4:31 remaining. A few minutes later, Frank Sanders' diving catch of Plummer's 38-yard pass just inches from the goal line set up the second touchdown—a 1-yard sneak by Plummer with 57 seconds left.

Blowout of the week: The Ravens, who had struggled offensively all season, shocked the Tennessee Titans 41-14 at PSINet Stadium in Baltimore. Quarterback Tony Banks had a career day, throwing for 332 yards and four touchdowns. Baltimore's defense sacked elusive Titans quarterback Steve McNair five times. The Ravens outscored Tennessee 24-0 in the second half.

Nail-biter of the week: The Colts never trailed and led by as many as 14 points before quarterback Dan Marino and the Dolphins clawed back to tie the score 34-34 with just 36 seconds remaining. With the game seemingly headed for overtime, quarterback Peyton Manning drove the Colts 33 yards in 30 seconds to set up Mike Vanderjagt's 53-yard field goal attempt. Vanderjagt's kick was good, giving the Colts a 37-34 victory.

Hit of the week: In the fourth quarter of Detroit's win over Washington, Lions tackle James Jones slammed into Redskins quarterback Brad Johnson, forcing a fumble that Luther Elliss returned 11 yards for a touchdown. The score secured the Lions' victory and briefly moved them into sole possession of first place in the NFC Central.

Oddity of the week: Washington receiver Michael Westbrook accused an NFL official of nepotism after the Redskins were called for a season-high 14 penalties in their loss to the Lions. Westbrook pointed out that the line judge for the game, Byron Boston, was the father of Arizona rookie receiver David Boston. Arizona and Washington were fighting for a playoff spot in the NFC East. Westbrook said Byron Boston called two penalties against Redskins right tackle Jon Jansen that weren't evident on the game film.

Top rusher: James Stewart ran for 145 yards and one touchdown in leading Jacksonville to a 20-6 victory over Pittsburgh.

Top passer: San Francisco's Jeff Garcia completed 33-of-49 passes for 437 yards in the 49ers' 44-30 loss to the Bengals.

Top receiver: Amani Toomer caught six passes for 181 yards and three touchdowns in the Giants' 41-28 victory over the Jets.

Notes: Emmitt Smith hit the 1,000-yard rushing mark for the ninth time in as many seasons. Only Barry Sanders (10) had more successive 1,000-yard seasons. ... Kerry Collins became the first Giants quarterback to have a 300-yard game since Phil Simms in 1993. ... Kwamie Lassiter's 78-yard interception return for a touchdown was the Cardinals' longest interception return since 1979. ... Tim Brown became the fourth player in NFL history to record seven consecutive 1,000-yard receiving seasons. San Francisco's Jerry Rice had 11 from 1986-96. San Diego's Lance Alworth had seven from 1963-69. Minnesota's Cris Carter had seven from 1993-99. ... Tennessee guard Bruce Matthews played his 260th NFL game, breaking the record he shared with former Rams great Jackie Slater. ... The Lions' 33-17 victory ended the Redskins' streak of 16 consecutive victories (18 overall) in the series, dating to 1965.

Quote of the week: Packers rookie running back De'Mond Parker, making his first start because Dorsey Levens was sidelined with cracked ribs, endured howling wind, cold rain and snow at Chicago's Soldier Field to rush for 113 yards and two fourth-quarter touchdowns in Green Bay's 35-19 victory over the Bears: "I didn't have butterflies. I was just cold."

Hero of the week: Veteran Cary Blanchard kicked four field goals, including the game-winner from 48 yards with 40 seconds left, in the Giants' 19-17 victory over Buffalo. Blanchard, signed after Brad Daluiso was lost for the season in Week 6, was responsible for more than half of New York's points.

Goat of the week: Seattle kicker Todd Peterson missed three fourth-quarter field goals, including one with 1:15 remaining, as San Diego held on to beat the Seahawks, 19-16. Peterson, usually reliable, made his first three attempts of the game and set a franchise record when he made his 16th consecutive field goal. But then he was short on attempts from 48 and 52 yards before his final miss, a 38-yarder that hit the left upright.

Sub of the week: When Jacksonville running back James Stewart sprained his foot in the third quarter against Denver, Fred Taylor came to the rescue. Taylor, who began the season as the Jaguars' starting running back, rushed for 74 yards on nine carries, including a 38-yard touchdown run with 2:35 remaining. Taylor had not played since Week 10 because of a lingering hamstring injury.

Comeback of the week: Jacksonville trailed Denver, 14-0, in the second quarter before reeling off 17 unanswered points to take a 17-14 halftime lead. The Jaguars escaped with a 27-24 victory thanks to two rushing TDs by Stewart and one by Taylor.

Blowout of the week: The Redskins held a players-only meeting on the Saturday night before the game to re-affirm their commitment during the team's stretch run. It worked, because they pummeled Arizona, 28-3, the following afternoon. Running back Stephen Davis rushed for career highs of 189 yards on 37 carries, and quarterback Brad Johnson passed for 191 yards and two touchdowns.

Nail-biter of the week: Carolina rushed for only 13 yards against the Packers, but it was the final five yards that mattered most. With the Panthers trailing 31-27 late in the fourth quarter at Lambeau Field, Steve Beuerlein led his team on a 63-yard drive. He capped it off with a five-yard quarterback draw with no time remaining, giving Carolina a 33-31 victory.

Hit of the week: Chiefs linebacker Derrick Thomas sacked Minnesota's Jeff George with 8:01 remaining, forcing a fumble that was picked up by defensive end Eric Hicks and returned 44 yards for a touchdown. The touchdown ended the Vikings' 21-point rally and gave the Chiefs' a 28-21 lead. Kansas City went on to win the game, 31-28, on Pete Stoyanovich's 38-yard field goal with three seconds remaining.

Oddity of the week: The Jets' John Hall missed two extra points against Miami. It was the first time an NFL kicker botched two extra points in the same game since Kansas City's Lin Elliott did so in 1995. Despite Hall's misses, the Jets beat Miami, 28-20.

Top rusher: Tennessee's Eddie George carried 28 times for 199 yards and two touchdowns in the Titans' 21-14 victory over Oakland.

Top passer: Drew Bledsoe completed 31-of-44 passes for 379 yards and one touchdown in New England's 20-15 loss to the Colts.

Top receiver: Qadry Ismail caught six passes for 258 yards, including three touchdowns, in the Ravens' 31-24 victory over Pittsburgh.

Notes: Olindo Mare's field goals of 24 and 33 yards against the Jets gave him 33 field goals for the season, setting a new Dolphins franchise record. The old record was held by Pete Stoyanovich. ... Troy Aikman's touchdown pass to tight end David LaFleur was the 153rd of his career, tying him with Roger Staubach for second place (behind Danny White, with 155) on the Cowboys' career list. ... The Ravens' 31-24 victory over the Steelers was the first for a Baltimore team in Pittsburgh since 1968. ... Eddie George passed the 5,000-yard mark in career rushing, making him only the ninth NFL player to reach that plateau in his first four seasons. ... The Bengals' 44-28 win over the Browns marked their final game at Cinergy Field. The Bengals were 133-101, including playoffs, in 20 years at the stadium. They will move a few blocks away to Paul Brown Stadium in 2000. ... With 75 rushing yards, Seattle's Ricky Watters went over the 1,000-yard mark for the fifth consecutive season. ... When Tampa Bay defensive lineman Brad Culpepper sacked Detroit quarterback Gus Frerotte for a safety, it was the Buccaneers' first safety since 1989. ... The 49ers held the ball for 40 minutes, 43 seconds compared to the Falcons' 19 minutes, 17 seconds. Not surprisingly, San Francisco routed Atlanta, 26-7. ... Washington quarterback Brad Johnson's two touchdown passes gave him a career-high 21. ... Buffalo's Andre Reed became the fifth player in NFL history with more than 13,000 career receiving yards. ... Indianapolis' Peyton Manning became the third quarterback in league history to pass for 7,000 yards in his first two seasons, joining Drew Bledsoe and Dan Marino. ... Brett Favre's 25th 300-yard passing game pushed him over 30,000-yard mark in career passing yardage. He became the 23rd NFL quarterback to hit the 30,000-yard level.

Quote of the week: Redskins guard Tre Johnson, following his team's 28-3 blowout victory over Arizona, stressed the importance of continuing to grind it out the rest of the season: "I don't want to kill it for the kids, but Santa Claus is not going to bring us the playoffs. We got to go out there and snatch it. We got to go out there, put the mask on and go rob."

Hero of the week: Carolina quarterback Steve Beuerlein had one of the best games of his career, completing 27-of-38 passes for 368 yards, four touchdowns and no interceptions. He helped the Panthers score at least 30 points for the seventh time this season as they beat San Francisco, 41-24.

Goat of the week: Patriots quarterback Drew Bledsoe threw four interceptions and no TDs against the Eagles. He also was sacked six times as New England lost to Philadelphia, 24-9. Bledsoe increased his interception total to 15 in his last six games.

Sub of the week: Eagles quarterback Koy Detmer, filling in for injured starter Donovan McNabb and backup Doug Pederson, threw a career-high three touchdown passes in the victory over New England. Detmer completed 10-of-29 passes for 181 yards, and his TD passes covered 50, 44 and 11 yards.

Comeback of the week: Dallas led the Jets, 21-13, early in the third quarter, but quarterback Ray Lucas led New York on a 62-yard scoring drive a few minutes later. The Jets' two-point conversion failed, and they trailed 21-19 until late in the fourth quarter. With 1:39 remaining, John Hall booted a 37-yard field goal to give the Jets a 22-21 victory.

Blowout of the week: Oakland shocked Tampa Bay, 45-0, handing the Bucs their worst loss ever. It also was the Raiders' biggest margin of victory since they joined the NFL in 1970. The Buccaneers' vaunted defense allowed 400 total yards, and the offense, led by rookie quarterback Shaun King, never came close to scoring. Oakland running backs Napoleon Kaufman and Tyrone Wheatley both rushed for more than 100 yards. Meanwhile, Tampa Bay's Warrick Dunn and Mike Alstott managed only 17 yards combined.

Nail-biter of the week: Miami's Olindo Mare and San Diego's John Carney both made their first three field goal attempts on Sunday. But it was their respective fourth attempts that made the difference. Mare kicked a 31-yarder with 3:22 left to give the Dolphins a 12-9 lead. But Carney's 36-yard attempt with 10 seconds remaining bounced off the left upright, giving Miami the victory. Mare's four field goals improved his season total to 37, tying the all-time record set by Carolina's John Kasay in 1996.

Hit of the week: In the third minute of overtime, Denver cornerback Ray Crockett sacked Seattle's Jon Kitna on an undetected blitz to force a fumble, and linebacker Glenn Cadrez scooped up the ball and ran 37 yards for the game-winning touchdown. The Broncos' 36-30 victory continued their dominance against Seattle at Mile High Stadium, where the Seahawks have not won since 1995 and have won just once in their last 11 games.

Oddity of the week: In one of the most disturbing incidents of the season, 6-7, 350-pound Cleveland offensive tackle Orlando Brown became enraged when referee Jeff Triplette threw his penalty flag—weighted with BBs—toward the line of scrimmage and accidentally struck Brown in the right eye. After staggering toward the bench, Brown suddenly turned and stormed back onto the field. He gestured toward his eye as he approached Triplette, then flattened him with a two-handed shove to the chest. As Triplette was lying on the ground, Brown had to be restrained by teammates.

Top rusher: Olandis Gary gained a career-high 183 yards on 22 carries in Denver's 36-30 overtime victory against Seattle.

Top passer: Steve Beuerlein was 27-of-38 for 368 yards, four touchdowns and no interceptions in Carolina's 41-24 win over San Francisco.

Top receiver: Marcus Robinson caught 11 passes for 170 yards and three touchdowns as the Bears defeated the Lions, 28-10.

Notes: Marvin Harrison's nine-catch, 117-yard game for Indianapolis was his eighth 100-yard game, breaking Raymond Berry's 1960 club record. ... The Jaguars' six sacks raised their season total to a team-record 54. ... Tennessee defensive end Jevon Kearse had two sacks against Atlanta and raised his season total to 13.5, breaking the NFL record for sacks by a rookie set by Simeon Rice in 1996. ... With three field goals and three PATs, Titans kicker Al Del Greco became the NFL's No. 9 all-time scorer (1,446), passing Jim Turner (1,439). ... Rams running back

Marshall Faulk's 165 combined yards gave him 2,065 for the season and made him only the second player in NFL history to achieve that feat for two different teams. The other was Eric Dickerson, who coincidentally also played for the Rams and Colts. ... Raiders wide receiver Tim Brown scored his 75th career touchdown, one shy of Fred Biletnikoff's club record. ... The Seahawks lost their fourth game in a row, marking the first time in Mike Holmgren's 14 years as either an NFL assistant or head coach that his team had lost four consecutive games. ... Emmitt Smith's second-quarter touchdown against the Jets was memorable for three reasons: it was the 146th touchdown of his career, moving him past Marcus Allen for No. 2 on the career list, behind Jerry Rice; it made him the leading scorer in Cowboys' history, surpassing Rafael Septien; and it moved him past former Cowboy Tony Dorsett for No. 8 on the NFL's all-time combined net yardage list.

Quote of the week: Orlando Brown's teammate, Cleveland defensive end Derrick Alexander, dismissed any notions that Brown needs anger counseling: "If that's the case, then all of us need help on Sunday because we're out there trying to kill each other."

Hero of the week: Tennessee quarterback Steve McNair, who threw a career-high five touchdown passes in leading the Titans to a surprisingly easy 41-14 win over once-beaten Jacksonville. In addition to completing 23 of 33 passes overall, McNair completed 9 of 10 passes on third down against the league's No. 2-ranked defense. He accounted for the Titans' two longest offensive plays of the season with touchdown passes of 65 and 62 yards.

Goat of the week: New England kicker Adam Vinatieri, who missed a potential game-winning 33-yard field goal with six seconds left in what became a 13-10 overtime loss to Buffalo. Given a chance to make amends, Vinatieri missed a 44-yard attempt on the Patriots' first possession of overtime. That left the door open for Steve Christie, who later hit a 23-yard field goal to win the game for Buffalo.

Sub of the week: New Orleans quarterback Jake Delhomme, playing in his first regular-season NFL game, threw two touchdown passes and ran for another score in leading the Saints to a 31-24 upset win over Dallas. Delhomme, who played two years in NFL Europe but had never suited up for an NFL game, had been signed by the Saints four weeks earlier.

Comeback of the week: Trailing by nine points at the start of the fourth quarter against a team that had won just two games all season, the Indianapolis Colts rallied to beat Cleveland, 29-28, on Mike Vanderjagt's 21-yard field goal with four seconds left. Peyton Manning was superb in the final quarter, completing 10 of 11 passes on two scoring drives and picking up a pair of key first downs on scrambles.

Blowout of the week: Although the final score might indicate otherwise, the Rams had no trouble dispatching the Bears, 34-12, at the Trans World Dome. Kurt Warner completed 24 of 35 passes for 334 yards and three touchdowns in only 2½ quarters to help the Rams build a 31-0 lead. Marshall Faulk did not play after St. Louis' first offensive possession of the second half, but still finished with a career-high 258 total yards.

Nail-biter of the week: Needing a win to clinch their first division title since 1991, the Washington Redskins erased a 20-10 fourth-quarter deficit and beat San Francisco, 26-20, in overtime. The game was tied 20-20 when 49ers rookie Terry Jackson fumbled at the Washington 22-yard line with 1:38 left in regulation time. In the extra period the Redskins drove 78 yards in four plays to score the game-winning touchdown on a 33-yard pass from Brad Johnson to Larry Centers.

Hit of the week: On the first play of the third quarter in a scoreless game, Denver quarterback Brian Griese completed a 17-yard pass to Ed McCaffrey at the Broncos 40-yard line. Lions defensive back Ron Rice hit McCaffrey in the head while he was down, and the 15-yard penalty put the ball on the Lions' 45. On the next play rookie Olandis Gary broke off left tackle, made a nice move to avoid a tackler at the 10 and scored the game's first touchdown.

Oddity of the week: The Raiders scored on their first two possessions of each half in a 23-20 loss to the Chargers—and at no other time.

Top rusher: Gary carried 29 times for 185 yards in Denver's 17-7 win at Detroit.

Top passer: Johnson completed 32 of 47 passes for 471 yards and two touchdowns in Washington's 26-20 OT win at San Francisco.

Top receiver: Faulk caught 12 passes for 204 yards and one TD in the Rams' victory over Chicago.

Notes: In addition to snapping an 11-game winning streak by Jacksonville, Tennessee improved its own record to 7-0 in games in which it scored on its opening possession. ... Eddie George joined Earl Campbell, Eric Dickerson and Barry Sanders as the only players to rush for 1,200 or more yards in each of their first four NFL seasons. ... The Colts (13-2) became the first team to win 10 more games than the season before (3-13). ... Indy's Edgerrin James became the first rookie to have 10 100-yard rushing games. ... Michael McCrary's three sacks for Baltimore against Cincinnati gave him 47 sacks in his last 53 games, the most of any player during that span. ... The Cowboys were penalized 11 times in their loss to the Saints, including a holding penalty that wiped out a 97-yard kickoff return. ... Marvin Harrison set a Colts record with 14 receptions in one game. ... Faulk joined Roger Craig as the only players to rush for 1,000 yards and catch passes for 1,000 yards in the same season. ... Washington's Brian Mitchell moved past Mel Gray to become the NFL's all-time leader in combined kick-return yards. ... The Vikings gained 146 yards on 18 plays in the second half of their 34-17 win over the Giants. ... A week after giving up 262 rushing yards in a 45-0 loss to the Raiders, the Bucs held Green Bay to 12 rushing yards in a 29-10 win. ... There were 20,172 no-shows at the Carolina-Pittsburgh game, where the wind-chill factor at game time was near zero. The crowd of 39,428 was the smallest for a Steelers home game since Bill Cowher became coach in 1992. ... The Seahawks' 23-14 win over Kansas City marked their last regular-season game at the Kingdome. It also was the Seahawks' 100th regular-season victory there. ... Tennessee and St. Louis wound up the season with the NFL's only unbeaten home records. ... Dan Marino's three TD passes against the Jets gave him 72 in his career against New York, the most touchdown passes by any quarterback against any team in NFL history.

Quote of the week: Dallas safety Darren Woodson, on losing to Delhomme and the 2-12 Saints: "They haven't played well all season. We didn't know the quarterback. We figured he wouldn't be that good. But he was."

Hero of the week: Oakland quarterback Rich Gannon, a former Chief, stunned his former mates in his first return to Arrowhead Stadium by completing 25 of 47 passes for 324 yards and three touchdowns in leading the Raiders to a 41-38 come-from-behind win. It was an all-or-nothing game for the Chiefs, who would have captured the AFC West title with a victory but missed the playoffs completely with the loss.

Goat of the week: Jon Baker, a kickoff specialist signed by Kansas City just 12 days earlier, aided the Raiders' comeback by kicking the ball out of bounds at the start of overtime, enabling Oakland to take possession at its own 40. Gannon then completed passes of 21 and 23 yards to Rickey Dudley and Tim Brown, respectively, en route to the game-winning score: a 33-yard field goal by Joe Nedney at 3:13 of OT.

Sub of the week: Buffalo quarterback Rob Johnson, starting in place of Doug Flutie, completed 24 of 32 passes for 287 yards to lead the Bills to a stunningly easy 31-6 victory over AFC East champion Indianapolis. Johnson completed his first seven passes and engineered touchdown drives of 83, 80 and 82 yards the first three times Buffalo had the ball.. The Bills, who rolled up a season-high 419 yards, had just five TD drives of 80 or more yards in their first 15 games under Flutie.

Comeback of the week: None. Only a handful of games on the final week had any bearing on the playoff picture, and most of those that did were not close.

Blowout of the week: The Carolina Panthers, needing to win by 43 points to have any chance of making the playoffs according to the NFL's tie-breaking formula, did their best, pounding New Orleans 45-13 behind Steve Beuerlein's club-record five touchdown passes. The offensively-inept Saints did not get inside the Panthers' 40-yard line until the fourth quarter, at which point they trailed 31-0. Former Heisman Trophy winner Ricky Williams concluded a disappointing rookie season with seven rushing yards on 14 attempts.

Nail-biter of the week: The Raiders' victory over the Chiefs was a real stunner. It was their first win at Arrowhead Stadium since 1988, only their third in the last 21 games between the teams and came after Oakland erased an early 17-0 deficit. Nedney tied the game at 38-38 with a 38-yard field goal with 45 seconds left before winning it with a 33-yarder in OT. Nedney's heroics were made possible when his counterpart, Pete Stoyanovich, missed a 44-yard field goal attempt in the final minute of regulation time.

Hit of the week: Tampa Bay led Chicago, 3-0, late in the first half when Bucs defensive end Marcus Jones hit Bears rookie Cade McNown as he was attempting to pass. The ball popped free, and Steve White recovered the ball for Tampa Bay at the Chicago 14. Four plays later Mike Alstott ran around right end for a touchdown to increase the Bucs' lead to 10 points.

Oddity of the week: Chargers rookie Jermaine Fazande, who entered the game with 182 rushing yards all season, exploded for 183 yards against the Broncos to lead San Diego to a 12-6 win at Denver.

Top rusher: Fazande's 183 yards was the second-best rushing effort ever by a Denver opponent at Mile High Stadium. Detroit's Billy Sims had a 185-yard performance there in 1981.

Top passer: Jake Plummer completed 35 of 57 passes for 396 yards in Arizona's 49-24 loss at Green Bay.

Top receiver: Patrick Jeffers caught seven passes for 165 yards and two touchdowns in the Panthers' rout of the Saints. Jimmy Smith caught 14 passes for 165 yards in Jacksonville's 24-7 win over Cincinnati.

Notes: Only five playoff teams from 1998 repeated in '99: the Jaguars, Bills, Dolphins, Cowboys and Vikings. ... In the Rams' season-ending loss at Philadelphia, Marshall Faulk (2,429) broke Barry Sanders' NFL record for total yards in one season, and Kurt Warner (41) joined Dan Marino as the only quarterbacks to throw 40 or more TD passes in a season. ... Curtis Martin broke Freeman McNeil's Jets record for rushing yards in a season (1,464 to 1,331). ... Olandis Gary broke the Denver record for yards rushing by a rookie set by Bobby Humphrey in 1989. ... The Ravens did not allow a 100-yard rusher all season and gave up just three rushing touchdowns in their final 47 quarters. ... Washington's 21-10 victory over Miami was its first all season against a team with a winning record. Stephen Davis became the first Redskin since Larry Brown in 1972 to lead the NFC in rushing. ... Hours after the Packers' final game, with the team missing the playoffs for the first time since 1992, first-year coach Ray Rhodes and his entire staff were fired. ... The Broncos (6-10) became the first Super Bowl champion to finish last in its division the following year in a full season. The Giants finished last in the NFC East in 1987, but that season was interrupted by a players strike and shortened to 15 games. ... The Cardinals did not score a touchdown in the first quarter all season. ... Despite handing division champ Jacksonville (14-2) its only two losses, Tennessee became the first 13-3 team since divisional play began in 1970 to not win its division. ... The Steelers (6-10) finished with their worst record in 11 years and their worst home record (2-6) since moving into Three Rivers Stadium in 1970.

Quote of the week: Seahawks tight end Christian Fauria, on Seattle winning the AFC West despite finishing losing five of their last six games: "People are talking about getting in the back door. So what? We still got in the house."

WILD-CARD GAMES

AFC

TENNESSEE 22, BUFFALO 16

Why the Titans won: They pulled off one of the most memorable plays in NFL history (see below).

Why the Bills lost: They were victimized by one of the most memorable plays in NFL history (see below).

The turning points:

1. After Al Del Greco kicked a 36-yard field goal with 1:48 left to give Tennessee a 15-13 lead, the Bills responded with a six-play, 38-yard drive to go up 16-15 on a 41-yard field goal by Steve Christie with 16 seconds left. The Bills could have run more time off the clock had quarterback Rob Johnson not lost his shoe while completing a pass to rookie wide receiver Peerless Price on the play before Christie's kick, but they were out of timeouts and coach Wade Phillips decided to kick the field goal right away, rather than run another play and possibly turn the ball over.

2. Instead of squib-kicking the ensuing kickoff, the Bills popped it up, enabling Lorenzo Neal of the Titans to field the ball cleanly at his own 24. Neal then handed it back one yard to Frank Wycheck, who threw a perfect lateral to Kevin Dyson along the left sideline. Dyson did the rest, avoiding Buffalo's coverage team by running down the sideline practically untouched. The play was reviewed to determine if Wycheck's pass had crossed the line of scrimmage (making it an illegal forward pass), but it was upheld by the officials.

Notable: The game-winning play was called Home Run Throwback and Dyson was in for it only because Derrick Mason was injured and Anthony Dorsett was suffering from cramps. Teammates had to fill Dyson in about what to do on the play as he ran on the field. It was the first kickoff return of Dyson's NFL career. ... The Titans practiced Home Run Throwback every Saturday during the regular season but had never used it in a game. It was the brainchild of special teams coach Alan Lowry, who saw replays of a similar play in a 1982 game in which SMU beat Texas Tech. ... Tennessee finished the game with five kickoff returns for 193 yards. ... Titans rookie defensive end Jevon Kearse made three tackles, including a forced fumble and a safety on two sacks. He sacked Johnson for a safety in the second quarter for the game's first points. ... Tennessee quarterback Steve McNair attempted only one pass of 20 or more yards. ... Six Titans were members the 1992 Houston Oilers team that blew a 32-point lead and lost to Buffalo, 41-38, in overtime in the biggest comeback in NFL playoff history.

Quotable: Bills safety Henry Jones: "This hurt more than the three Super Bowls I was involved in." ... Lowry: "As soon as Buffalo kicked the field goal, coach (Jeff) Fisher and I looked at each other and we said, 'This is it.' " ... Dyson: "I was amazed. I said, 'What are they calling my name for?' Isaac (Byrd, a Titans receiver) was trying to explain the play. I had seen them work it a couple of times in practice. . . . Out of the 17 weeks of the season, there were probably three times where I paid attention to it." Wycheck: "It wasn't a hard pass. You just throw it like you're in your back yard." ... Johnson: "I just hope for the referee's sake that they made the right call." ... Referee Phil Luckett, who reviewed the play: "We have nothing to prove that it was a forward pass."... Titans owner Bud Adams: "I've been watching this game for 40 years, and I've seen a lot of plays, both for us and against us, but this is the most weird way to end a game I've seen."

MIAMI 20, SEATTLE 17

Why the Dolphins won: When his team needed it most, 38-year-old quarterback Dan Marino played like the Marino of old instead of an old Marino, completing four of seven passes for 84 yards while directing a game-winning, 11-play, 85-yard touchdown drive. Rookie running back J.J. Johnson scored the go-ahead touchdown on a two-yard run with 4:48 left, but the hero was Marino, who orchestrated the 37th fourth-quarter comeback of his 17-year career.

Why the Seahawks lost: In their first playoff game since 1988—the league's longest postseason drought—the Seahawks simply never got their offense untracked, thanks in part to a superb effort by the Miami defense. The Dolphins sacked quarterback Jon Kitna six times (three by end Trace Armstrong) and held the Seahawks to 171 total yards, just 32 yards (3 rushing) in the second half.

The turning points:

1. Down 10-3 at the half, the Dolphins marched 60 yards in 10 plays on their first possession after the intermission, with Marino capping the drive with a 1-yard TD pass to Oronde Gadsden. Marino, who was 5-of-8 for 28 yards in the first half, was 6-for-6 for 55 yards on the scoring drive.
2. Although rookie Charlie Rogers returned the ensuing kickoff 85 yards for a Seattle touchdown, the Dolphins bounced right back, forcing the Seahawks to punt on their next possession and then scoring the final points of the third quarter on a 50-yard Olindo Mare field goal. The field goal cut the Seahawks' lead to 17-13.
3. On what proved to be the game-winning drive, Marino completed a 23-yard pass to Tony Martin on third-and-17, a 29-yarder to Martin on second-and-7 and a 24-yarder to Gadsden on third-and-10 to set up Johnson's game-winning run.

Notable: Both teams entered the game with losses in five of their last six regular season games. ... It was Miami's first playoff road win since a 21-17 victory at Pittsburgh in the 1972 AFC championship game. ... The Dolphins did not commit a turnover for the first time in 10 games. In their previous six games they had 19 turnovers. ... Marino did not complete a pass longer than 27 yards. ... The Seahawks ran just three offensive plays in the third quarter.

Quotable: Miami coach Jimmy Johnson: "I knew we were going to win this game, and I told the team that. We had preparation this week like I haven't seen in a long time. You lose games, and your confidence gets broken. But our guys got a reprieve getting into the playoffs." ... Martin, on his 23-yard catch on third-and-17: "Those are long odds, but that's what this game is all about. Long odds. Look at what Tennessee did to Buffalo with long odds."... Kitna: "Now that it's over for us, maybe Dan will get the Super Bowl ring he deserves to cap off a great career. He did what he had to do, particularly in the fourth quarter. He made some great throws." ... Armstrong, on his three-sack game: "I've had a bunch of twos, but not many like this." ... Armstrong, on Marino: "Dan is a legend in this game. No one is more respected or loved on this team than Dan. It was great for him to have a great day."... Mike Holmgren, who concluded his first season as Seahawks coach: "I am not going to remember the losses. I am going to remember that we were the AFC West champions."

WASHINGTON 27, DETROIT 13

Why the Redskins won: They jumped on the Lions early and never let up. Washington converted four of its first five third-down opportunities, gained 275 yards in offense and scored 27 points before halftime. Its defense held Detroit to 23 rushing yards in the first half and intercepted two passes.

Why the Lions lost: They did little to challenge the perception that they were the weakest of the league's 12 playoff teams (the 8-8 Lions had lost their previous four games). Detroit was forced to throw on nearly every play after falling behind, and former Redskins quarterback Gus Frerotte wasn't up to the task. Frerotte, starting in place of the injured Charlie Batch, completed 21 of 46 passes for 251 yards but was intercepted two times and sacked five times. The Lions used three different players at tailback—including fullback Cory Schlesinger—but none had much success. One of Detroit's touchdowns came on a 94-yard return of a blocked field goal, the other a meaningless score on the final play of the game.

The turning points:

1. After forcing the Redskins to punt on fourth-and-5 early in the game, the Lions botched the situation by running into the punter and giving Washington a first down. Moments later, Bryant Westbrook was penalized 41 yards for pass interference. The penalty put the ball on the 1-yard line, and Stephen Davis scored the game's first touchdown on the next play.
2. After stopping the Lions on their next possession, the Redskins put together an eight-play, 87-yard drive for their second touchdown, with Davis scoring from four yards out after setting up the touchdown with a 58-yard run to the Lions 29.

Notable: The Lions had beaten the Redskins 33-17 five weeks earlier in Detroit. ... The Redskins won despite losing Davis to a knee injury after 1.5 quarters. Davis, who had missed the final 2.5 games of the regular season with injuries, still finished with 119 yards on 15 carries and scored two touchdowns. ... The one-sided game was spiced up a bit when Redskins quarterback Brad Johnson and Lions defensive end Robert Porcher got involved in a scuffle in the third quarter. In the shoving match that followed, Washington tackle Tre Johnson accidentally knocked the cap off the head of back judge Bill Leavy. Johnson was ejected from the game and later fined. ... It was Washington's first playoff game in seven years and first under coach Norv Turner. ... The Lions were penalized eight times for 93 yards in the first 17 minutes and 12 times for 126 yards overall. ... The win was Washington's 20th straight at home against the Lions since 1935.

Quotable: Detroit coach Bobby Ross: "We took a good old-fashioned beating today. I really did think we were ready to play going into the game. Early in the game, a couple of things happened that really turned it around fast for us." ... Johnson, on Davis: "We managed to win the last two games of the regular season without him, but when he's in the game it makes an unbelievable impact." ... Turner: "The first half was as good as our team can play."

MINNESOTA 27, DALLAS 10

Why the Vikings won: They had a great offensive mix and did not commit a turnover. With the Vikings unable to throw the ball effectively in the early going, running back Robert Smith repeatedly burned the Cowboys for big gains on the ground. Smith's running loosened up the defense enough to help quarterback Jeff George and receivers Randy Moss and Cris Carter step to the fore later.

Why the Cowboys lost: Besides being unable to stop Minnesota's offense, the Cowboys never seemed to recover from a number of missed opportunities early on that could have changed the complexion of the game. Given a chance to take control, the Cowboys didn't. They also committed three turnovers.

The turning points:

1. On the Cowboys' third offensive play Emmitt Smith broke free for a 65-yard run to the Vikings' 3-yard line before being hauled down by cornerback Kenny Wright. Minnesota's defense then stiffened, forcing Dallas to settle for an 18-yard field goal by stuffing Smith twice and forcing Troy Aikman to overthrow tight end David LaFleur. What should have been a 7-0 lead was just three points.

2. The Vikings were forced to punt on their next possession, but Deion Sanders muffed the kick, with Dwayne Rudd recovering for Minnesota at the Dallas 30. That set up Gary Anderson for a 47-yard field goal to tie the game 3-3.

3. The Cowboys were leading, 10-3, early in the second quarter when fullback Robert Thomas fumbled at his own 23-yard line while trying to catch a pass. Anthony Bass recovered for Minnesota and four plays later Robert Smith caught a 26-yard TD pass from George to tie the game at 10-10. The Vikings never trailed again.

Notable: The Vikings ran 24 plays from scrimmage before Moss or Carter caught a pass. Minnesota had zero passing yards in the first quarter. ... It was George's first NFL playoff victory. ... In defeat Emmitt Smith surpassed Franco Harris to become the NFL's career postseason rushing leader (1,586 yards). He also tied Thurman Thomas' record for postseason touchdowns (21). ... Robert Smith broke his own team playoff record with 140 yards rushing. ... Although the Cowboys held Carter to just one catch for five yards and a TD, Moss caught five passes for 127 yards, including a 58-yarder for the go-ahead touchdown. ... Dallas ended its season with eight straight road losses.

Quotable: Minnesota coach Dennis Green, on his team's early offensive struggles: "Our timing might have been off a little bit. They played a lot of combination coverages. We had success running and not passing so we went more to the run, and later we went to the pass. We ran the ball well and in the playoffs you have to do that." ... Sanders, on the Cowboys' defensive game plan: "They were very successful today, but I don't think anyone is going to go into a game with the Minnesota Vikings thinking they are going to beat you with the run." ... Moss: "All week we heard about the defensive scheme in Dallas, how they were going to play us. I didn't expect a big game like that from our whole offense, but we came out and put things together."

DIVISIONAL PLAYOFFS

JACKSONVILLE 62, MIAMI 7

Why the Jaguars won: They scored early and often, making a mockery out of what should have been a close game. Jacksonville's 62 points were the most scored by an AFC team in a postseason game and the most ever scored against Miami, postseason or otherwise. And it wasn't like the Jaguars were trying to run up the score. They ran the ball on 24 of 27 plays in the second half and still outscored Miami 21-0.

Why the Dolphins lost: One week after an inspiring playoff performance against Seattle, quarterback Dan Marino regressed horribly, completing two passes to Jaguars cornerback Aaron Beasley before completing one to a Dolphins receiver. He completed just 11 of 25 passes for 95 yards before getting yanked by coach Jimmy Johnson after Miami's first possession of the second half. But all the blame should not be laid at the feet of Marino, who was playing his final NFL game. When things started to snowball on his teammates, they quit.

The turning points:

1. None. The second most lopsided playoff game in NFL history doesn't have any. The Dolphins committed seven turnovers, were outgained 520-131 in total yards and were never in the game. The back-breaking touchdown, if there was one, probably was a 90-yard run by Fred Taylor with 3:46 left in the first period that increased Jacksonville's lead to 17-0. It was the longest touchdown run in NFL playoff history, with Taylor first breaking an attempted tackle by safety Calvin Jackson and then swiftly eluding cornerback Patrick Surtain on his way to the end zone. Twenty-five seconds after Taylor's score, defensive end Tony Brackens returned a Marino fumble 16 yards for another Jaguars touchdown.

Notable: The 55-point margin of victory was surpassed only by Chicago's 73-0 rout of Washington in the 1940 NFL championship game. ... Starting quarterback Mark Brunell, playing with braces on both knees, was taken out of the game by coach Tom Coughlin after the Jaguars had built a 38-0 lead. At the time, Marino had yet to complete a pass. ... Jacksonville outgained Miami, 197 yards to minus-1, in the first quarter. ... The game was Johnson's last as an NFL coach. He resigned the following day after nine seasons in the league.

Quotable: Dolphins free safety Brock Marion: "It seemed like we played the whole game in slow motion." ... Jackson: "Just last week we were on cloud nine, and now we're a pile on the ground." ... Marino: "We didn't compete. We played horrible. I've never experienced a game like this in my life, going back to the time when I was a little kid." ... Dolphins safety Shawn Wooden: "It might look like we just sat down and let them win, but we were playing our hearts out." ... Jaguars offensive tackle Leon Searcy: "They were complaining because we were still throwing in the third quarter. They thought we were running up the score. But we couldn't take a knee in the third quarter." ... Johnson: "I take the blame for this one. I tried to prepare them too much. I should have pulled back after the long trip to Seattle. It was obvious from the start that we were very dead-legged."

TENNESSEE 19, INDIANAPOLIS 16

Why the Titans won: Running back Eddie George was fabulous, running for 162 yards on 26 carries and scoring the go-ahead touchdown in his first NFL playoff game. And the Titans defense, while not being credited with any sacks, kept consistent pressure on Colts quarterback Peyton Manning all day.

Why the Colts lost: Their offense, which ranked fourth in the league during the regular season, never got untracked against a good Tennessee defense. Rookie star Edgerrin James was held to 56 yards rushing, Manning completed fewer than half his passes and Marvin Harrison caught just five passes for 65 yards despite having 16 passes thrown his way. Indianapolis scored fewer than 20 points for only the fourth time in 17 games and had just three plays of more than 20 yards.

The turning points:

1. On the third play of the second half, with the Colts leading 9-6, George took a handoff from quarterback Steve McNair and sprinted 68 yards for a Tennessee touchdown. The Colts blitzed in hopes of getting to McNair; instead, they left a huge hole in the middle of the field for George to run through.
2. The Titans led, 16-9, early in the fourth quarter when the Colts' Terrence Wilkins caught a punt, tightroped down the sideline and was knocked out of bounds at the Tennessee 3-yard line. The Titans challenged the play, believing Wilkins had stepped out of bounds early on the return. Referee Johnny Grier reviewed the play and agreed, ruling Wilkins had stepped out at his own 33-yard line. The Colts subsequently went three-and-out, and Al Del Greco booted his fourth field goal of the game on the Titans' next possession.

Notable: The Titans were the only visiting team to win in the divisional round of the playoffs. ... George had 38 yards on nine carries in the first half, 124 on 17 carries in the second. ... There were no interceptions or sacks in the game. ... The win was the Titans' sixth straight, the league's longest winning streak. ... The loss dropped Jim Mora's all-time playoff coaching record to 0-5 (0-4 with the Saints, 0-1 with the Colts).

Quotable: Mora, on the replay reversal: "It was a good call. If he (Wilkins) was out of bounds, he was out of bounds. Those are the rules." ... Mora: "We just came up short against a very good team. We had trouble making a play, particularly making big plays. It was a struggle all day, both sides of the ball." ... George, on a pre-game chat he had with coach Jeff Fisher: "He asked me to relive draft day back in 1996. He told me to remember that he drafted me because he felt I could lead this team to where we are now. He challenged me to live up to the expectations." ... Titans guard Bruce Matthews, on advancing to the AFC championship game for the first time in his 17-year career: "I've always been at home by now, all my years before. This is virgin territory for me. I always told myself it didn't bother me. But it did. It's irritating to watch other teams play when you think you're better than them."

TAMPA BAY 14, WASHINGTON 13

Why the Buccaneers won: Their defense was terrific, holding Washington to 26 total yards in 27 plays in the second half and forcing two turnovers, both of which were converted into touchdowns in a come-from-behind victory.

Why the Redskins lost: Their second-ranked offense was no match for the Bucs' third-ranked defense. A Washington offense that averaged 373 yards during the regular season mustered a season-low 157 in its biggest test of the year. Its longest play went for 23 yards. Even worse, the Redskins led only 3-0 at the half despite holding the Bucs' offense to 69 yards and three first downs.

The turning points:

1. The Redskins led, 13-0, with fewer than six minutes left in the third period when Tampa Bay safety John Lynch picked off a pass by Brad Johnson at the Buccaneers 27-yard line. Bucs quarterback Shaun King then completed passes of 16 yards to Warrick Dunn and 17 yards to Dave Moore before attempting a long pass to Dunn. Leomont Evans was called for pass interference, giving the Bucs a first down at the Washington 11. Two plays later Mike Alstott circled around left end for a touchdown to cut the Redskins' lead to 13-7.

2. After the teams traded punts, Bucs defensive lineman Steve White eluded Redskins tackle Kipp Vickers (playing for an ailing Andy Heck) and knocked the ball out of Johnson's hands. Warren Sapp recovered for Tampa Bay on the Redskins' 32 with 13:21 left. On the third play of the drive, King fumbled, but Dunn picked the ball up and ran 13 yards for a first down at the Washington 12 to keep the drive alive. On fourth-and-inches at the Redskins 8, Tampa Bay coach Tony Dungy spurned a field goal try, and Alstott gained five yards on the next play for a first down. Three plays later, King flipped a 1-yard touchdown pass to John Davis with 7:29 left for what proved to be the game-winning touchdown.

3. Washington's Brett Conway, who kicked three field goals of 50 or more yards during the regular season, lined up for a 52-yard game-winner with 1:17 left, but he never got a kick away. Center Dan Turk dribbled the ball back to holder Johnson, who tried to get up and throw but wound up getting sacked.

Notable: The victory was Tampa Bay's ninth in 10 games and eighth straight at home. ... Despite modest passing numbers (15 of 32 for 157 yards) King became the first rookie quarterback since the Rams' Pat Haden in 1976 to win a playoff game. ... The Redskins' only touchdown came when Brian Mitchell returned the second-half kickoff 100 yards. It was the longest TD return in NFL playoff history. ... The teams combined for 18 punts. ... Washington running back Stephen Davis was held to 37 yards on 17 carries. He had just two yards on five carries in the second half.

Quotable: Redskins guard Keith Sims: "I'm sick. We had a tremendous opportunity and we squandered it." ... Dungy: "It looks painful, but that's just the way we play. We like to play tight games." ... King, on Dunn's fumble recovery: "That was a great play by Warrick, to be so alert. I knew when that happened we were going to win." ... Lynch: "We'd like to blow somebody out. But at this point we all know that's probably not going to happen."

ST. LOUIS 49, MINNESOTA 37

Why the Rams won: Although they scored touchdowns on their first and fifth plays from scrimmage, the Rams got off—for them—to a slow start offensively. Those two touchdowns were their only first-half points. Once their No. 1-ranked offense began to click on all cylinders, however, it couldn't be stopped. Quarterback Kurt Warner threw five touchdown passes to five different receivers and completed 27 of 33 passes overall, including 11 of 12 in the decisive third quarter.

Why the Vikings lost: They were helpless to stop the St. Louis offense once it got going. The Vikings came into the game with a suspect defense (27th in the regular season) and were able to tame the Rams for the first 30 minutes. But not for the second 30. Anything the Rams tried after the intermission worked to perfection.

The turning points:

1. The Vikings led, 17-14, when Tony Horne took the second-half kickoff 95 yards down the left sideline for a St. Louis touchdown. It gave the Rams a lead they never relinquished, but more important it turned the momentum in the Rams' favor and juiced a sellout home crowd.
2. After forcing the Vikings to go three-and-out on their next possession, the Rams drove 51 yards in nine plays for another touchdown, capping the drive with a one-yard run by Marshall Faulk for a 28-17 lead. The Rams failed to take advantage after recovering a Vikings fumble on the ensuing kickoff, but after another Vikings' three-and-out the Rams scored again, this time on a 13-yard Warner pass to Jeff Robinson.
3. One play after the Robinson touchdown, the Vikings fumbled again, with defensive tackle D'Marco Farr recovering for the Rams at the Minnesota 23. Four plays later Warner tossed a 1-yard TD pass to Ryan Tucker on a tackle-eligible play to increase the lead to 42-17.

Notable: The Rams set 25 team and individual playoff records. Among them were Warner's 391 yards passing and five TDs. Warner's passer rating of 143 was one of the highest in playoff history. ... It was the second-highest scoring game in playoff history, surpassed only by Philadelphia's 58-37 win over Detroit in 1995. ... Vikings quarterback Jeff George threw for 424 yards, third-most in playoff history. ... The teams combined for 881 total yards, 763 passing yards and 348 kickoff-return yards. ... It was the first home playoff game in St. Louis' 33-year NFL history.

Quotable: Rams guard Adam Timmerman, on the Vikings' pick-your-poison strategy of putting eight men "in the box" in an attempt to slow Faulk, who finished with 21 yards rushing on 11 carries: "They were daring us to pass the ball, so we had to pass the ball. There's no sense in running into eight guys when we've only got seven blockers. We kind of took what they gave us." ... Vikings defensive tackle Jerry Ball: "For them to beat us like they did and not even use Marshall Faulk as a runner, it's scary."... Faulk: "We weren't playing our football in the first half. Coach (Dick Vermeil) made a remark at halftime like, 'Hey, we're stopping ourselves. We're going to go out there, and we're going to do the same things we've been doing. And we're going to play fast." ... Warner: "Our feeling at halftime was that we were hurting ourselves, that they couldn't stop us and we were stopping ourselves." ... Vermeil: "We went into the ballgame thinking we could take advantage of their secondary if we could pass protect really well. This (Minnesota) team, we knew, would score some points. You're not going to shut them out. But how we played in the third quarter is about as well as we can play."

CONFERENCE CHAMPIONSHIPS

TENNESSEE 33, JACKSONVILLE 14

Why the Titans won: Their defense and special teams were superb. Blitzing often, the Titans forced six turnovers, sacked quarterback Mark Brunell three times and allowed the Jaguars just 1 of 9 third-down conversions.

Why the Jaguars lost: Too many mistakes—and too much poor tackling. Besides the turnovers, the Jaguars were penalized nine times for 100 yards and their receivers dropped at least half a dozen passes. The Jaguars defense allowed Titans quarterback Steve McNair, playing on a turf toe, to turn numerous near-sacks into big gains. Tennessee scored the game's final 26 points.

The turning points:

1. The Jaguars drove 62 yards in five plays for a touchdown the first time they had the ball, rekindling memories of their 62-7 wipeout of Miami a week earlier. However, this time, the opponent didn't let them run away. Derrick Mason returned the ensuing kickoff 44 yards to midfield, and the Titans tied the game nine plays later on McNair's 9-yard TD pass to Yancey Thigpen. This would be a game.

2. The Jaguars led, 14-10, at the half before the Titans drove 76 yards in six plays to take their first lead on McNair's one-yard touchdown run with 9:24 left in the third quarter. Forty-three of the 76 yards came on penalties against Jacksonville, including a 15-yarder against linebacker Kevin Hardy for roughing the passer.

3. On the Jaguars' next possession, Titans linebacker Eddie Robinson stripped tight end Kyle Brady of the ball after a catch, with Jason Fisk recovering for Tennessee at the Jacksonville 35. Frank Wycheck then caught an eight-yard pass from McNair near the goal line, only to have Hardy strip the ball away and Lonnie Marts recover for the Jaguars at the 1. However, on the Jaguars' first play, Barron Wortham stopped Fred Taylor for no gain. On the second, Fisk and Josh Evans sacked Brunell in the end zone for a safety to increase the Titans' lead to 19-14. On the ensuing free kick, Mason returned the ball 80 yards for another Tennessee touchdown, putting the Titans ahead 26-14 with 4:56 remaining in the third quarter. All told, the Titans scored 16 points in a span of 4.5 minutes to turn a 14-10 deficit into a 26-14 lead.

Notable: The Titans advanced to the Super Bowl for the first time in the franchise's 40-year history, including 37 seasons as the Houston Oilers. They became the last original AFL team to reach the NFL title game. ... The Jaguars became the first NFL team to finish a season with only three losses, with all the losses coming against the same team. ... McNair had almost as many yards rushing (91) as passing (112). His longest run was 51 yards; his longest completion was 15 yards. ... The Titans lost starting wide receiver Thigpen (broken left toe) and starting free safety Marcus Robertson (broken left ankle) to injuries in the second quarter. ... Jacksonville led the NFL in fewest turnovers (18) during the regular season while Tennessee led in fumbles forced (24).

Quotable: Jaguars coach Tom Coughlin: "However it happens, when we play Tennessee, we get a little out of our element and we turn the ball over." ... Titans owner Bud Adams, who waited 40 years for his first Super Bowl: "It's about time. I'm getting old. I didn't want to go to the Super Bowl in a wheelchair." ... Wycheck, on coach Jeff Fisher's decision to show his team a Super Bowl rap video produced by the Jaguars players: "That was great motivation, that video. Jeff didn't tell us what he was showing us. He just said he had something he wanted us to see and then he popped it on. It was real quiet in the room after it was over. Everyone was like, 'OK, we'll see if we can make them change some of those words.' "

ST. LOUIS 11, TAMPA BAY 6

Why the Rams won: Their offense, stymied most of the afternoon by a Bucs defense that played a lot of zone and applied heavy pressure, came up with its biggest play of the season as Kurt Warner and Ricky Proehl hooked up for a game-winning 30-yard touchdown pass with 4:44 left. It was the longest play of the game by a St. Louis offense which rarely resembled the juggernaut that terrorized NFL defenses all season.

Why the Buccaneers lost: On a day their defense was terrific, their offense was terrible. Tampa Bay's only points came on two field goals by rookie Martin Gramatica. Rookie quarterback Shaun King was inconsistent. The offensive line allowed five sacks. Still, the Bucs would have won the game had Warner and Proehl not hooked up for their late-game heroics.

The turning points:

1. On the Rams' first play from scrimmage, defensive end Steve White tipped and intercepted a screen pass from Warner, giving Tampa Bay possession at the St. Louis 20-yard line. The Bucs drove to the 5, but instead of scoring a touchdown (wide receiver Jacquez Green dropped a pass in the end zone) they had to settle for a 23-yard field goal. The Rams were able to tie the game on their next possession.

2. Tampa Bay led 6-5 with eight minutes left when cornerback Dre Bly intercepted a King pass intended for Warrick Dunn and returned it nine yards to give the Rams possession at the Tampa Bay 47. Six plays later the Rams scored the game's only touchdown and final points when Warner threw a pass over the shoulder of Bucs cornerback Brian Kelly and into the outstretched arms of a leaping Proehl in the left corner of the end zone.

3. On the Bucs' final possession King completed a 22-yard pass to Karl Williams to put his team at the Rams' 22 with 1:25 left. On the next play Grant Wistrom raced around left tackle Pete Pierson and sacked King for a loss of 13 yards. King then appeared to complete an 11-yard pass to Bert Emanuel, only to have the reception reversed on replay. King then fired incomplete on two more passes and the Bucs were done.

Notable: Prior to the NFC title game, the Rams had scored 30 or more points in 13 of 17 games and had not scored fewer than 21 points in any game all season. ... Proehl's winning catch was his sixth reception of the game but his first touchdown of the season. ... The Bucs held Pro Bowl running back Marshall Faulk to 49 total yards—44 rushing and 5 receiving. ... Although Warner completed passes to nine different receivers, his quarterback rating against the Bucs was nearly half (56.2) of what it had been during the regular season (109.2). ... Tampa Bay's Warren Sapp, the league's Defensive Player of the Year, had no tackles in the game.

Quotable: Proehl: "I've played 10 years in this league and never had better than 8-8 before this season. Never sniffed the playoffs. Man, I'm living a dream right now. Call that corny. But I'm living a dream." ... Rams coach Dick Vermeil, on his team escaping defeat to advance to the Super Bowl against Tennessee, which beat the Rams in Week 8: "We know what we are up against. We know we have to improve next week." ... Rams owner Georgia Frontiere, on her team advancing to the Super Bowl in Atlanta: "I grew up never liking the name Georgia. Now I love my name!" ... Sapp: "We wanted to turn the ballgame into a war. And we did. We did everything we wanted to do. Except win the war."... Warner: "Tampa Bay did a great job. But the character of this team is that when we need a play, someone steps up. Today, that was Ricky Proehl."

SUPER BOWL 34

AT GEORGIA DOME, ATLANTA, JANUARY 30, 2000

ST. LOUIS 23, TENNESSEE 16

Why the Rams won: In perhaps the most thrilling Super Bowl finish ever, linebacker Mike Jones tackled Titans wide receiver Kevin Dyson at the 1-yard line as time expired to give St. Louis its first NFL championship. The Rams, who led 16-0 late in the third quarter before Tennessee scored 16 consecutive points to tie the game, scored the go-ahead points on a 73-yard touchdown bomb from Kurt Warner to Isaac Bruce with 1:54 left. Jones' tackle made it hold up for the game-winning score.

Why the Titans lost: If their offense had been effective early, the game might not have come down to the final play. Wide receiver Yancey Thigpen missed the game with an injured foot and Steve McNair never was able to get the passing game going. In the first half he completed just 5 of 14 passes for 65 yards. Pro Bowl running back Eddie George touched the ball just eight times in the first half before exploding in the second. But by then, the Rams led 16-0.

The turning points:

1. After a disappointing first half in which their offense moved inside the Tennessee 20-yard line all five times it had the ball but netted just three field goals, the Rams came out in impressive fashion after the intermission, driving 68 yards in eight plays to increase their lead to 16-0 on a 9-yard TD pass from Warner to rookie Torry Holt.

2. After Titans kicker Al Del Greco tied the game at 16-16 on a 43-yard field goal with 2:12 left, it took St. Louis all of 18 seconds to regain the lead. Bruce, running a streak pattern on first down, got past Titans cornerback Denard Walker along the right sideline, came back slightly to grab an underthrown pass (it was underthrown because Warner was hit by defensive end Jevon Kearse) at the Tennessee 38 and then eluded overpursing safety Donald Mitchell before running untouched into the end zone.

3. The Titans started their final drive at their own 12-yard line with 1:48 left. McNair completed four of seven passes for 39 yards and scrambled twice for 14 yards to move the Titans down the field, a drive aided by a 15-yard facemask penalty against cornerback Dre Bly and two offsides penalties. After burning Tennessee's last timeout with six seconds left and the ball at the Rams' 10, McNair tossed a short pass to Dyson at the 5. As Dyson circled toward the end zone he was met by Jones near the 3-yard line. As he was going down Dyson's outstretched right arm, ball in hand, came up about 18 inches short of the Rams goal line.

Notable: Warner, the game's MVP, completed 24 of 45 passes for 414 yards, surpassing Joe Montana's Super Bowl record of 357 passing yards. ... At 63, Dick Vermeil became the oldest coach to win the Super Bowl. He also had the longest span (19 years) between Super Bowl appearances. ... Rams punter Mike Horan, two days short of his 41st birthday, became the oldest player to appear in a Super Bowl. ... The Rams rushed for just 29 yards, the fewest ever by a winning Super Bowl team.

Quotable: Rams center Mike Gruttadauria, on what it was like on the sideline on the final play of the game: "I looked to my left and to my right and looked at my teammates. Some were praying, some were chanting, some were holding hands. I think some had their eyes closed. It was tough to watch." ... Rams defensive end Grant Wistrom: "I was thinking, somebody please tackle him. Please, please, someone make that tackle."... Jones: "When he caught the ball, I was right on top of him. I was like, 'This guy is not going to get in.' "... Rams safety Keith Lyle: "That, right there, was the greatest tackle made in Super Bowl history. The rest of our lives, we'll see that shown a million times on TV, and we'll replay it over and over again in our minds." ... Vermeil: "I'd just as soon win 32-nothing. But in terms of the Super Bowl and the American football fan, it had to be great to watch."

PRO BOWL

AT ALOHA STADIUM, HONOLULU, FEBRUARY 6, 2000

NFC 51, AFC 31

Why the NFC won: Its defense returned two interceptions for touchdowns and Vikings receiver Randy Moss could not be stopped. Moss, the game's most valuable player, caught nine passes for 212 yards (both Pro Bowl records) and one touchdown. Bucs fullback Mike Alstott complemented Moss' effort by scoring a Pro Bowl record three rushing touchdowns.

Why the AFC lost: It lost the turnover battle 6-1 as quarterbacks Peyton Manning, Mark Brunell and Rich Gannon combined to throw five interceptions, two of which were returned for scores. The mistakes proved crucial once the game turned into a high-scoring affair. The teams combined to score a Pro Bowl record 10 touchdowns.

The turning points:

1. The game was less than three minutes old when Cardinals cornerback Aeneas Williams intercepted Manning's second pass attempt, returning it 62 yards for a touchdown. The next time the NFC got the ball, starting quarterback Kurt Warner of the Rams completed a 48-yard pass to Moss to the AFC 5, setting up a 21-yard field goal for a 10-0 NFC lead.
2. After Manning cut the NFC's lead to 24-21 by completing a 21-yard pass to Jacksonville receiver Jimmy Smith with 20 seconds left in the second quarter, the Lions' Jason Hanson ended the half by kicking a 51-yard field goal to increase the NFC's lead to 27-21. The NFC then scored 10 unanswered points in the third period to take a 37-21 lead, effectively putting the game away.

Notable: This was the highest-scoring Pro Bowl ever, eclipsing the 64 points scored in 1980. ... Moss broke the Pro Bowl receiving record of 137 yards set by Oakland's Tim Brown in 1997. ... Smith, who caught eight passes for 119 yards for the AFC, set a record with three TD receptions. ... The teams combined for 385 kickoff-return yards, the most ever. ... The NFC's second defensive touchdown was scored by Tampa Bay's Derrick Brooks, who returned a Brunell pass 20 yards in the fourth quarter. ... Hanson's 51-yard field goal was the longest in Pro Bowl history. ... Eight members of the Super Bowl champion Rams played in the game, the most of any team.

Quotable: Moss, on the accuracy of Warner, who completed 8 of 11 passes: "He's not the MVP of the league and the Super Bowl for nothing."

FOOTBALL COMES TO MONDAY NIGHT

Although few people at the time could have guessed at the kind of popularity the show would come to enjoy, ABC's Monday Night Football debuted on September 21, 1970 with the telecast of a Jets-Browns game from Cleveland Stadium. With 85,703 fans looking on, coach Blanton Collier's Browns beat Weeb Ewbank's Jets, 31-21. Though the game had little of the excitement of future Monday night encounters, it did have a few noteworthy accomplishments. Jets quarterback Joe Namath completed 19 of 32 passes for 299 yards and one touchdown, but he also was intercepted three times, turnovers that proved crucial to the Browns' victory. Homer Jones returned a kickoff 94 yards for a Cleveland touchdown.

THE '76 BUCS: THE WRONG KIND OF FAME

Four seasons after the Miami Dolphins went through an entire season without losing a game, another Florida team also made NFL history, but not the kind it would have preferred. In their inaugural season the Tampa Bay Buccaneers failed to win a game, going 0-16 as a member of the AFC's Western Division. Coach John McKay's Bucs scored a league-low 125 points and allowed 412, a total surpassed only by the league's other 1976 expansion team, the Seattle Seahawks. Tampa Bay failed to score more than 20 points in any game and did not come within three points of winning a game. One of those three-point defeats came in Week 6, when the Seahawks beat the Bucs, 13-10, a victory preserved when veteran linebacker Mike Curtis blocked a 35-yard field goal attempt by Bucs kicker Dave Green with 42 seconds left.

SMASHING DEBUT FOR BIG EARL

Houston running back Earl Campbell, winner of the Heisman Trophy at Texas the year before and the league's top draft pick, gave NFL fans a preview of things to come by rushing for a league-high 1,450 yards and scoring 13 touchdowns in one of the most electrifying rookie seasons in NFL history. Campbell dethroned defending league rushing champ Walter Payton by 55 yards despite carrying the ball 31 fewer times. More important, he took a team that had not been to the playoffs in eight years to the AFC championship game. Campbell's best game of 1978 came under the brightest of lights: a 199-yard, four-touchdown performance in a 35-30 victory over Miami on Monday, November 20. He capped his big evening by scoring the Oilers' final touchdown on an 81-yard run in the fourth quarter.

AIR CORYELL TAKES TO THE SKIES

Although their season would end in disappointment—a loss to Oakland in the AFC championship game—few teams were more exciting to watch in 1980 than coach Don Coryell's San Diego Chargers. Only eight receivers caught passes for 1,000 or more yards that year, but San Diego had three of them: John Jefferson (who led the league with 1,340 yards), Kellen Winslow (1,290) and Charlie Joiner (1,132). It marked the first time in history that three receivers on the same team each topped 1,000 yards in the same season. In addition, Winslow caught 89 passes to set a record for receptions by a tight end and Jefferson became the first player to begin his NFL career with three consecutive 1,000-yard seasons. Not surprisingly, the Chargers won the AFC West title for the second year in a row, the only team to repeat from the 1979 season.

As a result of a 57-day players' strike, the 1982 NFL regular season schedule was reduced from 16 weeks to 9. At the conclusion of the regular season, a 16-team Super Bowl Tournament was held. Eight teams from each conference were seeded 1 through 8 based on their records during regular season play.

Miami finished ahead of Cincinnati based on a better conference record. Pittsburgh won common games tiebreaker with San Diego after New York Jets were eliminated from three-way tie based on conference record. Cleveland finished ahead of Buffalo and Seattle based on better conference record. Minnesota, Atlanta, St. Louis and Tampa Bay seeds were determined by best won-lost record in conference games. Detroit finished ahead of New Orleans and the New York Giants based on a better conference record.

LT: A ROOKIE TO REMEMBER

The 1981 season was a big one for rookies (six made the Pro Bowl), but none had more impact than Giants linebacker Lawrence Taylor, who had no problem adjusting to the pro game after an All-American career at North Carolina. The second player drafted in 1981, Taylor was simply marvelous, helping to make a good New York defense with veterans like linebacker Harry Carson and cornerback Mark Haynes great. In 16 games (all starts) Taylor had 133 tackles, 10.5 sacks, recovered a fumble and intercepted a pass. He followed that up with 14 tackles and two sacks in two playoff games, the Giants' first postseason action since 1963. For his efforts Taylor was a unanimous All-NFL first-team selection, a Pro Bowl starter and the Associated Press Defensive Player of the Year.

CAPITAL GAINS FOR THE REDSKINS

Although they failed to successfully defend their Super Bowl championship, the Washington Redskins did just about everything else right in 1983, especially on offense. Washington scored 541 points, the most in NFL history and 62 more than the next highest scoring team that year. Running back John Riggins scored a record 24 touchdowns, rushed for a club-record 1,347 yards and set a league mark by rushing for a TD in 13 consecutive games. Mark Moseley's 161 points set a new league standard for kickers. But as good as Riggins and Moseley were, the league's Most Valuable Player, in voting conducted by the Associated Press, was quarterback Joe Theismann, who threw 29 TD passes, compiled a 97.0 passer rating and had streaks of 161 and 104 consecutive passes without an interception.

DA BEARS

The 1985 Chicago Bears may not have been the best team ever, but they were certainly among the most colorful. Running back Walter Payton suggested his teammates could have stepped right from the pages of "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest." Rookie defensive tackle William Perry, whose girth earned him the nickname "The Refrigerator," said "I was big when I was little" when queried about his weight. The players cut a popular music video "The Super Bowl Shuffle"—while the regular season was still in progress. But there were good reasons for the cockiness: the Bears were good. They scored 456 points and allowed 198, one of the lowest totals ever for a 16-game season. Their final record, including the playoffs, was 18-1, and they outscored their three postseason opponents by a combined 91-10. Chicago's 46-10 rout of New England in the Super Bowl was the most lopsided in the game's first 20 years.

REPLACEMENT BALL

Frustrated in their attempts to gain a fairer form of unrestricted free agency, NFL players went on strike for the second time in league history on September 22, 1987. The work stoppage forced the cancellation of all Week 3 games and brought about three subsequent weeks of what came to be called "replacement football." With their regular players on strike, team owners quickly assembled new squads consisting of former NFL and United States Football League players, castoffs and amateur dreamers willing to cross a picket line. The result? There was a wide discrepancy in the quality of the teams, depending largely on how much effort management invested in assembling new rosters. The defending Super Bowl champion Giants, for example, lost all three of their replacement games (which counted in the standings) and never recovered once their regular players returned, finishing the season 6-9 and out of the playoffs. The Redskins, meanwhile, went 3-0 in replacement ball, helping to propell them to an 11-4 regular-season finish en route to the club's second Super Bowl title in six years.

GIANTS AND BILLS GO DOWN TO THE WIRE

One year after the most lopsided Super Bowl ever, the Giants and Bills staged the closest, with New York edging Buffalo, 20-19, at Tampa Stadium in Super Bowl 25 when Bills kicker Scott Norwood missed a 47-yard field goal attempt with eight seconds left. Although Norwood wore the goat horns afterward, his teammates did little early in the contest to prevent the game from coming down to a last-minute kick. A Buffalo offense that had scored a league-high 428 points during the regular season and 95 in the first two playoff games did little in its biggest test of the season. Only running back Thurman Thomas (135 yards rushing) had what could be considered a superior game. The Giants' offense, meanwhile, put together scoring drives of 87, 75 and 74 yards. A 14-play, 75-yard drive that took 9 minutes, 29 seconds off the clock went into the books as the most time-consuming drive in Super Bowl history.

COWBOYS HIT THE HEIGHTS AGAIN

Three years after hitting the lowest point in franchise history, the Dallas Cowboys were back on top of the football world following a 52-17 romp over Buffalo in Super Bowl 27. In their fourth year under Jimmy Johnson, who replaced legendary coach Tom Landry following an ownership change in February 1989, the Cowboys won a franchise-record 13 regular season games and rolled through the playoffs, beating the Eagles, 49ers and Bills by a combined score of 116-47. Troy Aikman, the first player Johnson drafted after taking over, was superb in the playoffs, compiling an NFL-record 116.7 quarterback rating in the three games. With the win Johnson joined Paul Brown as the only men to coach championship teams in both college and the NFL.

MONTANA IN THE MIDWEST

Although he was unable to take the Chiefs to the same heights he did the San Francisco 49ers a decade earlier, Joe Montana closed out his illustrious career with two relatively productive, if injury plagued, seasons in Kansas City. Montana, who never completely recovered from injuries suffered in the 1990 NFC title game against the Giants (broken right hand, bruised sternum) that forced him to miss the entire 1991 season and all but one game in '92, played only 38 of 64 quarters for the Chiefs in 1993. Nevertheless, he was the AFC's No. 2-rated quarterback and guided Kansas City to within one game of the Super Bowl. Using the old Montana magic, he spearheaded come-from-behind playoff victories over the Steelers and Oilers before the Chiefs finally succumbed, 30-13, at Buffalo in the AFC championship game.

LOMBARDI WOULD BE PROUD

Six coaches and 29 years after last winning the Super Bowl, the Green Bay Packers were NFL champions again following a 35-21 victory over New England in Super Bowl 31. The title was not unexpected, despite the many years that had passed since the franchise's last title in Vince Lombardi's final season as coach. The Packers scored the most points of any team and allowed the fewest en route to finishing the 1996 regular season at 13-3. They had the league's best player in quarterback Brett Favre and arguably its best coach (Mike Holmgren) and best general manager (Ron Wolf). Just as important, the '96 Packers were a playoff-hardened team, having lost to Dallas in the NFC title game the previous year and been ousted in the second round in each of the two seasons before that.

ELWAY, BRONCOS REACH THE TOP

One year after a humbling first-round playoff loss at home to Jacksonville, the Denver Broncos made sure history did not repeat, whipping the Jaguars, 42-17, in a first-round rematch at Mile High Stadium. That was impressive, but what happened next was more impressive: three straight road playoff victories and the franchise's first-ever Super Bowl title. Prior to the three-game winning streak, the Broncos had won just one other road playoff game in their 37-year history. Although running back Terrell Davis was the Broncos' star and won Super Bowl 32 MVP honors, their leader was veteran quarterback John Elway, who finally scaled the NFL mountaintop after three crushing Super Bowl defeats earlier in his career. Denver thus became the first AFC team in 14 years and only the second wild-card team to win the Super Bowl.

*This chart includes passer rating points for all leaders, although the same rating system was not used for determining leading quarterbacks prior to 1973. The old system was less equitable, yet similar to the new in that the rating was based on percentage of completions, touchdown passes, percentage of interceptions and average gain in yards.

†Brunell and Jeff George of Oakland (521, 290, 3917, 29, 9), tied with 91.2 rating points, but rounded to another decimal place, Brunell's rating is higher, 91.17 to 91.15.

*This chart includes passer rating points for all leaders, although the same rating system was not used for determining leading quarterbacks prior to 1973. The old system was less equitable, yet similar to the new in that the rating was based on percentage of completions, touchdown passes, percentage of interceptions and average gain in yards.
